O. K. DEBT PLAN, GERMANY URGED BY STRESEMANN

Says Europe Fears Grip of U. S.

BY GEOFFREY FRASER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 24.—European action against "American colonization of Europe" was part of the background of the Paris conference, which evolved the new Young reparations plan, Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann, in a great speech in defense of the plan, told the reichstag today.

At the close of a tempestuous session the ratification by Germany of the accord if the allies agree to an early evacuation of the Rhineland was considered certain.

Replying to the charge of the Nationalist leader, Count Westarp, that the government was allowing Germany to become a colony of France and England, Dr. Stresemann exclaimed with a dramatic gesture:

"We are not a colony of France and England. I am not sure whether all Europe is not in danger of becoming a colony of those whom luck has favored more than us. The fact that the 'colonies' came together to arrange mutual concessions because the other side refused to give them any is a factor which cannot be ignored in the history of the Paris negotiations."

Demand Ouster of Stresemann.

General cheers greeted this bold statement, which was interpreted as stealing the Nationalists' thunder. The Nationalists, however, pressed the fighting and introduced a motion for a vote of no-confidence in Dr. Stresemann.

The enthusiasm reached its highest pitch, however, when Dr. Stresemann, speaking with great energy, said the government was determined to "leave the entire negotiations fall through if any attempt was made to install a permanent control commission of the Rhineland." He added this decision was irrevocable and outside all discussion.

Dr. Stresemann, who appeared completely recovered, was in great form. He was spurred to aggressiveness by the constant interruptions of the Nationalists and Hitlerites.

Calls Young Plan Better.

After devoting most of his speech to demolishing the Nationalists' leader's case against the Young plan, he pointed out that revision of the Dawes plan had become inevitable and that the Young plan, while in many respects unsatisfactory, represents improvement from the German viewpoint.

He wound up by a remarkable reference to the intended national demonstration on June 28 against the charge in the Versailles treaty of peace that Germany caused the world war.

"Behind that demonstration stand President von Hindenburg and the entire federal cabinet," he said. "No person in all Germany will admit that Germany should shoulder the war's sole responsibility. To fight on behalf of Germany's honor every German is ready. But it is important not to draw wrong conclusions from this. Germany's war guilt is not the consequence of any clause in the Versailles pact, but simply the consequence of Germany having lost the war."

May Win Ratification.

The speech profoundly impressed the house, and was generally considered to have rendered ratification of the Young plan certain. The public, however, which is less responsive to reason than the reichstag, has been deeply moved by the opposition's jeremiads concerning the Young plan.

Local elections in Coburg and Schwerin yesterday showed an alarming growth in the strength of the extremists, especially the Hitlerites. In both cases the government parties lost heavily.

NEW HYMN OF HATE

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 24.—A new hymn of hate against the ratification of the American debt accord was warbled by the ultra-Nationalist newspaper, La Liberte, which makes the surprising charge that all articles favoring the ratification, which appeared in the Paris press after the Mellon-Berenger conversations in Washington, were paid for by "American gold."

"The same parliamentarians who violently opposed ratification of the accords without a safeguard clause in 1926 now favor ratification, although the safeguard clause is still lacking and America refuses to recognize the Young plan for fear of creating a bond between German reparations and

Quiz Bogeaus and Stage Wife in Gem Holdup

Benjamin E. Bogeaus, owner of a 12 story apartment at 444 St. James place, and his wife, the former Ethelind Terry, late star of Rio Rita, were questioned at the detective bureau last night by Deputy Police Commissioner Stege in connection with the couple's $30,000 jewelry robbery, early yesterday.

Bogeaus, who married Miss Terry at Atlantic City six weeks ago, was revealed as the brother of Morris Bogolowski, a notorious robber who in 1925 pleaded guilty to participating in the murder of Joseph (Handsome Joe) Lanus, a west side automobile dealer, who was shot resisting a holdup.

Escapes the Gallows.

Bogolowski, who changed his guilty plea to not guilty, was sentenced to hang and won a new trial, finally escaping a 14 year sentence by a Supreme court reversal of his conviction, was taken in custody last night in the Crittenden apartments, adjoining his brother's hotel. He was held at the detective bureau.

According to Deputy Commissioner Stege, the brother known as Bogeaus, admitted insuring his wife's gems for $30,000 only four days ago. He procured a policy on his return from California where he had been attempting to interest a banker in advancing him a loan for operating expenses on an apartment property.

Wife Also Involved.

The former Miss Terry was also drawn into the investigation. Stege quoted her as saying under questioning that her jewels were worth no more than $15,000, although she had declared twenty-four hours earlier that they could not be duplicated for less than double that sum.

Her husband, under protracted questioning, declared that he could recognize one of the two men he asserted executed the holdup. He had encountered this individual four or five times in the last few months in Lindy's restaurant on Randolph street, the stickup victim claimed.

After being questioned Bogeaus and his wife were released. Shortly afterward he appeared at the detective bureau with a lawyer in an attempt to have Bogolowski set free, but was unsuccessful.

2 BOYS SETTLE GRUDGE IN FIST FIGHT; ONE DIES

A duel staged in the forest preserve near Harvey, with fists as weapons, last night resulted in the death of Harry Heavilin, 15 years old, 14804 Honoré street, and the holding of his opponent, Roy Stokes, also 15, 14532 Halsted street, for an inquest today.

The two boys, according to friends who went with them to witness the fight, had gone out to the Boy Scout camp at 143d street and Vincennes road to settle a grudge that started a week ago when Stokes, a member of the junior patrol at the Bryant Grammar school, where both were pupils, refused to allow Heavilin to cross the street until he gave the order. In the fight Heavilin was knocked unconscious and fatally injured by a blow in the stomach.

When he failed to recover consciousness, the spectators notified the police, who took him to the Ingalls Memorial hospital in Harvey. There an inhalator squad worked two and one-half hours in a vain effort to revive him.

Dr. C. C. Little Files a Secret Divorce Action

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 24.—[Special.]—Suit for divorce from Mrs. Katherine Andrews Little was filed in Washtenaw county circuit court last week by Dr. Clarence Cook Little, retiring president of the University of Michigan, it was learned tonight.

Papers connected with the suit were suppressed after being recorded and it was impossible tonight to ascertain what grounds were to be made the basis of the action. Dr. Little left here Saturday for Mt. Desert, Maine, where he will conduct research work. Mrs. Little is in Boston, it is believed.

Secret Carefully Guarded.

Apparently not even intimate friends of Dr. and Mrs. Little here were apprised of the action. August 20 was set as the date for hearing on Dr. Little's motion.

No intimation that separation was contemplated by either Dr. or Mrs. Little had reached the university campus and acquaintances of the couple hesitated even to speculate as to the probable basis of the suit.

Married 18 Years.

Dr. and Mrs. Little were married May 27, 1911. They have three children.

A daughter, Louise, is attending University High school here and two sons, Edward R. Little and Robert A. Little, are at a school for boys near Boston.

FARMER KILLS SELF IN THIRTEEN STORY JUMP

Leaping from a window in the thirteenth floor offices of Dr. Hans Deutsch, 20 East Delaware place, who had been treating him for a nervous disorder, Clifford A. Brown, 37 years old, a farmer of Bloomington, committed suicide early today. His body was found by firemen on the roof of an apartment building next door.

Brown came to Chicago two days ago and was placed under constant observation. He escaped from his man nurse while walking last night, but returned to the office later. Dr. Deutsch, learning he had returned, went in to see him, and as he entered the room Brown rushed past him and jumped through the window.

ANN'S CANDID STORY OF LOVE THRILLS CROWD

Tells of Her Lost Romance and Gold.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Ann Livingston, formerly of Tulsa, who values the vanished affections of her former fiancé, Franklin S. Hardinge, at $250,000, and hopes to get a jury to agree with her on the estimate, recited further episodes of her romance with the oil burner millionaire yesterday. The case is being tried before Judge Charles H. Miller, a downstate judge, and his courtroom in the county building was jammed with eager listeners.

Apparently the string of ciphers sanctioned by a dollar sign, that hangs like a price tag over the trial, attracted the male element of the crowd. They trod on each other's toes, sat on each other's laps and battled for places on chairs outside the doorway to a conference room.

It seemed equally certain that the women, somewhat in the minority, were drawn by Attorney Ben Ehrlich's preliminary intimations of the eloquent love missives he would read, written to his client, Ann, by Hardinge.

A Tale of Riches and Love.

Neither men nor women were disappointed in the day's doings. Male spectators relishingly rolled across their tongues the sum of the antenuptial contract which Ann refused to sign—$100,000—the act which gave rise to her breach of promise suit, for her fiancé thereupon decided that she loved his money more than himself, and called off the ceremony. And they got further interest from the tale of wealth she says he told her, placing his fortune at $3,000,000 and his annual income at more than $100,000.

Women who managed to get into the courtroom got the thrill they sought in the oral and written recital of the progress of the love affair. For Miss Livingston, nervous on Friday under the unaccustomed glare of the limelight of the witness stand, had recovered her composure yesterday, and her thoroughly candid recounting of details was made in an almost demure manner. And the love letters, read as a supplement to Ann's story by Attorney Ehrlich, added to the vivid presentation of the romance.

Frank About Hardinge, Too.

Ann's frankness extended to her own opinion of Hardinge. "He is one of the sweetest persons I ever knew," she had said. "I thought he was just precious." She had used these expressions, she related, in replying to his ardent proposals that she be married to him at once. Then she said she had told him that she must have time to think it over, despite her favorable attitude.

Taking up her story where she left it when Judge Miller recessed court on Friday, she proceeded to tell of Hardinge's wooing of her in Tulsa, where he went ostensibly to attend a petroleum exposition, but actually, she insists, to visit her and propose to her.

Promises Riches and Love.

"Well," she took up the thread of the tale, "Mr. Hardinge was telling me his trip to Tulsa was to find out whether I loved him as he said he loved me. He said, 'If you don't love me, or if you think you don't, I can make you love me. I am a very wealthy man, and I can give you everything in the world you could want, if you feel you could care for me, if you will be my darling and my very own.'

"I told him that I admired him very much, but that I had had one unfortunate experience, and that the next time I married I wanted it to be forever, so I couldn't rush into a marriage. I would have to have time to think it over and to talk about it with friends of mine, so I could get their advice.

"I told him that I thought he was a very sweet person, one of the most fascinating personalities I ever met, but that I needed time.

Urges Immediate Marriage.

"He said that he was of course anxious to know what my decision would be, and that he would be awfully happy if I would go back to Chicago with him as his bride. He said he had told friends of his here that he might bring me back with him. He told me of his wealth, he said he was worth $3,000,000, and of his income—more than $100,000 a year—and that he would make every provision for me and for my future, and

Planes, Ships Find no Trace of Aviators

MADRID, June 24.—(AP)—Naval craft and airplanes tonight were scouring the seas in the vicinity of the Azores for trace of the four Spanish aviators of whom there had been no definite word for almost three days.

An unconfirmed report that wreckage of a plane with no trace of life about it had been sighted in those waters by a British freighter gave the only ray of hope in the situation. Four Spanish destroyers sped from Ferrol in an attempt to verify this report while the Portuguese gunboat Zaire was refueling at Horta to continue the search it had begun on Saturday.

De Rivera Calls Outlook Gloomy.

Premier Primo de Rivera, who unwittingly had given false hope to Spain on Saturday by authorizing publication of a message then supposed to have come from Maj. Ramon Franco, leader of the flight, today appeared most anxious when he entered a cabinet meeting. He said the reports he had were contradictory and the outlook for the safety of the four fliers was discouraging.

The minister of marine deplored the fact that a false message announcing arrival of the plane at the Azores which was made public by the government had delayed starting a search for 36 hours.

The premier telephoned the bad news to King Alfonso at Paris who had left Spain when it was believed that all was well.

British May Send Planes.

British Chargé d'Affaires Ramsey at the request of the government asked that a British airplane carrier be sent from Gibraltar with planes to search from the Portuguese coast where the plane was last definitely reported to the Azores.

Public anxiety was great because Maj. Franco had been a national hero since his flight in 1926 to South America. On the present flight he was accompanied by one of his old crew, Capt. Ruiz de Alda, and by Maj. Eduardo Gallarza, and Sergeant Mechanic Pedro Madariaga.

There were many offers of private aid in the search. Pablo Rada, mechanic who accompanied Maj. Franco on his 1926 flight, asked for a plane that he might seek his commander. The Italian naval attaché here offered the services of a large seaplane at Barcelona and a Spanish aviation officer, Lieut. Navarro, was immediately assigned to accompany the Italian crew on the search.

Gunboat Finds No Trace.

HORTA, Azores, June 24.—(AP)—As the day wore on Horta was still without word of the Spanish flyers under Maj. Franco, who hopped off from Cartagena last Friday morning for New York by way of the Azores.

As soon as the Portuguese gunboat Zaire, which is stationed at Ponta del Gada, heard of the disappearance of the Spanish trans-Atlantic flyers it steamed to the place where the British steamer Greldon reported hearing the noise of an airplane engine early Saturday morning.

The gunboat steamed all around the area, but could find no trace of the flyers. It is now coaling at Horta and will continue the search.

KILLED ON RIDE CELEBRATING HER 18TH. BIRTHDAY

Miss Phyllis Schreffler, 6024 Vernon avenue, had a small party of friends at the home of her uncle, Roger Horne, of the same address, last night to celebrate her eighteenth birthday, which was today. Early this morning they decided to go for a drive and get some sandwiches. She was riding in the rumble seat of the car with her fiancé, Angelo Capano, 23 years old, 6040 South Pparkway. In the front seat were the driver, Arthur Manger, 22 years old, 555 East 39th street; Horne and Miss Margaret Merwin, 18 years old, 6050 Rhodes avenue.

As Manger, driving on Wolf road, approached 107th street, he noticed the road ended there. He hastily applied the brakes and the machine was upset, rolling over several times. Miss Schreffler was crushed to death and Miss Merwin and Capano seriously injured. The Willow Springs police brought the injured pair to the county hospital and are holding Manger and Horne.

Strongheart, Dog Hero of Movies, Dead at Age of 13

Hollywood, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—"Strongheart," the dog hero of the movies, died today at the home of his owner, Miss Jane Murfin. He was 13 years old. Trained in the Berlin police kennels, Strongheart served with the German Red Cross during the world war. He was brought to America later. His first picture, "The Silent Call," established him as an animal star.

GOVERNOR PICKS CABINET TO MAP OUT HIGHWAYS

Has Full Power in Chicago Area.

Signs Speedway Act

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

A committee with quasi-official authority and with power to shape the solution of the motor traffic congestion problem of the Chicago area, was created yesterday at a conference at the Hotel Stevens, called and presided over by Gov. Emmerson. The board, which is composed of thirty-seven representatives of the county, city, and other governing units of the metropolitan area, and of civic and business organizations, heard proposals for the expenditure of $19,540,000 of state gas tax funds for the development of highways within thirty-five miles of Chicago, $12,315,000 of which would be spent in Cook county.

In establishing the quasi-official character of the committee, which will formulate the plans for this program of highway development, the governor declared that the state highway department would accept its recommendations as final.

Committee Is Representative.

Chairman, F. F. Winans, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

James Simpson, president; Hugh E. Young, chief engineer, and Eugene S. Taylor, manager, of the Chicago Plan commission.

Chairmen of the boards of supervisors and county superintendents of highways in the six adjoining counties making up the Chicago area.

Col. A. A. Sprague, H. L. Kellogg, and Robert H. Nau, Association of Commerce.

In charging the committe with the duty of devising a plan to overcome the existing traffic congestion of the area, Gov. Emmerson said:

"When the gasoline tax bill was pending I publicly stated that under its provisions approximately one-third of the funds collected in the current biennium would be used for highway construction within thirty miles of Chicago's loop.

Committee to Draft Program.

"I meant business when I said it, and now I propose to turn over to you gentlemen the task of formulating a program, so that we may start surveys, and plans, release the necessary right of way dedication papers, and as soon as funds are available award contracts so as to give the greatest measure of relief possible to the roads in this area.

"In view of your familiarity with traffic problems and local conditions, you know what should be done to give the greatest relief. We, therefore, propose that you should act as an advisory committee to prepare a definite program of construction for our guidance.

"In the past there has been criticism of work that has or has not been done and the priority with which it has been undertaken. In order that we may make no mistake of this character we have invited your counsel and advice, so that in its final form the program we will undertake will represent a united thought of the people of the metropolitan area.

"We are, therefore, placing upon you this grave responsibility, which we feel you will be willing to accept. Only by such coöperation can we all expect to obtain the best results."

As interpreted by the committee,

Governor Signs 20 Million Bond Act for 2 Deck Road

The legislative bill authorizing a referendum for a $20,000,000 bond issue to build an elevated highway through the west park district, was signed by Gov. Emmerson yesterday.

Another step in the development of the plan is scheduled for either this week or early next when the west side committee of the Chicago Plan commission will be ready to make a report on studies it has made of locations for such a proposed two level drive.

Governor Makes Announcement.

News of the signing of the bill was communicated to Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the west Chicago park commission, who has been active in steering the destinies of the legislative bill through the two houses of the assembly, by Gov. Emmerson himself, who delivered his message at the Stevens hotel during the Chicago area highway conference.

Under the terms of the Mendel bill, providing for the referendum, the voters of the west side will have submitted to them in November the proposition of building a two level 50 foot motor way from the Chicago river to Austin boulevard. Before the ballot can be prepared, the location of the route must be determined, and the city council must make a grant of the necessary streets. The voters will decide both the question of the bond issue and the location of the route at the same time.

High Speed Promised.

According to plans tentatively approved by the west park commission and the advisory committee of engineers, the highway structure is to extend a distance of seven and a half miles and will permit unobstructed flow of traffic at high speed. The highway would enable cars to run from Austin avenue to the loop in ten or twelve minutes with safety.

As a basis for cost estimates the preliminary plans call for a fifty foot roadway, all to be used for moving traffic. No sidewalks or parking space is provided. The park commission has gone so far as to obtain estimates from construction concerns upon the cost and have offers to build the structure within the sum contained in the bill.

The plan for such a highway in Chicago was developed by Dr. Robertson less than a year ago, after the commission had allocated funds from the 1926 bond issue to the improvement of Jackson and Washington boulevards and Warren avenue. It was then seen that the provisions made for west side traffic on these arteries was insufficient and additional facilities must be provided. Dr. Robertson's bill met much worrying opposition from groups of west siders who sought to have it killed in the assembly. Dr. Robertson was able to convince the senate of the merits of the plan so effectively that the upper body passed the measure unanimously. In the lower house there were three votes against.

Robertson Tells Hopes.

"Thus far each step has been satisfactory," Dr. Robertson said. "The legislative and executive branches of the state government evidently see the wisdom of plans for this newest design of highway to meet the constantly growing motor traffic congestion problem. The next step will be the location of a proper route by the plan commission and I am informed the west side committee of that body will report on the subject next week.

"It has been difficult to make the public see the value of such a project, but I am convinced that thus far we have succeeded in disclosing its merits to one-time doubters.

"In our opinion the elevated highway will serve to revivify land values in a part of town which has been figuratively dead, so far as property activity goes. Ramps each half mile will create new business corners and at the eastern end there is little doubt that a storage area for cars will immediately come into being. The cost to west side taxpayers will be only $1.08 added to each $100 of taxes paid under the present rate."

When the project was first made public the tentative suggestion of Fulton street as the eastern connection was made, but this action merely was for the purpose of creating a yardstick for costs and property damage. Later the plan commission was asked to make studies and recommendations for streets over which it might be routed on the basis of traffic, property value, and ornamental considerations.

the governor formally presented the state's willingness to turn over to the metropolitan area a third of the gas tax funds for the biennium, providing the representatives of the area can and will agree on a definite plan under which it shall be spent.

In the course of his remarks the governor chided county officials gently by remarking that the highway department's records showed that many important road projects in this territory have not been built by the state because the counties have not furnished the rights of way. He added, however, that in future the state will not "insist upon inflexible standards of right of way, however desirable they may be, but will build on what will answer the purpose."

President Cermak of the county board called the governor's attention that no right of way was ever demanded from Cook county which was not forthcoming, and yet within the county there have been built by the state only about 30 per cent of the bond issue roads provided by law. The matter rested there, although with a less adroit chairman a debate might have continued indefinitely.

Winans Outlines Program.

The governor named a subcommittee of seven to nominate the permanent committee, which was approved a few minutes later. Because of his interest in the 1933 world's fair, in addition to his representing the industrial world of Chicago, Mr. Winans was chosen chairman of the body.

"It will be the duty of members of the committee," he said, "to investigate and formulate the most feasible method of increasing the present system of highways to a point where traffic congestion will not be encountered.

"No time limit has been set for the members of the committee to present their plans, and the date of the next meeting is unknown. It is the view of the governor and the other members of this committee that we act speedily. Every effort will be made to find means of hastening construction work on new highways and widening of existing highways leading into Chicago, so that there will be no traffic congestion at the time of the fair."

Kingery Submits Program.

Mr. Kingery submitted a comprehensive program for the expenditure of gasoline tax fund in the Chicago area, as previously prepared by the Chicago Regional Planning association. While the program was proposed informally during discussion of road problems before the committee was organized, Mr. Kingery said that he would present it formally to the new committee for its approval.

The associtaion's program calls for the widening of 125 miles of roads from 20 to 40 feet; construction of 37 miles of new 40 foot roads; construction of 122 miles of new 20 foot roads; elimination of 59 grade crossings; widening of 13 state bond issue roads; construction of two roads around Chicago, one 18 miles and the other 24 miles from the center of the city, and the construction of 191 miles of state bond issue roads outside of Cook county and within 75 miles of Chicago.

Gives Widening Plans.

State Routh No. 4, from Riverside to Joliet.

State route No. 52, from Thornton to Elmhurst.

State route No. 52, from route No. 4, Lemont, to Lake Zurich road.

State route No. 59, from west of Joliet to Lake Zurich.

State route No. 66, from Lemont to Yorkville.

The association also proposes the completion of route No. 47 from Yorkville to Hebron; route No. 67 from Marengo to Woodstock; route No. 173 from Harvard to Zion City; route No. 60 from Richmond to Fox Lake; route No. 68, from west of Joliet to Lisbon; route No. 68, Belvidere road to the state line.

Gov. Emmerson was accompanied in the conference by Frank T. Sheets, state highway engineer, and H. H. Cleaveland, director of public buildings and works. At an informal discussion of the proceeding it was disclosed that what the governor wants is a comprehensive plan covering not only the needs of counties in the Chicago area in the way of bond issue roads owed them but definite road widening projects which should be given priority in the state's program and the city streets which should be improved to relieve the municipal area's facilities for bearing the traffic burden imposed by the traffic originating in the metropolitan district.

He called attention to the fact that the county board will have final say as to where the annual $3,000,000 allotment of gas tax funds is to be spent.

At one point Mr. Sheets produced charts to show that Cook county paid far less per capita for right of way furnished than counties like Kendall, Boone, and McHenry.

"Why bring up a lot of things calculated to show Cook county up in a bad light?" inquired Mr. Igoe. "You always can rely upon Mr. Sheets to produce irrelevant figures to show that Cook county is derelict, when in fact Cook county had been building its own roads on its own rights of way with its own money and the state's figures do not tell the story."

Gov. Emmerson terminated the outbursts by waving the charts of Mr. Sheets from the table and suggesting that the gathering discuss the business for which it was called.

FRANCE HONORS PIGEON WHICH SAVED VERDUN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VERDUN, June 24.—A carrier pigeon which played a heroic role in saving Verdun from annihilation by the Germans in 1916 was immortalized today at Fort de Vaux, where a monument "To the pigeon of Verdun" was unveiled with impressive ceremonies.

The bird, which takes its place with human warriors as a French hero, already has been awarded the legion of honor and the croix de guerre. It was the last pigeon in the possession of Col. Raynal, defender of Fort de Vaux, and it was launched on June 4, 1916, during the height of the battle of Verdun, when the city was being attacked by both gas and heavy shell fire and all means of communication had been cut off. The bird succeeded in winging its way through the bombardment with the result that aid was rushed to the desperate troops, and the stronghold saved.

The monument unveiled today represents a poilu's helmet on which is perched a pigeon. The ceremony included the release of a pigeon bearing the same message and with the same destination as that carried in 1916 by the brave bird that saved the day for the French.

DAHLBERG HOLDS VOTE ON BONDS IS UNNECESSARY

Says Law Ends Referenda on Street Projects.

BY CARL WARREN.

Chicago's voters have lost their right to approve or reject at the polls city bond issues for permanent improvements such as street widenings. This was the ruling of Gotthard A. Dahlberg, attorney for the board of local improvements, in an opinion delivered yesterday to Michael J. Faherty, president of the board.

Under a new law—senate bill 63—passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. Emmerson the city may sell bonds anticipating both special assessments and public benefits following favorable action by the board of local improvements, passage of a council ordinance, and confirmation in court, according to Dahlberg's opinion.

Means End of Referenda.

The far reaching consequences of the law, if the opinion is sustained, became apparent when Mr. Dahlberg was asked if it means an end to referenda on street project bonds in the future.

"Exactly that," he replied. "It means that bonds will be sold in Chicago hereafter as they should be sold. That is, upon the confirmation of special assessment cases in court."

At the city hall the Dahlberg interpretation of the new law was looked upon as a possible life saver for the Thompson administration and for Mr. Faherty, head of the board of local improvements. One administration enthusiast declared that it would reëstablish the mayor as "Big Bill, the Builder," making way for a huge new improvement program despite public opinion against high tax bills or waste in the city hall.

The Faherty board has not stood well in public favor since April, 1928, when the voters defeated the $77,959,000 bond program by a vote of 2 to 1. Last November a $24,541,000 issue, again including the Faherty projects, went down by a decisive vote.

Law Not Retroactive.

However, according to Mr. Dahlberg, the new law cannot be made retroactive and therefore cannot be applied to improvements already confirmed in court such as Halsted street, 95th street, and La Salle street. Bonds for these still come under the old law and must be approved at a referendum. The law will apply, he said, to all improvements in the future and those still to be confirmed in court. These include Western avenue from North to Chicago avenue and from Fullerton to North avenue and Ashland avenue from 31st to 47th street and from Devon to Schrieber avenue.

The law will not affect bonds for bridges, playgrounds, parks, and other non assessment improvements.

Senate bill 63, according to Dahlberg, was not sponsored by the Thompson forces. It was introduced by Senator Arthur A. Heubsch at the behest of Glencoe residents and slipped through the legislature to the governor's desk quietly without any discussion of its use in Chicago. At the time of its passage, reports were printed that it had attracted the intense interest of the city hall, but confusing statements were issued regarding its provisions.

Can Distribute Assessment.

The law, according to Mr. Dahlberg, amends section 42-A of the local improvement act.

"This section," the opinion stated, "originally applied only to a combined improvement — namely, one where the ordinance provided for an improvement consisting of land taken and the construction, as for paving. The cost could be divided into not more than ten installments, but the first installment must include the cost of the land. This made the first installment very burdensome.

"Under section 42-A as now amended an improvement can be built and the assessment distributed and collected as originally provided, and in addition thereto the assessment can be divided equally and distributed over a maximum of twenty years for a combined improvement, or for an improvement consisting of a condemnation, or merely the taking or damaging of land.

"To anticipate the payment of these deferred special assessment installments the act permits the issuance of bonds in the same manner as bonds are issued in a mere paving case."

Held Assesments Against City.

Heretofore, under the old act of 1909, a referendum was required on bonds to pay public benefits. As interpreted by Mr. Dahlberg the new law puts public benefits in the same class as special assessments. In fact, they are assessments against the city, he said, and thus may be paid for with nonreferendum bonds.

Although the old referendum law has not been repealed, Mr. Dahlberg said its validity was held doubtful in the Supreme court decision, City of Quincy versus Kemper, Illinois reports, No. 304. Further, he said it is indirectly repealed, anyway, in so far as it conflicts with the new law.

"With the Kemper case holding that the referendum act on bonds does not apply to an ordinance providing for a local improvement by special assessment, and with section 42-A, as recently amended, providing for the issuance of bonds to anticipate the second and succeeding installments, and with the public benefit being divided into installments the same as the assessment on private property," the opinion continued, "it seems clear that the city is empowered to authorize by proper ordinance the issuance of bonds to pay the public benefit in condemnation cases or combined improvement cases."

The opinion points out that the bond houses might suggest vouchers instead of bonds to anticipate deferred installments on the public benefit, but adds that "whether vouchers or bonds, the city, under this amendment, is enabled to pay its public benefit by issuing bonds or vouchers without submitting them to the people for their approval.

215 EMPLOYES OF COCHRAN WILL SHARE IN HIS VAST ESTATE

White Plains, N. Y., June 24.—[Special.]—Two hundred and fifteen employés of Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet company of Yonkers will share in the estate of Alexander Smith Cochran, president of the company, who died at Saranac lake on June 19, it was reported here today. The estate is estimated at between $30,000,000 and $150,000,000. Harry Zukert of counsel for the estate said the testament would be read tomorrow.

It was reported, but not confirmed, that a nephew, Thomas Ewing Jr., 26 years old, would be the chief heir.

GIRL CONFESSES KILLING MOTORIST WITH CUSACK CAR

Harold Cusack, nephew and adopted son of the late Thomas Cusack, millionaire advertising executive, sprang a surprise which won him exoneration from a manslaughter charge yesterday at a coroner's inquest at Wheaton.

Repudiating a statement he made to Sheriff Lawrence Hattendorf of Du Page county at the time of his arrest Saturday night, Cusack swore on the witness stand that he was not driving his car when it crashed into another machine driven by Arthur F. Miller, a Chicago motorist, at Roosevelt and Finley roads in Du Page county. Miller was killed. Cusack assumed blame in the first instance to save a girl's reputation, he said.

Girl Corroborates Story.

The girl in the case, Miss Elizabeth Goelitz, 21 years old, 639 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, took the stand and corroborated Cusack's sworn testimony. She was at the wheel of Cusack's car and her sister, Ruth, was beside her when the crash occurred, Miss Goelitz said. The Goelitz sisters are neighbors of Cusack, a widower residing at 522 Fair Oaks avenue. The Goelitz family are pioneer residents of Oak Park.

Walter H. Miller, a brother of the motorist killed, testified he conducted a private investigation following the collision and found an empty whiskey bottle and a half emptied bottle of gin in the wreckage of Cusack's car. He produced the gin bottle, which Cusack refused to identify, although he admitted there might have been such a bottle in the car.

Cusack Is Exonerated.

The jury then adjourned to the scene of the accident, held a consultation, and returned a verdict exonerating Cusack and Frank Wilson, official of a Chicago laundry company, living in La Grange. The sheriff had also charged Wilson with manslaughter. Attorneys for Cusack intimated that their client, recently awarded $265,777 of his foster father's estate, had made a substantial settlement with the victim's widow, who is the mother of two children.

Paul Haussermann, 15 years old, 25th and North avenues, Melrose Park, was killed and his father, Carl Haussermann, and his brother, Erwin, 13 years old, were seriously injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a truck on Waukegan road two miles north of Lake Forest. Two other brothers, Edward, 12, and Carl Jr., 10, and their mother, Mrs. Lucy Haussermann, escaped uninjured.

The father, a Melrose Park florist, and his family were on their way to Winchester, Wis., on a vacation.

This death and two others [illegible] the 1929 Cook county motor [illegible] 378. The victims:

John Swada, 31 years [illegible] Drummond place. Died of injuries received on Saturday, when he [illegible] from his motorcycle while making a turn at Armitage and Newland avenues.

Samuel Stevens, colored, [illegible] years old, 644 East 44th street. His death last Thursday in the Providence hospital was held to be due to an automobile accident by a coroner's jury. Stevens was unable to describe the accident.

RECORDS GONE, BUT JOE SALTIS GETS 30 DAYS

'Fixes' Case, Then Pleads Guilty to Aid Pals.

Following in the wake of Joe Saltis' plea of guilty and thirty day jail sentence before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday on a charge of transporting beer, it was learned last night that the government's expressed reluctance to try Joe before a jury was based on two important circumstances. They were:

1. The original files in the case, gathered almost four years ago when Edwin A. Olson was United States attorney in Chicago, have been missing for some time, making the gathering of evidence after such a long period extremely difficult.

2. All important witnesses on whom the government had relied to convict the celebrated south side beer merchant refused point blank to take the witness stand and identify him.

Stege Recalls Boast.

The missing files recalled to Deputy Police Commissioner John P. Stege a statement made by Saltis almost three years ago, at a time when the gangster had been picked up for questioning on another matter. At that time Stege mentioned the fact that Joe had recently been indicted with five others for engineering the transportation of a freight carload of beer from Sayre, Pa., to three Chicago saloons.

Saltis, Stege said, laughed it off.

"Don't think that rap is bothering me," he told the deputy. "I've put out ten grand ($10,000) to have the files in the case taken out of the federal building. I won't have any trouble in that case."

A checkup at the time showed the files were not missing, but an official who helped in the investigation last night confirmed the fact that now and for some time past they have been missing.

Joe's Statement Confirmed.

"They disappeared, all right," this official said. "We don't know what happened to them; they were gone before the present administration took over the district attorney's office."

But, for all of the alleged connivings of Saltis, the big gangster was worsted in his most recent encounter with the federal authorities, although his is now the position of the big hearted guy who goes to jail to help out his friends.

Saltis Pleads Guilty.

Shortly before the case was called for trial before Judge Woodward yesterday morning Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson intimated that he felt it would be difficult to convict Joe of complicity in the case.

But Anderson was positive he could convict Saltis' friends, Patrick F. Sullivan, Joe's current chief aide; Robert T. Adams, an alleged agent of the Pennsylvania brewery; Frank T. Vanek, a Chicago saloonkeeper; Andrew Botz, former policeman of Summit, Ill., Joseph Graffe and Emil Cerney. Joe might "get out from under," but not the others—of that Anderson was grimly certain.

Hurried conferences between defense attorneys followed, with the result that when Anderson suggested that Saltis and Sullivan plead guilty to one count of the indictment, Attorney James M. Burke, for the two, agreed. Saltis and Sullivan were then sentenced, Botz and Vanek were fined $250 each and Adams, Graffe and Cerny were dismissed.

Jailed on July 4? Never!

Mr. Burke then asked for a ten day stay for his clients, who, being "men of varied interests," needed the time to straighten their affairs before departing for their brief incarceration. Anderson made no objection and the stay was about to be ordered when the defense, in consternation, realized that Joe would thus be jailed on July 4. It was then arranged that both Saltis and Sullivan should be taken to the Kane county lockup at Geneva on July 9, a fifteen day stay.

PILOT IS KILLED WHEN CHICAGO PLANE CRASHES

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—[Special.]—Pilot Edwin H. Middage was killed and seven other persons injured when a tri-motored Ford transport plant of the Northwest Airways, Inc., crashed here tonight. The plane was bound from Chicago to Minneapolis, Minn.

The only Chicago passenger aboard was Kendall Clough, 26, of 929 Aldine avenue. He suffered several fractures of the ribs and severe bruises.

The plane had just taken off for St. Paul when the crash occurred. Fortunately the big machine had surmounted a 200 foot bluff along the Mississippi river when the engines sputtered and died. Middage attempted to bank and return to the airport, but the loss of flying speed prevented successful negotiation of the maneuver.

The wings of the all metal plane struck two houses in its descent. It crashed on a boulevard which skirts the bluff overlooking the airport and broke into three parts. The gasoline tanks burst, spraying the wreckage, and fire broke out. None of the passengers was burned, although all were injured in the crash.

Pilot Killed in Tail Spin.

Creston, Ia., June 24.—(AP)—Paul Ritter, 27, of Afton, was killed this evening when the airplane which he was piloting crashed to the ground near here. Ritter was unable to bring the plane out of a tail spin witnesses said, and it fell into a highway, bursting into flames. It was destroyed before the pilot could be removed from the wreckage. There were no passengers.

Mrs. Dawes to Act

LONDON, June 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles Gates Dawes will play her first official rôle as the mistress of the American embassy here on Wednesday and Thursday nights when she will present 16 American debutantes to the royal court at Buckingham palace.

She first will be presented to Queen Mary by Senora de Merry Del Val, wife of the Spanish ambassador who is doyen of the London diplomatic corps. Then the wife of the new United States ambassador will present her countrywomen.

On Wednesday the debutantes to appear at the palace are the Misses Lillian Sanger, Frances M. Barclay and Natalie Coe of New York; Rosemary Baur of Chicago, Dorothy Chase of Waterbury, Conn., Pauline Fenno of Boston, Mesdames Edward F. Hutton and Aymar Johnson of New York.

On Thursday those who will make their bow are the Misses Annie E. Nourse of Boston, Mary E. Riddle of Tennessee, Elizabeth Stuart of Cambridge, Mass., and Mesdames John B. Seymour of Georgia, Ernest Dorbritz of Philadelphia, Walter Mangum of South Carolina; Francis Neilson of Chicago, and Andrew Wheeler of Philadelphia.

TERRIFY CROWDS WITH PISTOL AND KNIFE; 2 SLASHED

Wielding a knife with a blade eight inches long, Frank Gomez, 26, 707 North Dearborn street, a Mexican, last night terrified scores of persons, including women and children, in East 63d street. He slashed two men before he was trapped in a hotel by Woodlawn police.

The affair happened shortly after a near panic had been created in the central station by a demented Negress who gave the name of Lily Washington, 35, of Detroit, when she waved a revolver at a special policeman after getting off a South Shore train from Hammond, on which she had refused to pay a fare.

Gomez burst upon a throng of persons at Harper avenue and 63d street, but escaped when frightened persons began calling for police. George Snyder, 624 Englewood avenue, and William Vogan, 6526 Ross avenue, were slashed.

When their wounds were dressed Snyder and Vogan traced the Mexican to a room in the Parkland hotel, 1540 East 63d street, where he was arrested. He was unable to give a coherent account of his actions.

When Sheriff Meets Sheriff, What Will Happen in Peoria?

It promises to be a case of an irresistible force meeting an immovable object today when the sheriff of Kane county goes to arrest the sheriff of Peoria county. The sheriff of Kane county is determined to make the arrest and the sheriff of Peoria county is equally bound said arrest shall not be made.

That was the situation last night when Sheriff Leslie Urch of Elgin, Kane county, announced that Sheriff Grant Minor of Peoria county must be arrested and brought into the city court at Elgin on orders of Judge Frank E. Shopen. Sheriff Urch said his chief deputy, George W. Jones, will leave for Peoria early this morning and by 10 a. m., will be there to place Sheriff Minor under arrest. Sheriff Minor simply maintained the attitude he has held from the beginning, saying, "Come and get me, if you think you're big enough."

The battle of the sheriffs started when attorneys for Morris Mansfield, held in the Peoria county jail for allegedly poisoning six persons with moonshine liquor, went before Judge Shopen in the Elgin court, for a writ of habeas corpus, on the plea that Mansfield was being deprived of his constitutional rights and refused bail.

The attorneys alleged Mansfield, who is a Jew, was being thus held because of race prejudice. Judge Shopen issued the writ and ordered Mansfield brought into court for a hearing. Sheriff Minor ignored the order. The judge then cited the sheriff for contempt. Sheriff Minor ignored that too.

So now, this morning, matters will come to a pass when Deputy Sheriff Jones goes to Peoria after the recalcitrant sheriff.

Deputy Jones has carefully laid plans. He will go first to the coroner of Peoria county, for Sheriff Minor holds that the coroner is the only one with power to arrest him. Deputy Jones will endeavor to induce the coroner of Peoria county to go with him to the sheriff and read to him the writ of attachment and the summons in the habeas corpus proceedings with which he will be armed.

If the coroner stands by his sheriff, as it has been indicated he will do, Deputy Jones will seek the sheriff by himself and beard him in his den, so to speak. And if the sheriff does not then evade the meeting, which Sheriff Grant Minor has indicated he will not, Deputy Jones of Kane county, will read to Sheriff Minor of Peoria county, the writ of attachment and the summons as well.

Just what will happen then if Sheriff Minor still refuses to be arrested nobody knows.

Tells of Lost Hardinge Romance and Gold.

for that of any children we might have, as well. He said heaven had taken his wife and he considered I had been sent to take her place.

Miss Livingston said when she told Hardinge her determination to safeguard her coming marriage against the disaster which befell her former venture, and when she mentioned children as a factor in insuring the success of marriage, she said Hardinge replied:

"Ann, I think I understand the doubts in your mind. Perhaps it may reassure you when I tell you that I recently made an application for a $350,000 life insurance policy. The physicians who made the physical examination told me I was as good physically as the average man of thirty-five."

"When I offered another objection," Ann testified, "that I would want to know him in his home environment, as he had seen me in mine, he said that that was an intelligent way to look at it. He told me he was sure his daughter would love me once she had seen me, and that a division of the property would be her only grounds for objecting to me, but that she wasn't a pig, and that there would be enough for all when he was gone."

Timid About New Wife.

Q.—Did you say anything further? A.—Yes, I told him that I wasn't sure I could take over a fine home such as he told me he had and run it as it should be run. I said I'd never had much money and had done very little traveling.

Q.—What else was said? A.—He answered that he had had this housekeeper for twenty-five years and that she would continue on as before. That he had a maid for the house, and that I wouldn't be worried with it, and that I would have a chauffeur and my own car beside.

Q.—What else happened while Mr. Hardinge was in Tulsa? A.—Well, he took me to lunch one day and gave me a present. He said it was because I had been so sweet to him, making his reservations and all, and that he wanted to express his gratitude. So he gave me a set, a necklace and bracelet and ring. This is the ring.

She held up a shapely hand on which sparkled a huge amethyst set in silver, and touched the matching necklace to indicate that it belonged with it.

Ann Demurs at Gift.

A.—What did you say to him? A.—I told him that I didn't want any present for the little trouble I had taken for him, that I'd have done as much for anyone. But he insisted and said he wanted to give me pretty things, and that he had consulted a girl friend of mine as to what was proper, and she had helped him select this.

Q.—Did you see Mr. Hardinge after that? A.—Yes. I was awfully tired, and when we came back from dinner the next night, he suggested a show, but I fell asleep on the divan. I must have slept for an hour, and when I woke I found he had put a raincoat over me. He said to me:

"Ann, I've been studying your figure—the symmetry of your lines. I have never seen a model nor a statue half so beautiful. You know I do a great deal of traveling, and a well dressed wife who can carry her clothes well is a good advertisement for any man. I'm sure you would grace the home of any one."

Miss Livingston said that in this, as in other conversations, she called Hardinge's attention to the need of grounding their marriage on an enduring foundation to assure continued happiness.

Hardinge Is Nonchalant.

Hardinge, who sits most of the time in court with a hand cupped about one ear and leaning forward to hear better, was as nonchalant throughout her testimony as she was composed. He hitched his chair forward to a point almost beneath the witness stand when the plaintiff, attractive in a frock of soft black crêpe, with a vivid orange vest and scarf, took the stand.

Miss Livingston swept him with her eyes repeatedly as Ehrlich shuffled through the mass of letters on his desk, checked them with his associate, Aaron Cohn, then numbered each and read them through. They were fifteen in number, making the total introduced twenty-six. The witness cupped her chin in her palm, and leaned forward on her elbow as he read them into the record.

Her expression was a cross between polite interest and wounded innocence, her manner the epitome of maidenly reserve. Attorney Ehrlich, who has to count off on his fingers the stage stars whose marital ties he has assisted in snipping, unreservedly designates her the best witness he has ever had.

Arguments in Chambers.

The entire morning session of court was occupied with arguments in the judge's chambers and Miss Livingston did not take her place on the stand before the jury and the crowded courtroom until the afternoon session. The arguments concerned the effort of the plaintiff's lawyers to force Hardinge to present proof of his riches. She will resume the stand in the morning and probably be turned over to Hardinge's lawyers for cross-examination before the day is over. On her direct examination today she will tell the third installment of her romance with Hardinge which began when she met him on a Denver train in June, 1927. Her testimony today will deal with her visit to Chicago when she came so near becoming Hardinge's bride.

LETTERS FORM SEQUEL

The first installment of letters was read Friday and they cover the three months' period between their meeting in June, 1927, and the following September, when Hardinge visited her in Tulsa. The second and final installment of letters, read yesterday, form a sequel to his visit to Tulsa, and the first one was written shortly after his return to Chicago.

"My dear Ann," the first of this group ran, "I arrived home and escaped the storm at St. Louis, and that was a horrible thing. I have been busy but must write and thank you for all the nice things you did in my behalf. In spite of being left alone to return without a fond adieu [referring to her failure to see him off when he left Tulsa], I certainly was not disappointed in you, and still can see that picture that can only be hidden by sleep. Sending you many of those sweet ones I am now robbed of, and many thanks for all your sweetness, lovingly yours."

Recalls Couch Episode.

"My dear Elizabeth," began the next, written after a trip to Toronto. "Answering yours of October 6, yes, I got it, and, of course, I want the picture, and how about the original? My sweet dear, I bought in Toronto a white fox and a very nice skin, and am sending it to you to protect that pretty back and that lovely throat, and to make that black hair more black and nice in the contrast. I hope you will be happy in receiving it from me as one thing from Canada I got on my trip that will give you pleasure.

"If I had had you along we would have had a good time and I would not care if we never got back. You know I called you all those nice things when I was in Tulsa, but something was on your mind there and you were worried, especially when you went to sleep on the couch. That was some act, but I know it was better to let you rest, and perhaps some day you can put those tired arms around my neck and tell me the whole story."

Speaking of the contemplated trip to the West Indies, which eventually was planned as a bridal journey and on which the brideless bridegroom finally sailed in solitary, Hardinge wrote on Oct. 12:

"I really expect to take that cruise, and one can make plans but sometimes they are not interfered with through our good Creator who makes those lovely creatures who like to go too, and who could perhaps make such trips more enjoyable."

Welcome to Chicago.

Another referred to her projected trip to Chicago in November to become acquainted with his family.

"Well, I will be delighted to see your sweet face in this fair city, and will meet you at the station and see you placed nicely and then we can saunter about until you are all rested up, and I wonder if you can ever run down the steps again and fall into the snow. That would be a lovely thing if the running was harder and the snow was deeper.

"I did receive your letter and was very glad to have it awaiting me. It seems like the first kindling for the fire that is to burn all the week with lots of fuel to keep it glowing from fond memories of days gone by."

Complains of her $200 Debt.

Following this Miss Livingstone wrote that she would be unable to leave Tulsa because she owed debts amounting to $200. The next missive, written late in October, makes reference to the fact.

"Your special was late in arriving," Hardinge wrote. "Well, I am surprised to see you back out, but I see your predicament and I am sure you have learned one of the most important lessons in the world—the value of a dollar. I am glad to feel that you have learned that, as it is one of those things that destroys many homes.

"Now I see you are doing the best you can and trying to make both ends meet in an honest and careful manner, and I want you to feel relieved, so will pay that $200 for you as a present. So don't worry any more about that. Please let me know just when you need the money and I will send it."

The Fatal Subject of Money.

The next includes another reference to the same topic, the first introduction of the money topic that finally wrecked their happy relations.

"My darling Ann, I know you are sorry to have me take care of these arrears, but I guess I am better able to do it than my dear girl, so it is better for me to do so. I will be pleased when the time comes to have you here to love me and make me real happy, and you know you are well able to if you are as sweet as you were when I was in Tulsa. I hope I will be all you desire to love and cherish one so blessed by nature as your dear self."

"My dear Ann," he wrote in a later letter, "just received your nice letter and am just as delighted to have you come as you are, so you have nothing on me. Don't forget to tell me the train and road. It will be wonderful to have you here, and we will try and be very happy and get the greatest kick out of life. It is certainly some pleasure to do for you, and I hope to be able to continue to do so, so long as we are happy and are doing right."

THE ARDENT FINALE

The final letter was perhaps the longest of the lot, and also the most ardent, and patiently is regarded by Ehrlich as the trump card in his case. Reading of it completed court proceedings for the day.

"My sweet Ann," it began, "your nice letter of the second at hand, and am very sorry to disappoint you. I hope you are a little bit happy now and will sport it Sunday (the fox scarf). As far as the spanking is concerned, it would be a pleasure, and even the putting to bed would not be so bad.

"I am sorry Mr. C. has found no one to take your place, but perhaps he would find it quite as hard as I would, so you are to blame for both our troubles, but you can rest assured I am looking forward to seeing you again and making you happy.

"I won't say again, as perhaps that would be assuming too much. Wednesday I start with my first grand opera of the season, so will be wishing you were beside me. To tell the truth, I will dearly love to have you here to baby and admire more than ever and I certainly expect you as soon as possible.

Can See Her Always.

"I see at the bottom of your letter both love and kisses from those sweet lips of so sweet a sweetheart, and why should I not love you? I can see you always, you lovely creature. So I am just looking for the 20th of November like a child looks for Christmas morning.

"You will certainly be better off with me, dearest, than with any one who will appreciate your beauty less. I don't want you to go back, and I hope you will not, only to visit your friends and sister. I don't want you to consider this an adventure. Just consider it a wonderful experience of life and love, and put those sweet lips to mine and close those loving eyes and go to sleep from all the trouble.

"Many pleasures will be in store for you and I if we can really love one another as I want you to and want to myself, so here is a great, long kiss for you that will last until you feel it in your toes."

GEN. DAWES PUTS U. S. EMBASSY IN LONDON ON THE WATER WAGON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—The American embassy at London under Gen. Charles G. Dawes is to be dry for the first time in its history. Gen. Dawes issued a statement today, as follows. "There seems to be a rumor going around that I intend to serve liquor at the embassy. I never have made it a practice to serve liquor in my home in the United States and see no reason to change now."

Makes Issue a Personal Matter.

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 24.—It will be noted that Ambassador Dawes made his decision to serve no liquor at the American embassy in London a personal matter and thus avoids being mixed up in any diplomatic arguments about liquor. It might have started something had he announced he would serve no strong drink in the embassy because it was American territory. This probably occurred to Gen. Dawes when he framed his communique. He steers clear of entanglements and says his guests got no wine when they called on him in America and they will get none here. That ought to be clear.

O. K. YOUNG PACT, GERMANY URGED BY STRESEMANN

Says Europe Looms as Colony of U. S.

French debt payments," says La Liberte.

"The cabinet members undoubtedly have their reasons, but it is necessary that the country know what they are, for an engagement which extends for 62 years is not valid in a democratic country unless ratified by public opinion.

Claims Poincare Made Charge.

"It has been recalled without being denied that Jacques Bardoux, a member of the institute, declared in public speech in 1926 that he had learned from one of the most important personages in the republic that all articles favoring the ratification published in the newspapers in this period were paid for with American gold. Since then it has been said this important personage was no other than Premier Poincare himself."

The absurdity of La Liberte's claim becomes apparent in the latter part of the article when it develops that the paper is trying to kill two birds with one stone. The other bird is Francois Coty, perfume manufacturer and newspaper owner, who has become hated by all the newspapers in Paris since he launched the highly successful fascist organ Ami Du Peuple, which sells for two-fifths the price of the other newspapers.

La Liberte declares M. Coty engaged a publicity expert named Octave Homberg to write a series of articles against the ratification in 1926 in his paper "Figaro," but the perfumist ordered the series ended after the fifth article and immediately began a daily article of his own urging the ratification.

Royalists Attack Premier.

Continuing its vicious campaign against the ratification action the "Francaise," a royalist newspaper, today prints in huge black letters on the front page the following declaration.

"Poincare went to Verdun yesterday to tell the dead soldiers he wishes to pay the Americans and English 150,000 francs for each French soldier killed at the front."

PASSION PLAY POSTPONED; PLAN OPEN AIR EXHIBIT

Postponement and removal to the out of doors of the Passion play which was to have opened last night at the Auditorium theater was announced suddenly by the management late yesterday afternoon. The reason given for the move was the summer weather.

"The management simply decided suddenly that this was a bad time of the year, with the heat, to produce the play inside a theater," Walter Sackett, the press representative, said. "We are now negotiating with the south park board to present the spectacle in the stadium in Grant park, and expect to open about the middle of July. There was no other reason for the postponement."

NEW PARLIAMENT TACKLES BRITISH PROBLEMS TODAY

Labor to Give Legislators Plenty of Work.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—Great Britain's new parliament meets tomorrow, but the first day will be devoted to election of a speaker and deputy, and on the succeeding days to swearing in the new members. The real opening is on July 2, when the king's speech will be read in the nouse of lords by the lord chancellor, acting for the king.

It has been agreed that the present speaker, Capt. Edward Fitzroy, shall be reëlected. He is a Conservative and has served in two parliaments. The deputy speaker will be a Laborite.

This will be the first time that the Labor party has an opportunity to frame the king's speech, as the last time Labor was in power, the Tory government was defeated after the opening of parliament.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald intends to outline a big program of work which will keep parliament busy for a year or more, and is also expected to give parliament some information about the progress of disarmament negotiations.

Speech to Reveal Plans.

LONDON, June 24.—(AP)—The speech from the throne to be read on July 2 by Lord John Sankey, new lord chancellor, is awaited with unusual interest, since it almost surely will reveal a number of important subjects such as Anglo-American conversations, the Rhineland evacuation, relations with soviet Russia, unemployment measures, and possibly temperance measures.

Among other things, the new labor government is credited with the intention of tackling the whole question of slums and housing, especially provisions enabling workers to obtain houses within reach of their incomes. This lack in the past has long been a matter of complaint.

Reform of the present system of administering pensions will be another item in the government's program, with the removal of certain alleged anomalies and injustices with regard to widows and orphans and old age pensions, the reform to be followed by introduction of a more comprehensive pension scheme.

Will Tackle Unemployment.

Unemployment in all its phases will be a foremost subject facing the new parliament, with the Liberals of David Lloyd George certain to make a bid for their scheme of reducing the number of out of work by increasing public construction jobs.

The matter of eight hour days for the miners is also under consideration, and there possibly may be some move toward temperance legislation, although this probably will be shelved in committee rooms or with some special commission.

While various matters of foreign policy are very much parliament's concern, in many cases the administration can act without special parliamentary authorization.

The program facing the legislators is a big one and there obviously cannot be much legislative output before the body rises for its vacation at the end of July. The adjournment will be until October.

POLICE ASKED TO END GAMBLING ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

Sunday afternoon's dice game in the playground of the Wicker Park school, 2032 Evergreen avenue, interrupted by gunmen who shot and wounded two youths, cannot be laid to the neglect of watchmen on school property, according to Frank J. Gerty, chief inspector of school property. Mr. Gerty said that Chicago's public schools and playgrounds are unprotected by watchmen from Saturday afternoon till Monday morning. "We have, however, been promised full coöperation by the police to stop dice games on or near school property," Mr. Gerty added.

William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, also petitioned Commissioner Russell yesterday for aid in cleaning up conditions in the vicinities of schools and asked that policemen be assigned to guard schools during the coming vacation.

GIBSON ARRIVES IN LONDON TO SEE DAWES ON WORLD PROBLEMS

LONDON, June 24.—(AP)—Hugh S. Gibson, United States ambassador to Belgium and spokesman of the American government on disarmament at Geneva in April, arrived here tonight for a conference with Ambassador Charles G. Dawes.

The small, alert, and smiling envoy indicated on his arrival from Brussels that the two ambassadors will have a general discussion of the international situation. Mr. Gibson tonight thought it quite unlikely that the discussions would result in any immediate announcement of great public interest.

"I came to see Gen. Dawes at his request and on instructions from Washington," he said. "Our talk will be a general one and I will be here as long as he wants me."

He admitted that the naval program would be one subject of discussion.

May Be Called to Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—Hugh S. Gibson may be called back to the United States later this summer for a conference with President Hoover and state department officials on naval questions. While no definite plans have been made for the return of the ambassador, state department officials said that he probably will be asked to present his views personally to the President on disarmament questions before the next meeting of the preparatory commission which is scheduled for next fall.

ARREST 2 UNION AGENTS IN HOME OF CONTRACTOR

Police of the Maxwell street station yesterday arrested Charles Mulcahy, business agent and William O'Brien, organizer of the Plumbers' union, on a charge that they took $100 from Joe Billini, a sewer contractor, as the first installment of a payment to end alleged threats to interfere with a sewer being built by Bellini.

Billini said he had promised to pay Mulcahy and O'Brien $400 within the next two weeks to prevent interference with a $23,000 Tessville sewer building contract. The plumbers' representatives were arrested at Billini's home, 822 South Loomis, where it was arranged to have the police concealed when the labor agents arrived.

Mulcahy denied the extortion charges and claimed that Billini has a reputation of trying to bribe building trades officials who refuse to permit him to hire non-union workers. A complaint, said Mulcahy, had been filed with the Plumbers' union that Billini had threatened to discharge some of the union employés unless they agreed to work for wage rates 40 per cent lower than those prescribed by the union.

BOY SWIMMER DROWNS.

Auburn, Neb., June 24.—(AP)—Linden Barick, 14, swimming in the Nemaha river near here today with his brother, William, 10, and James Armstrong, 12, was drowned this afternoon.

Strange Mother

Molly, a Maltese cat which had been an efficient exterminator of rodents in the warehouse of the Sangamon Paper Grading company, 1445 South Sangamon street, was discovered yesterday to be nursing five young unweaned rats.

Charley Kimball, the Negro porter, who discovered Molly in her strange maternal rôle, rubbed his eyes and ran to the boss, Joseph Cohen. Cohen believed the porter was the victim of hallucination until he saw the spectacle himself.

It was his opinion that Molly had devoured the mother of the brood and then assumed the rôle of foster mother out of pity or remorse. In any event, Cohen has a problem to contend with, for Molly refuses to allow anyone to take the rats from her.

NEW PRELATE OF MEXICO HURRIES CHURCH REBIRTH

May Resume Religious Services on June 29.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, June 24.—The new archbishop of Mexico, Msgr. Pascual Diaz, today was busy in his episcopal office arranging the preliminaries for the reopening of the churches. He and Archbishop Ruiz y Flores of Michoacan visited the office of the ministry of the interior to place themselves in accord with the government's manner of returning and receiving of churches and other buildings used for the offices of the Catholic church.

The temporary delay in the return of the church edifices to the clergy is due to the fact that a precise inventory of the property of each church must be made not only for the protection of the government as the titular owner of all church property but also of the priests who receive the property, as an unaccountable amount of church possessions have disappeared in the two years in which they were held by local committees in the name of the government.

Thieves Pawn Church Goods.

Pawnshops are filled with church belongings filched in Mexico City and suburban towns. Attorney General Medina, called urgently from the interior, returned to the capital today to hurry the inventories of the churches in the federal district so that they may be delivered to the church authorities for June 29, St. Peter and St. Paul's day. On that day Archbishop Diaz would like to have official resumption of Catholic services.

As a demonstration of the friendly spirit prevailing between church and government, and burying past grievances, Msgr. Diaz and Msgr. y Flores will have a meeting with former President Plutarco Elias Calles, reported to be the best informed man in Mexico on the Catholic question. In both government and religious circles it is believed that the meeting between Señor Calles and the prelates will do much to place church negotiations on a firm basis for coming years.

Notwithstanding the fight of Señor Calles on the church in support of the law and the constitution he gave his full support to the negotiations which finally brought about an agreement between the government and Rome.

Prepare Pastoral Letter.

The two archbishops are preparing a pastoral letter as papal representative and archbishop of Mexico to the faithful throughout the republic, notifying them of the approaching resumption of religious services and recommending full coöperation in the effort to restore peace in the nation. The letter is to be publishe dtomorrow.

The attorney general today held a long conference with President Emilio Portes Gil concerning the Catholics detained in prison on one charge or another, with a view to securing their liberation as early as possible.

Catholics Rejoice.

The Catholics are rejoicing today over the liberation of the prisoners of the Tres Marias penal colony, largely women of the better class of society, who reached the mainland this morning.

The governor of Vera Cruz and former minister of the interior, Adalberto Tejeda, today returned to the attack on the Catholics, charging them with being enemies of all public institutions. El Grafico scourged Señor Tejeda in the same edition in which his attack appeared.

34 BANKS AGREE TO GIVE WORKERS EXTRA HALF-DAY

Thirty-four outlying banks in the west and northwest sections of the city have agreed to give their employés an extra half-day off each week. The banks will be closed on Wednesday afternoons beginning July 10. Grocery and other neighborhood stores have been in the habit of compensating for overtime work on Saturday afternoons and evenings by closing one afternoon during the week. Announcement that the banks have decided to subscribe to this practice was made by Peter H. Cleven, president of the Inland Trust and Savings bank.

AIR TRANSPORT IN '29 TO EXCEL 3 YEARS' TOTAL

Lamont Report Shows Industry's Strides.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—The development of the aeronautics and air transport industry during the three years' life of the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce has been "among this country's outstanding achievements," Secretary of Commerce Lamont declared today in surveying the present state of development of the industry in connection with the third anniversary, July 1, of the establishment of the aeronautics branch.

"With the increasing interest being shown in this subject by the general public, there is every reason to believe that the immediate future will bring forth even greater accomplishments," he added.

Secretary Lamont predicted "the foundations have been laid for a great transportation system over which swift aerial carriers will bear their cargoes of mail, express and passengers to every corner of the globe."

Outlook for Big 1929 Record.

A statistical estimate of the condition of the industry appended to Secretary Lamont's statement indicated that if the present rapid growth in air transport operations continues during the remainder of the year, the operations for 1929 will exceed the total for the last three years.

The report estimated that the mileage flown by air transport operators for the first half of 1929 would total 8,000,000 miles as against 10,500,000 for all of 1928, 5,870,489 for 1927 and 4,318,087 for 1926.

The average of miles flown daily by air transport operators for the first half of the year, estimated to be 70,000 miles, is almost three times as great as the average for all of 1928, which was 26,606, more than four times the average of 16,083 miles for 1927 and almost seven times the average of 10,830 miles for 1926.

30,000 Miles of Airways.

The total length of the airways network, estimated now to be 30,000 miles, has jumped from a total of 16,667 miles at the close of 1928; 9,121 miles at the close of 1927, and 8,404 miles at the close of 1926. Ten thousand miles of airways, or one-third of the total, are lighted, as compared with 6,988 at the close of 1928; 4,468 at the close of 1927, and 2,041 at the end of 1926.

The greatest increases were shown for the income-producing activities of air transport companies. It was estimated that 40,000 passengers were carried during the first six months of 1929, as against 35,000 in all of 1928, 8,679 in 1927, and 5,872 in 1926. Total mail carried was computed at 3,400,000 pounds, as against 4,061,210 pounds in 1928, 1,654,165 in 1927, and 810,855 in 1926. Express volume was fixed at 1,200,000, as against 2,000,000 for 1928.

Coughlin's Fight to Regain Police Captaincy Fails

Thomas J. Coughlin, former police captain, yesterday lost his battle for reinstatement when a jury in Superior Judge Worth E. Caylor's court denied his petition. Coughlin charged that he was dismissed because he would not collect graft for former Chief of Police Morgan Collins. Coughlin became a member of the department in 1896. He was made a captain in 1912. On Oct. 15, 1925, he was dismissed by the trial board on charges of grafting brought by Chief Collins.

Atlantic Flights Claim Heavy Toll

New York, June 24.—(AP)—If Maj. Ramon Franco and his three companions are lost, as now seems probable, in their attempted flight from Spain to the United States, it will bring to 25 the number of lives sacrificed in attempted trans-Atlantic flights in the last three years.

Franco's plane would be the eighth to start out across the Atlantic ocean, never to be seen again. Other attempted trans-Atlantic flights have ended in failure but the planes either turned back in good time or their pilots and crew were fortunate enough to be saved by ships at sea after being forced down short of their goal.

Two companions of Capt. Rene Fonck were the first to sacrifice their lives in a vain attempt to cross the ocean by air. In taking off from Roosevelt field on Sept. 21, 1926, on a projected flight to Paris their biplane crashed and the two men were killed when the gasoline tanks exploded.

Six planes were swallowed up by the sea during 1927, and one early in 1928. A list of the planes and the date of their disappearances follow:

May 5, 1927.—Capt. St. Roman and two companions lost in south Atlantic in attempted flight from Africa to South America.

Aug. 31, 1927.—Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Capt. Leslie Hamilton, and Col. F. F. Minchin lost in attempted flight from Upavon, England, to Canada.

Sept. 6, 1927.—Monoplane Old Glory lost in north Atlantic with crew of Lloyd Bertaud, Philip Payne, and J. D. Hill.

Sept. 7, 1927.—Monoplane Sir John Carling, Harbor Grace, N. F. to London, lost in north Atlantic with Capt. Tully and Lieut. Medcalf.

Dec. 23, 1927. — The Dawn, from Harbor Grace to Denmark lost with Mrs. Francis Grayson, one of four on board.

CITY FEARS LOSS OF PHONE INCOME IN COURT RULING

Members of the city council were concerned yesterday over reports that the city may lose approximately $2,000,000 a year revenue from the Illinois Bell Telephone company as a result of the recent state Supreme court decision in the Chicago Motor Coach company case.

The decision held that the city does not control its streets for utility usage and it was pointed out that the telephone company may take advantage of the decree to cut off its payment of 3 per cent of its gross revenue for rental of streets and alleys.

Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson has ordered the filing of a petition for a rehearing in the Chicago Motor Coach case. The Supreme court has twice reversed itself on the case.

Payment of the 3 per cent fee, the council members pointed out, probably will be an issue in the negotiations of the telephone company for a new franchise. It also may arise in the proceedings pending in the federal court whereby the city hopes to force the company to repay to Chicago telephone users the $12,000,000 held in trust which has accumulated since 1922.

GETS PROBATION OF ONE YEAR FOR FORGING PIANOS

Found guilty of bootlegging pianos, Thomas H. Farrell, owner of a piano store at 4025 West Madison street, was placed on probation for a year by Judge Howard Hayes in the Racket court yesterday. Farrell will go to prison for a year if he violates his parole by selling any more cheap pianos with the names of well known brands forged on them, Judge Hayes declared.

The Better Business bureau of Chicago furnished the information upon which Farrell was convicted. Mrs. Ruth M. Tanner, 414 South 11th avenue, Maywood, complained to the bureau that she went into Farrell's branch store at 4528 Cottage Grove avenue last August and bought a "Chickering" piano for $475. The fall board with the brand stamped upon it was found to be a fake.

2 TANKS OF RUM FOUND ON YACHT SEIZED BY U. S.

Norfolk, Va., June 24.—[Special.]—Captured on high seas with approximately 200 cases of whisky on board, the American yacht Eolis is being towed to Wilmington, N. C., by a coast guard patrol boat. It was captured early today off Morehead City, N. C.

Coast guard headquarters here had advance information that the yacht, which sailed from Miami for New York several days ago, had two tanks filled with whisky on board.

The tanks were supposed to be used for storing gasoline, but Commander R. C. Howell of the coast guard said they were being used for storing whisky.

BEAUTY MAKERS ASK COURT FOR PERMIT TO DO HAIRCUTTING

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—Defeated in the legislature, beauty culturists of the state today brought to the courts their fight to be permitted to cut hair.

The suit, instituted in the Sangamon Circuit court against Michael Walsh, director of the state department of registration, seeks to restrain Walsh from enforcing that part of the law in relation to barbers which forbids beauty culturists to practice hair cutting. Jessie M. Banghart, beauty shop operator of Chicago, is the plaintiff.

Beauty operators are forbidden to trim locks unless they have a barbers' license. Miss Banghart contends this is absurd, since to obtain a barbers' license the culturist also would have to be able to shave and trim beards. She contends that section of the law is unconstitutional.

An attempt was made to amend the barbers' law at the last session of the legislature.

SANITARY BOARD REVEL RECORDS TIED UP AGAIN

The "whoopee" records of the Central Auto Service, 1452 North Clark street, impounded in federal court in connection with the sanitary district investigation, were placed beyond public reach for an indefinite period yesterday when Judge James H. Wilkerson gave permission to Attorney Joseph R. Roach to file an amended bill of complaint in the original proceedings against Timothy J. Crowe, former president, and six present trustees of the drainage board.

At the same time, the court entered an order staying all further proceedings in the case until further notice. Attorney Roach represents Guy H. Addison of Deerfield, Wis., an owner of property within the sanitary district. The lawyer told Judge Wilkerson that he had considerable additional evidence to add to the original bill and intimated that it was of a sensational nature. It must be filed within ten days and the district was given twenty days following the filing in which to present an answer.

CRABTREE WILL AIDS VETERANS BY 2 MILLIONS

San Francisco, June 24.—(AP)—The will of the late Lotta Crabtree, famous actress of a generation ago, was admitted to probate here today and disposed of an estate valued at more than $3,000,000.

Disabled American veterans of the world war and their families will benefit by the income from a $2,000,000 trust fund which is to continue for forty years. The will also created a $100,000 fund for destitute actors and a similar amount for discharged prisoners from San Quentin and Folsom prisons in California.

Lotta Crabtree died in Boston, Mass., in 1924.

SOUTHERN CROSS TRAGEDY FOUND DUE TO NEGLECT

Australian Inquiry Raps Flyers for Inefficiency.

BY JACK MYERS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, June 24.—The report of the committee of inquiry into the forced landing of the airplane Southern Cross recently in eastern Australia drastically criticizes the errors in judgment and inefficient organization on the part of the crew. The crew consisted of Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, commander, and Charles Ulm, pilot, Navigator H. A. Litchfield, and Radio Operator T. H. McWilliams.

The criticisms alleged they did not carry an efficient emergency radio set, did not ascertain whether emergency rations were aboard, did not consult the weather bureau regarding weather conditions, did not carry suitable tools, and did not make adjustments for changing the radio receiving set into a transmitter, which would have enabled them to communicate with the outside world.

Criticized for Not Signaling.

The committee says that the lack of use of eighteen gallons of oil for smoke signals is inexplicable.

The committee found that the allegations that Pilot Ulm made the proposal to get lost in central Australia for the purpose of publicity and financial reasons were proven, despite Mr. Ulm's denial, but that he probably did not make any serious business proposals. This, together with Mr. Ulm's misleading evidence regarding wireless reception, falsification in the diary, and exaggeration regarding the weakness of the crew after landing, caused the committee to regard Mr. Ulm's evidence with suspicion.

The committee did not find evidence that the forced landing of the Southern Cross was a premeditated stunt.

Rescue Flyers Criticized.

The committee strongly criticized Lieut. Keith Anderson's inefficiency resulting in the Kookaburra tragedy, in which Lieut. Anderson and Robert Hitchcock lost their lives while searching for the Southern Cross. The committee declared the machine was not suitable, carried food for only one day, had a defective compass, had no suitable tools or radio set, and that the machine was overloaded with gasoline. Lieut. Anderson's action in refusing advice to postpone the flight was also criticized.

The committee recommends regulations for future long distance flights, such as mapping unsettled areas and improved weather reports.

Day, Harry Sinclair Aid, Begins His Jail Sentence

MRS. NORTON O K'S DE PRIEST TEA AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Representative Mary T. Norton [Dem., N. J.], today defended Mrs. Herbert Hoover in connection with the entertainment of Mrs. Oscar De Priest, wife of the Chicago Negro congressman, at the White House.

"When the people of Illinois elected a Negro they expected him to be shown the consideration due a member of congress," said Mrs. Norton.

"Mrs. Hoover did not elect him. She merely represents her husband in extending courtesy to congress, regardless of color, race, religion or politics, and should not be condemned by any one for doing that which she considered—and which any other fair minded mistress of the White House would have considered—proper. It was an official courtesy only. . . .

"Mrs. De Priest is not responsible for the color of her skin. God gave her that. It is a shame to embarrass Mrs. Hoover for an act over which she had no alternative."

Burmese Storm Sinks Launch; 25 Are Drowned

RANGOON, Burma, June 24.—(AP)—Word had reached here of the foundering of a launch carrying 45 passengers up the Kaladan river. Twenty were rescued and are in hospitals, but the others were drowned. The accident was due to a storm.

HOOVER O. K.'S VAN DEMAN FOR MAJOR GENERAL

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—President Hoover has approved the promotion of Brig. Gen. Ralph H. Van Deman to a major general to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Maj. Gen. Harry A. Smith, commander of the Seventh corps area.

Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy will be appointed a major general upon the retirement of Van Deman, Sept. 3, at the statutory age of 64.

Col. George C. Shaw will fill the vacancy in the brigadier general list.

Shaw is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., while McCoy is serving on special duty as chairman of the Bolivian-Paraguayan arbitration and conciliation commission in Washington. Van Deman is commander of the Sixth brigade at Fort Rosecrans, Cal.

Renew Classroom Days of 25 Years in the Past

"Grads" of twenty-five years ago, members of the class of 1904 at the Von Humboldt school, met last night to exchange reminiscences and tales of subsequent experiences in a reunion at the Hotel Sherman. An honored guest of the alumni group was Miss Del Banco, one of the teachers of the class, who recalled to her former pupils many incidents they had forgotten.

ALDERMEN START BALL ROLLING IN CAR SETTLEMENT

O. K. Committee of Three to Fix Values.

Setting as its goal a referendum late this year or early in 1930, the city council local transportation committee took several important steps yesterday preliminary to the preparation of an ordinance to give Chicago a unified and improved transit system.

At a brief meeting, the first since Gov. Emmerson signed the agreed transit bills, the aldermen approved the selection of a committee of three men, suggested by James Simpson, chairman of the citizens' transit committee, to evaluate the companies' property and urged them to start work immediately. The aldermen also asked the companies to designate one spokesman to represent their interests in negotiations with the city.

Plan Waukesha Conference.

For their own part in the program the aldermen decided to go out of town, probably to Waukesha, Wis., for several days to start drafting the ordinance. The tentative plan is for the committeemen to leave tomorrow night to spend the last half of the week in Waukesha.

The personnel of the valuation committee is Col. A. A. Sprague, former commissioner of public works; Joshua D'Esposito, engineer, and George Woodruff, vice chairman of the National Bank of the Republic directorate. Although the three will donate their services, the committee recommended an appropriation of $5,000 for office and incidental expenses.

"In view of the repeated charges made at Springfield that both the elevated and surface lines would attempt to boost their valuations, I promised Gov. Emmerson that the problem of valuations would be taken up the first thing," said Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], chairman. "The job, I believe, is in reliable and trustworthy hands."

Session a Jubilee.

In some respects the committee session was more of a jubilee than a business meeting. With the long sought enabling legislation now on the statute books, the aldermen were in a joyful mood. They voted thanks to the legislature, the governor, the citizens' committee, and pledged themselves to speedy fulfillment of the ordinance drafting task. Ald. Jacob Arvey [24th] made the keynote speech.

"With the World's Fair just around the corner, I believe it imperative that we finish the ordinance and submit it to referendum in 1929 or early in 1930," he declared. Other members of the committee agreed that the ordinance should be ready for the voters no later than February or March of next year.

Chairman McDonough made a plea for concentrated effort on the part of the aldermen. "They criticized this legislation at Springfield because they didn't have faith in us," he said. "They thought we would sell out the people. Let's pass an honest ordinance and then hold massmeetings in every nook and corner of the city and tell the voters about it."

Prior to the local transportation committee meeting, Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d] lost in his attempt to secure favorable action by the council judiciary committee on his resolution for the appointment of a subcommittee to aid a proposed United States senate committee in an investigation of charges that the Insull interests have connections in the city hall through Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson's office. After an hour of argument the committee voted unanimously to defer action.

Ald. Albert repeated his assertion that the investigation is warranted by the fact that Mr. Ettelson formerly was connected with the Insull law firm and that Mr. Insull contributed in the past to several campaign funds. Ald. Oscar Nelson [46th], chairman, demanded "more specific proof of wrongdoing."

RICH U. S. ITALIAN VISITS HOMELAND TO BUY VILLAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NAPLES, June 24. — Twenty-four years ago, when Theodore Roosevelt was President, there sailed from the port of Naples to seek his fortune in the new world a 12 year old boy, Generoso Pope, who returned today for the first time to his native country as president of the Colonial Sand and Stone company of New York.

Naples might be said to belong to Mr. Pope tonight. It feels honored by his visit, for Mr. Pope comes from southern Italy. And tomorrow night an organiaztion here known as the "Italiani del Mondo" has organized a big festival for Mr. Pope and Sig. Italo Carlo Falbo, who is director of an Italian newspaper in New York which Mr. Pope recently bought.

All this whoopee, however, is nothing compared to what is going to occur at Mr. Pope's home town, the little village of Pasquarelli di Arpaise, in the province of Benevento. Mr. Pope may visit his town and may buy it. He wants to convert it into a model village. Electric power will be provided and for 20 years the inhabitants will have no electric light bills to pay.

CASH ON ALTAR KILLS MABEL'S LOVE OF BOURBON

But She Refuses to Say Break Is Final.

PARIS, June 24.—[U. P.]—The marriage plans of Mrs. Mabel Gilman Corey and Prince Luis of Bourbon have been abandoned.

The former Broadway star and former wife of a Pittsburgh steel millionaire broke her long silence today in an interview to reveal that "everything is finished." However, she refused to say that the breaking up of the 20 year romance with the king of Spain's cousin is final.

"You can never say anything is final," Mrs. Corey said, as she sat at tea. "Even archeologists say no one had ever known definitely when the world began or when it will end."

Tired of Money Wrangle.

Although she declined to explain why the marriage plans were abandoned after years of endeavor to overcome various obstacles, Mrs. Corey admitted that she was tired of the financial wrangling involving the marriage contract, her offers of money settlement having failed to please the Spanish nobleman.

A close friendship between Mrs. Corey and the Infanta Eulalie, mother of Prince Luis, still exists. The Infanta, who regrets the turn of events, said:

"Mrs. Corey took such a deep interest in my son, who needs a wife who is devoted but severe."

Prince Luis is remaining at San Remo, being barred from France. Mrs. Corey said she would remain in retirement at her castle, Villa Genis. She is plainly disappointed at the failure of her romance.

Met on Honeymoon.

"I met Don Luis on my honeymoon," she said, "and we have loved each other for 20 years. It is hard, but it is impossible to turn the sacrament of marriage into a bargain counter. I do not know if I ever will love another. For the present, I do not care.

"I always said American men make ideal husbands, although they lack the polish of many Europeans. If I had married Don Luis I would have had to remain in Italy, but now I shall never leave France. Really, I don't think one man or ten is worth the sacrifice of selling my castle in France."

Mrs. Corey was on the verge of tears at times as she told of her romance and difficulties. She pointed out the room where Jerome Bonaparte died in 1860.

"Kings have lived here before me," she said. "A king died there."

NEW AIRPORT IN FRONT YARD OF LOOP DEDICATED

Amphibions Will Fly Over New Route.

Downtown Chicago's point of contact with the municipal airport—the water ramp for amphibians in Grant Park—was formally dedicated yesterday afternoon in the presence of state, county and park officials. And with its opening, officials of the South Park board, under whose direction the artificial beach has grown from an idea to an actuality within a few weeks, predicted a volume of traffic for the new terminal which will necessitate a considerable expansion of landing and parking facilities within a short time.

See Effect on Capital.

George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the south park system, declared that the presence of an easily negotiated port for seaplanes and amphibians in the "front yard" of the loop will result in an enormous increase in airmindedness in Chicago's financial district, and a proportional increase in the amount of Chicago capital invested in the industry.

"The whole project has been managed at a cost of less than $10,000," Mr. Donoghue asserted, "and we have inaugurated an enterprise that may grow even beyond our reckoning. greatest resistance to flying as a business asset is overcome.

Expects Congestion Soon.

"I look for congestion in our lake front harbor within the first few weeks of its operation."

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, present at the dedication as the official representative of the state, took to the air for the first time after the ceremonies in a Sikorsky amphibion of the Curtiss Flying service, which plies from the loop to the municipal airport with mail and passengers.

Swanson Will Have New Office in County Building

State's Attorney John A. Swanson is establishing an office in the county building in connection with the civil branch of his department already quartered there. He will divide his time between the new office and his headquarters in the new Criminal Court building. It is planned to enlarge the civil offices to take in space vacated by Forest Preserve Superintendent Charles G. Sauers, who is moving his administrative offices to Cermak park.

AVIATION NOTES

A regular week-end flying service for fishermen between Chicago and Rhinelander, Wis., sponsored by the Rhinelander chamber of commerce and Universal Air lines, will be opened on July 1, according to an announcement yesterday from the Chicago offices of Universal. The landing field at Rhinelander has been improved for takeoffs and landings. Twenty hours more of week-end fishing will be available to anglers who take the aerial route.

The contract for the carrying of western Canada air mail from Winnipeg to Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina has been awarded to the Western Canada Airways, Ltd. There will be direct connection with United States air mail routes. The service starts in September.

"Bud" Gurney, roommate of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when the two were flying the mail from St. Louis to Chicago, arrived in Chicago yesterday en route from Minneapolis to Cincinnati with his wife. Gurney was at the controls of a Lockheed-Vega.

"Within a few weeks we will launch on Lake Constance a seaplane capable of carrying loads up to 22,000 pounds, or 100 passengers, uninterruptedly over a distance of 621 miles," Dr. Dornier, head of the Dornier airplane works in Berlin, stated yesterday, according to dispatches from the German city. "The ship is so constructed that even if several of the motors fail the stability and progress of the ship will not to be affected."

Cleveland's annual aircraft show during the week of Aug. 19 will be featured by a cross country flight from Cleveland to Santa Monica for women pilots. The committee on registration yesterday announced the receipt of 35 applications from women pilots, who will compete for a cash prize of $6,000 and a trophy.

ADD 200 MEN TO COAST GUARD ON BUFFALO FRONT

Big Liquor Drive to Open There on July 1.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 24.—[Special.]—Liquor drives were speeded up on both sides of the Canadian border today.

Canadian officials prepared to arraign a number of men arrested as the result of a cleanup of speakeasies in towns on the Ontario shore opposite Buffalo. Announcement was made here of the addition of 200 men to the coast guard in this district and the appointment of 15 more customs men, as moves in the battle on rum running which is expected to open at this end of Lake Erie July 1.

10 More Boats Ordered.

New men will be recruited for the Buffalo battle by Lieut. Martin W. Rasmussen, commander of the Ninth district, coast guard, so that he will not be forced to deplete his Detroit forces. Ten boats, speedy and well armed, will take the place of the five sent from this zone to Detroit.

That inroads on the Detroit liquor traffic are being made was revealed by Lieut. Rasmussen. In May, it was estimated, 100,000 cases of liquor were brought into the United States at that point. In June only 60,000 cases were illicitly imported, he said.

A few of the 200 recruits for this district will be used for lifesaving work, the district commander said, but even these will be available in emergencies for rum control. The district now has 650 men, of whom 150 are in the lifesaving division. The new boats will be here in time for the big drive in July. They can be manned by three men and carry one pounders and machine guns as regular equipment in addition to the service weapons of the guardsmen.

Find Yanks Man Speakeasies.

Constable William A. Page of Bridgeburg revealed today all the speakeasy proprietors arrested by him and his men Saturday night are Americans. He said this series of raids showed the intention of the Canadian police to stamp out the illegal rum traffic. With the advent of summer and the opening of the tourist season, speakeasies have sprung up like weeds at all border points patronized heavily by Americans.

The Ontario liquor control act forbids the sale of liquor except by a licensed bonded liquor store and purchases may be made only by permit holders. Owners of speakeasies usually buy their supplies from exporters, who return to the Canadian shore after clearing from port, in violation of the Canadian customs laws. C. F. Airey, inspector of provincial police, is endeavoring to make the exporters really export their goods, thereby drying up the speakeasies' source of supply.

Trial Divorce Over, Wife Has It Made Permanent

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday made the trial divorce of Mrs. Lillian Speyer permanent by awarding her a decree from John A. Speyer, 5914 North Lotus avenue, on charges of cruelty. In May of 1928 Mrs. Speyer asked for a divorce and agreed to an arrangement whereby she acted as housekeeper for her husband and four children. The judge delayed signing the decree for a year in the hope of effecting a reconciliation. Last week Mrs. Speyer pressed her suit for a final decree on the same terms.

NEW RUM BASE

WINDSOR, Ont., June 24.—(AP)—Word that Detroit river rum runners were operating out of Goderich, Ont., on Lake Huron was viewed by United States prohibition enforcement agencies as evidence that their offensive against smuggling was bearing results.

Two boats, each containing 300 cases of liquor, left Goderich last night with Detroit as their destination, according to a wire received today by Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit.

Interrupting an alleged fishing party yesterday, off Ecorse light, customs patrolmen brought to light a new method of liquor running. They said they found three cases of liquor wired to the keel of the fishing craft. Two "fishermen" were arrested.

FOUR SOUGHT FOR $5,741 ORIENTAL THEATER HOLDUP

Police last night were seeking four robbers for the second daring loop theater holdup within two days. Four men, masked and armed with revolvers, entered the office of the Oriental theater, Randolph and State streets, at 9:15 a. m., threatened and bound George Tabor, assistant manager, and two other employés, and escaped with $5,741 of the Sunday night receipts.

The looting followed the robbery of the cashier of the Garrick theater, 64 West Randolph street, a few doors away from the Oriental, last Saturday, when a lone robber escaped with a $5,500 pay roll.

George Rosenthal, the doorman, who answered a small buzzer attached to the outer door for use when the theater is closed, was the first to encounter the Oriental theater bandits. The intruders forced Rosenthal into the office where he, Tabor and John Stevenson, the superintendent, were quickly bound, the bandits running out after emptying the contents of the safe into a bag one of them carried. Fifteen minutes later Tabor and the others freed themselves and called police.

Posing as film salesmen, two young, well dressed bandits early yesterday morning obtained entry to an apartment over the Whiting theater, at Whiting, Ind., and, after holding up Michael Ezain, manager of the theater, and Miss Margaret Bennett, cashier, escaped with $1,400. Before leaving they bound their victims with adhesive tape. Ezain and Miss Bennett released themselves a few minutes later.

Steps in Path of Speeding Electric Train; Is Killed

R. S. Shipe, 40 years old, 643 Hawthorne avenue, Elmhurst, a mail clerk, was killed yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an Aurora and Elgin electric train at the Spring Road crossing, Elmhurst. Shipe, who was on his way to work, passed behind a westbound train and stepped into the path of the eastbound flyer.

BURNS TO RETURN TO SOUTH TODAY; ASKS CLEMENCY

Robert Elliot Burns, magazine publisher, will leave today for Georgia in his final effort to escape return to a chain gang from which he escaped seven years ago. Burns' voluntary return was arranged through his attorneys, Morris I. Kaplan and Cameron Latter.

Attorney Latter has filed a plea for executive clemency before Gov. L. G. Hardman of Georgia. This will be heard July 1 by the parole board. Burns will make the trip to Georgia with Vivien Stanley, member of the parole board. He will not be in custody.

Burns was sentenced to jail for a grocery store robbery in Georgia in 1922. He received about a dollar as his share of the loot.

Phone Co. Starts Delivery of 1,500,000 Directories

Distribution of the summer edition of 1,500,000 copies of the telephone directory was started yesterday. As usual, the surname Johnson was the largest listing, the Johnsons occupying 58 columns. The Smiths are second with 51 columns and the Andersons third with 38 columns. An innovation in the directory is the substitution of an artistic design for advertising on the cover.

Street Cars for Convenience

NO MATTER where you want to go in Chicago, street cars will take you there and bring you back quickly and conveniently.

Chicago has the largest and most comprehensive street railway system in the world, providing the longest ride for one fare and the most liberal transfer privileges to be found anywhere.

A surface car is always near, ready to serve you.

The consistent increase in riding on the Chicago Surface Lines is due to the fact that people have found the service the most convenient for short trips about the city—to their places of business or amusement or for hurried errands. By using street cars they avoid parking difficulties and traffic hazards.

More use is constantly being made of the service by those who are going but a few blocks, because of the saving of time and effort.

Might Incriminate Them, Plea at Plattsburg.

Plattsburg, N. Y., June 24.—(AP)—A coroner's hearing on the fatal shooting of Arthur Gordon, alleged smuggler, halted tonight, a few hours after it had started, while county authorities thumbed law books to determine the degree of immunity possessed by federal officers summoned to an inquest.

The latest pause in Clinton county's activity against border patrolmen said by their superiors to have been involved in the shooting of Gordon resulted from the declination of two officers to testify on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate them. John C. Tulloch, customs collector at Ogdensburg, also refused to produce the report made to him on the shooting.

Collector Tulloch testified he received his first news of the death of Gordon by telephone from A. O. Kokenso, special agent for the Ogdensburg district, later talking with the agent at his office.

Coroner Overrules Him.

Tulloch declined to repeat what had been said, saying it was information given him as a superior officer by the agent.

Coroner Charles D. Rea overruled this contention and Tulloch repeated the statement made last week which, in substance, said Gordon was accidentally shot by W. J. Cheatham while attempting to escape from Cheatham and F. L. Conveney near Mooers, early on the morning of June 15.

Orders against the unnecessary use of firearms were issued by Tulloch on March 9, 1928, he said, and a second order against the use of rifles and amplifying earlier instructions was received June 15, he testified.

Dies of Dry's Gun Wounds.

Silver City, N. M., June 24.—(AP)—J. J. Thompson, alleged bootlegger of Hanover, who was shot by prohibition officers during a gun fight at Fierro Station on June 11, died here today.

Prohibition Officer Hill and Deputy Sheriff McSherry, in reports to Federal Administrator Charles Stearns at Albuquerque and Commissioner Doran in Washington, alleged that Thompson had shot first when they surprised him while he was making a delivery of two kegs of whisky.

MARY R. RINEHART NOVELIST, DEPLORES U. S. BOOZE KILLINGS

Prohibition killing were deplored yesterday by Mary Roberts Rinehart, novelist and playwright, who passed through Chicago on her way to her Wyoming ranch. "Prohibition has put power into too many irresponsible hands," Mrs. Rinehart declared. "As a result we have these shameful dry killings."

Mrs. Rinehart, accompanied by her husband, Dr. Stanley Marshall Rinehart, arrived over the Pennsylvania railroad from Washington, where she recently underwent a minor operation. With her on the train Mrs. Rinehart has a parrot, a bullfinch, a book of crossword puzzles and a new saddle.

Pacific Islands May Ask for U. S. Mandate

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, June 24. — Lorrin Thurston, Honolulu publisher, speaking before the Pan-Pacific club, said he had information that British Samoa and French Tahiti will ask to be placed under the mandate of the United States if America grants self-government to her Samoa colony. Sir Joseph Carruthers of Australia said that at present the New Zealand mandate was causing native discontent.

$2,000,000 GIFT TO UNIVERSITY BY EX-CHICAGOAN

The will of the late James Benjamin Wilbur, former Chicago banker, creates a conditional trust fund of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 for the University of Vermont. This was announced in an Associated Press dispatch from New Britain, Conn., yesterday. Mr. Wilbur died in New York of heart disease April 28 at the age of 73.

The will requires the university to limit its attendance to 1,000 students annually, preference to be given to Vermont boys. This quota may be increased by 250 for every 100,000 increase in the state's population since 1920. Mr. Wilbur had a summer home at Manchester, Vt.

The will leaves $500,000 in trust for a son, John B. Wilbur of New Britain. The fund is to revert to the university at his death. Other gifts included in the will were: $25,000 to the Western Reserve Historical society of Cleveland, and $100,000 to the library of congress board.

ADVISES U. S. TO LET WET STATES ALONE—AID DRYS

Selective Enforcement Is Favored by Wade Ellis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Withholding of federal dry enforcement appropriations from wringing wet states and communities was advocated here tonight as a means of bringing about either repeal of the 18th amendment or better enforcement of the Volstead act.

Wade H. Ellis, former assistant attorney general during the Taft administration and a member of the American Bar association which made a special study of law enforcement some five years ago, advanced the novel plan during the course of a radio speech delivered under the auspices of the Washington society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Mr. Ellis, who described himself as neither a wet nor a dry, asserted that such a bold stroke as limiting federal prohibition expenditure to those states which themselves undertook to enforce the dry law would have an immediate electrical effect all over the country.

Would Lead to Showdown.

He asserted such action would rouse public sentiment and precipitate a showdown on the liquor question. Wet cities, such as Chicago and New York, would be allowed, under the Ellis plan, to retain the saloon and patronize bootleggers undisturbed by the long arm of the federal law.

In citing figures on the cost of lawlessness throughout the United States, Mr. Ellis listed the annual national crime toll at 13 billion dollars. He asserted that murders now averaged 12,000 a year, or fifty times the number committed in Great Britain. Mr. Ellis found that Chicago had 10,000 criminals waiting each night to pounce on the unwary, while New York had 30,000.

After stating that the 18th amendment obligated both state and federal government to enforce prohibition, Mr. Ellis called for a showdown on the whole dry question.

Help States Which Want It.

"Let us insist and require," he said, "that every state which is doing its part by appropriate legislation and enforcement to secure obedience to the prohibition amendment, shall have the help and coöperation of the federal government, and every state which refuses to do its part, by legislation or otherwise, to enforce the prohibition amendment shall not have the support of the federal government.

"We as a nation would then perceive that something has got to be done about prohibition. There are five or six states which either never have passed an enforcement law, or repealed or invalidated the law they had passed. There are several others, which, while they have enforcement statutes, make no serious attempt to observe them. Why should the government of the United States spend millions of dollars or hundreds of millions out of the national treasury to enforce prohibition locally in New York or Wisconsin or Maryland?

"Why should the federal authorities undertake to close the ten thousand or more saloons and night clubs in the metropolis of the country, when the people of the state in which they are operated have deliberately, and by popular vote, refused to close them."

Wants Dry Enforcers Changed.

Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Ore.], today advised President Hoover to immediately appoint a committee from the executive department to study the question of transferring prohibition activities to the department of justice. Mr. Jones made his suggestion after Republican leaders had failed to win approval for the Jones resolution providing for the appointment of a selected congressional committee to study the question of reorganizing prohibition enforcement.

In his message to congress, Mr. Hoover asked for the appointment of a special committee and suggested it coöperate wtih a committee he would appoint from the executive departments. Mr. Jones said legislation would be expedited if the President's executive committee would make its study now and be ready to work with the congressional committee if appointed.

Carl Blum, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Stanley Klarkowski.

William Carlton, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Marcus Kavanagh.

Harry Travis, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Frank Comerford.

Carlos Stepina, alleged ringleader of the jail escape plot, which was thwarted by Warden David Moneypenny of the county jail when he seized the homemade tools to be used by the prisoners in their contemplated escape, will be sent to the penitentiary at once if Judge Harry B. Miller in the criminal court grants a petition to be filed in his court this morning. Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin, who prosecuted and convicted Stepina for the robbery of a bank messenger last February, drew up the petition yesterday.

Prosecutor Lavin in his petition charges that Stepina is a menace to the jail and that he should be locked up in the penitentiary pending the Supreme court review of his conviction.

CONSCRIPT ALL, VETERANS VOTE AT DETROIT MEET

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—(AP)—Recommendations for a more adequate national defense, civil military training camps, restricted immigration, a universal conscription law and increased allowances for National Guard units today were endorsed by 6,000 delegates to the ninth annual convention of the disabled American veterans of the world war.

The report of the organization's executive committee suggested that the veterans' bureau regional offices establish employment agencies for disabled men.

Charges were made that the veterans' bureau functioned only when demands were made on it through a routine full of "red tape."

New Orleans, the Nation's second port—because of its strategic location at the mouth of the great Mississippi River, its nearness to the Panama Canal, and to the 100,000,000 people of Latin America, and its unusual facilities for the distribution of goods—is destined to become one of the great cities of the future.

To the north stretch the vast waterways of the Mississippi River and its tributaries, which drain thirty-two states—twenty-two of which can find it profitable and convenient to use a water route to the sea, via New Orleans. Great, modern transportation facilities have been and are being provided on this natural highroad of commerce. The Inland Waterways Corporation and several other public carriers operate barge service on the Mississippi River from New Orleans to St. Louis the year round; as far north as Minneapolis, in season; up the Ohio River to Pittsburgh; up the Cumberland and Tennessee Rivers and on the Warrior River to Birmingham.

All-water rates are uniformly 20% less than competitive rail rates. Railroads connect with the barge lines at many points, and combined rail-and-water rates are available to more than thirty states and 160 railroads quote joint rates.

The Intracoastal Canal, now being developed by the government, links all the ports between New Orleans and Corpus Christi with the Mississippi Valley waterways. New Orleans is the key city to this gigantic transportation system of more than 13,000 miles.

Nine great trunk-line railroad systems, constituting approximately 20% of the Class 1 railroad mileage of the United States, have their terminals at New Orleans.

Ninety steamship lines have regular sailings from this port to all parts of the world. The Public Belt Railroad connects all railroads entering the port with each other, with the water front and docks, and with individual factories. With one of the finest dock systems (publicly owned), and with port facilities unequalled for efficient and prompt handling of cargoes and reshipment of merchandise, New Orleans offers manufacturers, distributors, importers, and exporters advantages worth investigating.

POWER COMPANY FATHER OF PACT TO SAVE NIAGARA

Scenic Improvement May Yield Millions.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 24.—[Special.]—The project embodied in the pending treaty with Canada "for the preservation of Niagara Falls by the construction of remedial works and for the experimental withdrawal of additional water from the Niagara river" is the child of the Niagara Falls Power company.

The plan owes its conception to the desire of this company to divert from the falls for power purposes more than double the amount of water it is now allowed under the boundary waters treaty of 1909 restricting the diversion on the American side to 20,000 cubic feet per second. If the project proves a success, Canada and the United States will be asked to allow double the present diversion, which would yield to the American and Canadian hydro-electric concerns an additional power worth $40,000,000 a year.

Public May Be Satisfied.

The present total diversion of 56,000 cubic feet of water per second on both the American and Canadian sides represents the withdrawal of one-fourth the normal flow over the cataracts. With this diversion held responsible in part for the baring of the flanks of the Canadian Falls and the thinning of the flow over the American Falls, it was apparent that public opinion would not tolerate an increase of the diversion to half the normal flow if it were to entail a further impairment of the spectacle.

The Niagara Falls Power company, therefore, set out to devise a plan whereby the diversion might be doubled eventually without lessening the scenic value of the falls. It began experiments to determine how to produce the maximum scenic effect with a minimum flow over the cliffs. The result of the experiments is a proposed system of remedial works designed to redistribute the flow in such manner as to restore the original appearance of the falls with only half the original volume of water.

Schoellkopf's Wisdom Proven.

The Niagara Falls Power company, formed by the consolidation of several companies possessing Niagara power rights, is now the sole utilizer of the 20,000 second feet diverted on the American side. Its history is traced back to the days of Jacob Schoellkopf, who aroused doubts of his sanity when he paid $75,000 for an old canal on the edge of the village of Niagara Falls. But the old man knew what he was doing. The Niagara power he extracted from that old canal made him rich and his sons still richer.

Today there are six millionaire Schoellkopfs directing the affairs of the Niagara Falls Power company and of the Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern Power corporation, the holding company in which the power and affiliated interests of this region have been merged. This holding company has just become, in turn, an important unit in J. P. Morgan's $650,000,000 merger of New York utilities.

The Schoellkopf interests also have on the Canadian side the only privately owned power producer, the Canadian Niagara Power Company, Ltd., all the other private plants having been absorbed by the government owned hydroelectric power commission of Ontario.

3 Million Horse Power Possible.

The total diversion of 56,000 second feet on both sides develops 1,150,000 horse power, 730,000 on the Canadian and 420,000 on the American side. Doubling the diversion would yield another 1,000,000 horse power in the present plants on both sides which, with the exception of the Ontario commission's Queenston plant five miles below the falls, are more or less inefficient in utilization of the available energy. In plants of the highest efficiency a diversion of twice the present volume would produce 3,000,000 horse power.

Not the least interesting aspect of the matter is that the plants which disfigure the Niagara scene are the least efficient producers of power. When they were built it was not feasible to develop power from the full drop of more than 300 feet from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario. Plants built in the future will be four or five miles below the falls and the present plants at the falls eventually will be scrapped.

It was the late John Lyell Harper, chief engineer of the Niagara Falls Power company, who initiated the experiments with remedial works. In 1923 he began the construction of a working model of the falls on a plot of ground comprising about one acre near the river above the American falls. He caused the American and Canadian falls, the rapids above and below Goat island, and every detail of the landscape down to Terrapin Point, to be reproduced in miniature on a scale that resulted in about a six foot drop for the falls compared with the actual 162 feet of the Canadian and 167 feet of the American cataracts.

When Harper died in 1924 he had pronounced the model a demonstration that the Niagara spectacle could be preserved with half the normal flow of water and the other half used for power.

Model Seen by Hoover.

The model is now operated several times a day to propagandize the company's program. A lecturer explains the project to sightseers while a gang of workmen installs and removes the miniature remedial works by which man proposes to improve upon nature in the direction of the Niagara torrent.

Mr. Hoover viewed the operation of the model when, as secretary of commerce, he visited Niagara falls in 1924. He became greatly interested in the plan to restore the original appearance of the falls while at the same time diverting an additional volume of water for power development. He discussed the project at length with Mr. Harper and the other officials of the company. When he returned to Washington he suggested the formation of a joint international board to study the whole subject of preservation of the falls and additional power diversion. President Coolidge approved and negotiations with Canada were opened in 1925.

McFarland Persuaded.

The board was created the next year. Mr. Hoover had a hand in its appointment. For one of the two American members he selected J. Horace McFarland, who, as president of the American Civic association, led the fight 20 years ago to save Niagara from the power hogs, a campaign that resulted in the present treaty limiting power diversion. Mr. McFarland evinced considerable reluctance to accept. He suspected that the project derived more from a desire for more horse power than from zeal for the preservation of the falls.

"My reluctance," Mr. McFarland explained afterward, "was due to the feeling that Mr. Hoover, being an engineer, might consider Niagara more useful in the wheel pits."

Mr. Hoover, noting Mr. McFarland's reluctance, earnestly remarked:

"Mr. McFarland, Niagara falls is the finest bit of decoration on the North American continent, and we can afford to keep it."

"Naturally, I glady consented to serve under this general charter," said Mr. McFarland in relating the incident.

Board Is Convinced.

The board studied the question, giving special attention to the Niagara Falls Power company's plan for redistribution of the flow over the falls. With certain modifications, the board late in 1927 approved the project. Mr. McFarland became one of its warmest advocates.

"The results to be anticipated from the construction of the works on the two flanks of the Horseshoe falls," said the board in its interim report, "will be the insurance at all seasons of an unbroken crest line from shore to shore, the maintenance of the present blended green and white color effects of the Horseshoe falls, and, in some proportionate measure, a modification of the rate of erosion in the bend. The works in Grass island pool will insure an adequate flow in the American rapids and falls and between the Three Sister islands."

By preconcerted arrangement the Niagara Falls Power company and the Ontario hydro-electric power commission then addressed a letter to the board offering to construct the remedial works, estimated to cost $1,750,000, provided an experimental additional diversion of 20,000 second feet be allowed in the nontourist season for a period of ten years. The board accepted the offer, cutting the experimental period to seven years, and submitted the proposal to the two governments. The negotiation of the treaty providing for the remedial works and the experimental additional diversion followed.

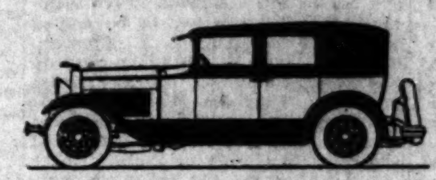
STILL A LINCOLN!



THAT BEAUTIFUL, gleaming Lincoln that you admired yesterday—that swift, smooth-running mechanism—did you stop to think that it has probably gone many thousands of miles?

Yet today its strength and power are undiminished, its silence and beauty unimpaired. It is still a magnificent motor car . . . still a Lincoln!

From time to time it is possible to obtain one of these Lincolns at very advantageous prices. . . . Lincolns that have stood the test of service, that have been inspected by Lincoln craftsmen and gone over in Lincoln shops. Such cars are real bargains and thoroughly sound investments. Shrewd buyers are always on the lookout for them.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on the floors of the authorized Lincoln dealers listed below. These companies are the only Lincoln dealers in the city of Chicago and suburbs authorized by the Lincoln Division of the Ford Motor Company to sell and service Lincoln automobiles. If you are considering the purchase of a Lincoln —either new or used—your own best interest demands that you deal only with one of these four authorized Lincoln dealers.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL FOR STATE JUDICIAL COUNCIL

Will Study Reforms for Illinois Courts.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson's formal approval of the creation of a state body similar to the Cook county judicial advisory council was recorded today. During his absence in Chicago, his office filed with Secretary of State Stratton the bill signed by the governor establishing the state body for the next two years.

The plan to extend study of the state laws, with particular emphasis on the criminal statutes and procedure in criminal cases, was sponsored by the Cook county council after its own disappointing experience during the session of the general assembly recently adjourned. One after another it saw its bills defeated or lost in the shuffle and concluded that greater scope must be given the movement if results are to be attained.

The Cook county council consists of three members of the judiciary selected by the Cook county board—Justice Frederic R. De Young of the Supreme bench, Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan, and Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher—and two others chosen by the Chicago Bar association—Amos C. Miller and John Healy.

Will Have 15 Members.

The state council, with 15 members, is to represent both houses of the legislature but also is to include members of the judiciary and the bar who are not in the assembly. Five members of the senate are to be named by Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling. Speaker David E. Shanahan already has selected four of the five house members. They are Roger F. Little of Champaign, David I. Swanson and Michael L. Igoe of Chicago, and Frank A. McCarthy of Elgin. Under the terms of the bill the fifth member will be a downstater.

Two of the senators on the committee are to be from Cook county. The third group of five will be named by Gov. Emmerson from outside the assembly, the only restriction upon his choice being that the appointees shall be members of the bar or the judiciary. The council will elect its own chairman.

Duties of Council.

The duty of the council—whose title is "The Judicial Advisory Council of the State of Illinois"—is set forth as follows:

"To study the laws of this state in the fields of judicial organization, criminal law, criminal procedure, and civil procedure, ascertain the defects thereof and consider the means of remedying such defects. The council hereby created, in coöperation with the judicial advisory council of Cook county, is empowered to draft a revision of the statutes of the state, or any part thereof, and to prepare any and all forms of bills deemed necessary to carry out its recommendations.

"In the performance of its duties its members are authorized to visit and observe the courts of other jurisdictions with a view to obtaining suggestions as to rules of law and procedure that may advantageously be incorporated in the legislation of this state."

The members of the council are to serve without compensation, only $10,000 being appropriated for their office costs and similar expenses during the biennium.

Other Bills Approved.

The more important measures out of the fifty filed wtih the governor's approval today were:

SENATE BILLS.

98 [Mason]—Authorizes increase in school playground tax from three-twentieths to one-fifth of 1 mill.

216 [Huebsch]—Advances registration days one week.

393 [Mills]—Authorizes downstate cities to levy fire protection tax not to exceed 2 mills. Referendum.

380 [Mendel]—Authorizes city or village to lease its property for 99 years.

435 [Starr]—Authorizes exchange of land between city of Chicago and United States for new outer bridge.

450 [Mason]—Provides for interim registration at election board office and transfer of names of removals between registrations.

539 [Cuthbertson]—Creates judicial advisory council of fifteen members of judiciary or bar to revise law in reference to criminal and civil procedure.

HOUSE BILLS.

261 [Elrod]—Appropriates $500,000 as state share of cost of mothers' pension act.

696 [Propper]—Changes term of village clerk from one to two years.

711-712 [Karl O'Hair]—Limit rate of mortgage bonds to fair market value and require appraisal where mortgage exceeds $50,000.

799-800 [Sonnenschein]—Allow Cook county 5 cent increase in tax rate for one year because of reassessment expense. Referendum.

Vetoes McCauley Bill.

The governor vetoed Senator William R. McCauley's bill to do away with the requirement for grand jury action when a defendant enters a plea of guilty and to permit procedure upon information in such cases. Attorney General Carlstrom held that the measure was unconstitutional. The governor also vetoed an appropriation bill item of $30,000 for advertising the revenue amendment which lost out in the closing days of the session.

75,000 in Illinois Legion; State Now Leads Nation

Illinois posts of the American Legion, with an enrollment of 75,000 veterans, now lead all other states in membership, while the Cook county council of the Legion, with a membership of 35,000, has a larger enrollment than any excepting the five largest states, it was announced yesterday by George M. Kellogg Jr., commander of the Cook county council.

Strain Upon Truth

The strain upon truth in advertising becomes too great when the public is told that other cigarettes enjoy the toasting process. It takes three years to produce Lucky Strike's flavor. This unrivaled cigarette is a blend of finest tobaccos from each of three consecutive growths —the cream of the crop. Then comes the secret toasting process which in the opinion of 20,679* physicians makes Lucky Strike less irritating than other cigarettes. This exclusive heat treatment also purifies the tobacco and adds a touch of nut-sweet flavor—appetizing, delicious, different—the earmark of one of the world's most popular products.

From Sepphoris to Zenith

A few years ago Professor Shirley Jackson Case of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago wrote a new life of Jesus, which, to many thinkers, was the first real history of Jesus that had ever been written. It was clear, it was logical, it was scientific—and yet it was human. In fact, it was so logically human as to create a new inspiration to an old story.

And yet what Case did, was so simple a thing to do—after it was done.

All that Professor Case did was to study the condition of the times and the immediate environment in which Jesus was born and grew to manhood—which is exactly the method one would pursue in getting at the background of any individual.

And the result was the true history of Jesus, just as inevitably as the present condition of the times and his immediate environment form the true history of Jim Smith.

Here for the first time was a history that had nothing to do with theological arguments, pro or con, but had everything to do with the natural sequence of events in which any individual must become involved as a result of the things that are happening to him.

And so, taking the conditions of Palestine of that time, the unrest of the harassed people, the arrogance of the priesthood, the environment of the little village of Nazareth in which he was born and of the larger city of Sepphoris to which he probably walked to work (for Jesus was a carpenter and worked at his trade), we realize that everything that happened to Jesus from the cradle to the cross was absolutely inevitable and could not have happened in any other way. And thus, for the first time, our minds as well as our emotions are satisfied.

We humans, unfortunately, are so constituted that it is hard for us to realize that we are probably 90% the result of the conditions of our times and our immediate environment. Indeed, it is almost easier for us to believe it of Jesus than it is of ourselves.

But what was true of Jesus is equally true of Jim Smith.

Twenty years ago almost any Jim Smith, living in almost any American factory center which Mr. Sinclair Lewis in his novels has called the city of Zenith, came home after a ten to a twelve-hour day to his hovel and his woman and his brats. He came home sour and tired and when times got too hard he joined strikes and threw brickbats. And Coxeys and Debses sprang up along the way.

Allowing only for the difference of physical environment, the social and economic parallel between the times of Jesus and those of the Jim Smiths of twenty years ago is pretty close.

Then came the tremendous economic change brought about by men of affairs in the whole working life of America, which, of course, is responsible for the almost miraculous change in the life of Jim Smith.

Today Jim Smith drives home to some suburb to his wife and children after a seven or an eight-hour day. He is making anywhere from three to seven times as much money as he made twenty years ago. Machinery and modern appliances and shorter hours have left his body fairly fresh for the leisure before him. He is well-dressed, his wife has clothes, his children are in school. Even in the matter of children, Jim has learned moderation. He plays, he goes to shows, he studies, he reads and writes. You would be surprised at how well he writes in relating his own true experiences.

Now, when we take Jim Smith's story in True Story Magazine, and indeed the stories of all the Jim Smiths and Sarah Browns who are striving for self-expression, we get that same inevitable sequence of events, completely correlated to the conditions of the immediate time in which we live and our surrounding environment.

That spread of wealth and leisure for labor, which began hardly more than a decade ago, has changed the American part of the world more than any other part of the world has ever been changed in ten centuries.

This nation now has mass wealth. And that mass wealth is expressed in every story that comes to our desk. To anyone who is historical minded the thing seems as strange as a dream. In fact, the Jim Smiths and Sarah Browns are more unconscious of it than anyone else. But when you now take the settings of these True Stories instead of the stories themselves, when you see what they do and what they wear, what they buy and where they go, you begin to realize that, so far as the masses are concerned, they are already in the midst of what virtually amounts to an economic millenium.

Anyone who is student-minded can take the underlay of these thousands upon thousands of human documents and read the conditions of his times, and the reaction of environment, better than any historian could have done of any other age. For here is a real folk literature that is telling the story month by month of America's great discovery of money and leisure for labor and what that discovery has brought about in the eagerness of the masses for the comforts and conveniences and luxuries of modern life.

SEA LAW AND SEA POWER.

The New York correspondent of the Manchester Guardian notes with implied surprise that "the administration now seems hardly interested at all in the question of revision of sea law" and, while referring to the Kellogg treaty, confines concrete suggestions for simple reduction of naval strength according to the formula proposed by Mr. Gibson at Geneva. Ambassador Dawes' address follows the same line.

We are hoping the phenomenon is significant. If our government is controlled by the clamor of sentimentalists and theorists, it will go ahead enthusiastically to plausible restatements of sea law and then adjust its concessions for the reduction of our strength to the new rules. But experience has proved repeatedly that sea law and ancient precedent are overruled by necessity or urgent policy. Both Great Britain and the United States when the need was great have departed from their own principles, as, for example, we in the civil war, and Great Britain in the late war. Both nations in time of peace are for the protection of neutral rights and the broadest extension of the freedom of the sea, and both when at war discover rights of belligerency which they have vigorously denied as neutrals.

There is no objection to a restudy of sea law and doubtless between Mr. MacDonald's government, which has pacifistic leanings in theory, and our own, which is pacific and civilian, like all American administrations, a very showy agreement could be reached for the extension of neutral rights and immunity of private goods in warfare. But if we permit our ingenuous faith in treaties and formulas to dominate our program of national defense and make undue concessions and reductions in actual naval strength, we repudiate the lessons of experience and make certain disillusionment and perhaps disaster when policy gives way, as it always does, to vital interest or necessity. In the late war we found that our interests and our rights were not protected by law or precedent from either belligerent. In similar circumstances arising in the future we shall have that experience repeated, unless we have means of avoiding it more effective than litigation in the league court.

Our national optimism and the influence of our organized pacifism and internationalism all favor a reliance upon words which history, our own history quite as clearly as that of any other nation, does not justify, and it is a reliance greater than any government with which we have dealings has disclosed. We enter any international negotiation, therefore, at a disadvantage and usually emerge from it with the disadvantage increased.

CENSORSHIP REVERTS TO BONE.

Commissioner Russell and the censors have prevented the showing of the moving picture play made of "The Trial of Mary Dugan." The commissioner said that Mary was not a virtuous girl. Consequently there could not be a picture shown of her. The woman who heads the censorship board said that Mary was kept off the Chicago screen because of the children. A picture called "Careers" was allowed on the condition that children were not admitted. The board even muddles its own rules, if it has any rules.

When Russell took notice of the fact that there were two offensive plays in the theaters the facts seemed to justify him. He was supposed to have sent an investigator to determine if complaints were well founded. The investigator said they were and the commissioner closed one show and made the other cut out offensive parts.

It was conceded then that if police action taken to protect ordinary public decency were not allowable no restraint could be put on any lasciviousness or indecency which any one wanted to exhibit for profit. At the same time the danger of supporting police censorship was recognized and that has quickly become apparent.

No trust can be put in any board of city appointees whose job is regulation and suppression. A censorship board will be a stupid nuisance because it is its nature to be. It will not show any intelligence because it does not contain any. Its job is to prevent something. In the two shows the police were acting when exhibitions were becoming notorious. The distinction should be apparent, but it was quickly lost, and the only thing apparent now is that there is no discretion in the police department.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" was not offensive to public decency. It was a good show. If the police had interfered with it they would have been regarded as crazy or worse. There was no reason why the people of Chicago should not have seen the play in pictures. Commissioner Russell made himself a moral Simple Simon when he said that no girl who was not strictly moral could be brought to trial on the screen while he was on guard. He's thinking of the exhibition of Judas Iscariot in wax in Utica. The censors feel their oats and probably will insist on proving that the embodiment of censorship stops at the collar button, going up.

BAD MOTOR MANNERS.

The most familiar sight on our roads on Saturdays and Sundays is the long queue of cars following some slow moving car. The driver of the slow car is usually entirely within his rights. He is out for an airing with his family. He has no reason for moving faster. He wants to chat and look about, and not burn too much gas. The road is too narrow to pass him with traffic the other way, so he collects in due time a train of impatient motorists who have longer distances to go or less time to spare or preference for faster movement. This situation is a common nuisance.

The slow traveler is not, in the case we describe, to blame. We all want the roads to be used for his benefit within reason, but his habit illustrates the need for more wide through thoroughfares and enforced rules to make them as serviceable as possible. In Indiana they are fining slow drivers. This meets the case of very slow driving, but when is driving too slow? May not a citizen go out for an afternoon's country jog at 25 miles an hour, or even less, if that is the pace he deems safe and satisfactory? The better solution is wide roads, but wide roads do not save us from the slow driver, if, as is so generally true in our region, he keeps the middle of the road or wanders irresponsibly from outer lane to inner.

We need better road manners badly. They exist in other communities. We need stricter discipline of inconsiderate drivers, which will improve our manners in time. Slow drivers should be kept to the outer lane or right side of broad roads and should be penalized for getting out of it and blocking faster traffic. That is enforced in other regions and can be enforced here, but the sense and fair-mindedness of drivers should insure it without police discipline. Most drivers are grown up and ought to have intelligence enough to know that inconsiderate driving is bad for every one, including in the long run the inconsiderate driver as well as his victims.

A good deal of experience in this country inclines one to believe that there is more careless and inconsiderate driving hereabouts than anywhere else on the continent. We do not know why, but we know that in time and with some intelligent measures our driving manners can be improved. There is too much driving through stop signals and the offense should be punished more frequently than it is. Part of it is heedlessness, part selfish disregard of the common good. The former is a serious menace, as was illustrated the other day when a citizen driving on Roosevelt road with the right of way was killed by another who "didn't notice the stop sign." Licenses to drive should be suspended or revoked for repeated careless driving even when manslaughter is not the result. Careless driving is potential manslaughter and when it is habitual it is morally little short of murder.

"I GOTTA DRAG."

Following are the persons exempted from jury duty by the Illinois statute:

The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, attorney general, members of the general assembly during their term of office, all judges of courts, all clerks of courts, sheriffs, coroners, postmasters, mail carriers, practicing attorneys, all officers of the United States, officiating ministers of the gospel, school teachers during the term of school, practicing physicians, dentists, veterinarians, registered and assistant pharmacists, constant ferrymen, mayors of cities, policemen, active members of the fire department, embalmers, undertakers and funeral directors actively engaged in their business, and all persons actively employed upon the editorial or mechanical staffs and departments of any newspapers of general circulation printed and published in this state: Provided, that every fireman who shall have faithfully and actively served as such in any volunteer fire department in any city of this state, for the term of seven years, may thereafter be exempt from serving on juries in all courts. The judges and clerks of election shall be exempt from jury duty during the term of their service and for two years thereafter. Members of Illinois National Guard and Illinois Naval Reserve shall be exempt from jury duty during their term of service and for an equal period thereafter.

The only justifiable exemptions would be the governor and other state officials named, judges and officials of the courts, sheriffs, coroners, practicing physicians, mayors, policemen and active members of the fire department, judges and clerks of election during service, and members of the National Guard and Naval Militia during service. The rest is political privilege without excuse, including that of newspaper men, who should be no more exempt than other private citizens. The exemptions as they stand relieve a large number of citizens from a duty which the public good requires they should perform and from a field of public service in which they are needed.

Editorial of the Day

OVERENFORCEMENT.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

Elasticity is the essence of good government. Exceptions must be made to every rule of administration if it is to conform to human needs, and not the other way about. Secretary Mellon showed his appreciation of this in issuing his recent order against the indiscriminate grant of the "immediate attention" privilege in customs inspections. The order was not meant to apply, he said, in the case of a passenger "seriously ill or infirm." He should continue to receive the courtesy. So, also, should one "accompanying the body of a deceased relative or friend" or "summoned home by news of affliction or disaster."

These specific exceptions are few enough. Provision might well be made for more without danger of abuse. But, few and obvious as they are, it appears that the customs service is loath to honor them, preferring the timid bureaucratic method of rigid conformity, whatever the emergency.

An elderly woman passenger who had broken her leg on shipboard arrived from Bermuda on Monday. She had to be carried to the pier on a cot, and, though she was helpless to take her place in the customs line with the other passengers and it was necessary that she be removed promptly to a hospital, the request to expedite the examination of her baggage was refused. The deputy surveyor in charge of the pier called the custom house, to be told that she would have to await her turn. As a result she was obliged to leave her baggage behind, with the knowledge that unless claimed the next day it would be taken to the appraiser's stores and held until her release from the hospital.

Such an interpretation of the new ruling is inhuman; it is also ridiculous. There is that about it which suggests a deliberate attempt to discredit the department's order. The public will await with interest whatever explanation the custom house can muster for the action.

X-RAY FILMS AND DANGER.

THE burning of X-ray films has been the subject of investigation more than once and the facts are easily accessible. They are given in Dr. Alice Hamilton's "Industrial Poisons in the United States."

In 1900 there was a tragedy due to fumes from the burning of X-ray films in Leipzig. Eight people lost their lives. An analysis of the gases given off by heated and burning films showed that three were highly poisonous.

The gas which causes almost instant death is hydrocyanic acid. In the Leipzig fire some of the victims were found to have died instantly and in whatever position they were when the fumes struck them. The death of this group was ascribed to hydrocyanic acid. When about 15 grams of film is either burned or heated to a fairly high temperature without burning, five cubic centimeters of this very poisonous gas is generated. The gas which produces coma, nervousness, edema of the brain and slower death is carbon monoxide. Heating or burning about 15 grams of film generates about 260 cubic centimeters of this dangerous gas. This is the nonodorous gas which we have heard of as being a source of danger in garages and around automobiles.

The third dangerous gas given off by heated or burning films is the brownish-yellow fuming material which goes by the name of nitrogen oxide. This gas is very irritating to the air passages. If death is not instantaneous trouble caused by edema of the larynx or lungs due to this gas may develop a day or more—or even weeks—after exposure. Deaths from carbon monoxide may also be delayed a day or more.

The volume of this gas given off by heating about 15 grams of film is about 150 cubic centimeters. During the world war we gathered a great deal of information about these nitrogen gases and their dangers.

Some of this information concerned men working in factories where explosives were made and some of it related to exposure of soldiers in the battlefield. Of these three gases, nitrogen oxide is the least harmful because it gives warning by its color, odor and its irritating qualities, and also because it is not so poisonous as prussic acid gas. Carbon monoxide is colorless and odorless, but it is far less poisonous. The gases are formed when film is sufficiently heated, even though they do not burst into flames.

A small amount of collodion will make enough poisonous gas to kill a great number of people.

MILK FOR THE BABY.

Reader writes: Can you tell me why so many mothers cannot nurse their babies? I had four, from ten to fourteen pounds, all fine and healthy now and have always been. The longest I could nurse them was three months and they were half starved on account of my milk being so poor. My neighbor thinks it's awful for mothers not to nurse their babies and that only breast fed babies get along. She says mothers find it easier to give the bottle than to nurse, but I think it is lots harder, as making up and taking proper care of the bottle takes so much time.

But why, when I drank milk, gruel, beer and any malts and soups I heard of as being good and, even though I got fat, could I not nurse? I was told fretting and being on the jump all the time had a lot to do with it, but there must be other reasons, as some mothers are thin and have plenty of milk.

REPLY.

You seem to have overstressed feeding and understressed regularity, rest and method. You ate too much and thereby lessened your milk supply. Next time, eat about as you usually do, get 8 to 10 hours' sleep, be regular in your habits, nurse your baby at regular intervals and according to a schedule from which you do not vary. Empty the breasts completely. If there is more milk than the baby needs alternate breasts but empty completely. Refrain from emotions.

UNHEALTHY LOCATION.

Chicago, June 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can I be held for lease on apartment where we receive no janitor service and pay for it? And where they have a garbage chute that does not meet with the requirements of health department, and is condemned? Also oil tank is leaking and fire department says it is unsafe. My doctor tells me I must seek healthier quarters. MRS. R. F.

Unquestionably you must pay rent as long as you remain. If you move out, the question whether you are able to defend against an action for the rent is a close one, depending largely on the personality of the judge.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TO MARRY ALIEN.

Chicago, June 20.—[Friend of the People.]—I have been in this country since 1923. I am an American citizen now, but my fiancé is in Hungary and a Hungarian subject. I have been waiting to marry him for six years, but the quota law is so strict I wonder if you can help me.

Would it be best for me to go to Hungary and marry him or for him to come here and marry me and how long would it be either way for him to be able to stay in this country legally? V. P.

The immigration act of 1924, as amended, provides that a husband of a United States citizen by marriage subsequent to May 31, 1928, is a quota immigrant and is entitled to preference in the issuance of immigration visas. After marriage abroad, form 633, Petition for Issuance of Immigration Visa, may be executed by the wife in behalf of her husband, and forwarded with proof of such marriage to the commissioner of immigration, in accordance with instructions, for his consideration.

S. D. SMITH,
District Director of Immigration.

NO WORK, NO PAY.

Chicago, June 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am a member of the National Guard and as such compelled to report for two weeks' encampment shortly. I am employed by a company and would appreciate your advising whether or not they are obligated to pay me my regular wages during said period of encampment. C. D. Q.

No, they are not.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

CRUSADE.

There is no journey's ending
To draw me on my way.
Only a lost voice sending Me forth again to stray.

There is no lovely vision
To lure my restless feet,
Only the faint derision
Of one I shall not meet.

Yet, though too late in starting,
I cannot choose but go,
Forever, now, departing
From all the things I know.

Whatever I am seeking,
Whatever paths I ride,
An echo haunts my speaking,

Blue Monday yesterday, and all day it got bluer and bluer. And just when the blue was growing deeper and deeper and getting black polka dots on it the mail man brought in three poetical contributions calling on "Descendants of the Heroes Brave Who Fought at Bunker Hill," and "Ye Who for Freedom Would Bleed and Die," and "Those Who Call This Land Their Own," etc., etc., to "Arm and Fight for Liberty," and "Bow Not to the Cruel Despot's Lash," and "Rise Up in Might 'Gainst the Bigot's Bloody Blows," and otherwise inciting patriots, citizens, and all the downtrodden to civil war, revolution, riot, piracy, and much whoopee generally. And if that ding-burned Blue Monday had turned just a few darker shades of blue, durned if we wouldn't have printed those poems in twenty-eight point type with five astonishers after every line. We have a calm and peaceful nature, but Blue Monday accompanied by Bluer Poetry gets on our tortured nerves.

Our Dinny and Our Show.

Now about the Line's own particular show, presented with a gracious bow and his own charming smile by Dennis King last Sunday night over W-G-N: We wish we could print all the telegrams and letters—or even some of them—received yesterday about Dinny's present to the Line readers night before last—but we've an embarrassment of riches. How can we choose any of them to print when they are all so beautiful and appreciative? We can't. So we've given them all to Dinny—and promised faithfully to send him every one that comes in later—and decided to make our small bow here for your devotion and glowing enthusiasm. We agree with you fully. Dinny never sang better. We can't remember when we ever heard songs sung with such glorious warmth and tenderness as Dinny put into his that night. When he sang "Homing" we had tears in our eyes, and when he had finished and turned quite simply to us and said, "I sang that for Billie and John Michael, Dick," we understood. For Billie, as he told you last night, is "the loveliest lady in the world," and John Michael is Dennis' four weeks old tiny son. . . . The whole half hour was something we are sure none of us will ever forget from the first brilliant note of "Nichavo" through everything to the last stirring, exciting word of "The Song of the Vagabonds." Dinny leaves us this morning for eight or ten weeks in Hollywood, where he is to do François Villon for us all. In the autumn, we hope, we think, he will be with us again as D'Artagnan. Until then we can only say what the hundreds of letters and telegrams have said today—thank you a thousand, thousand times, Dinny, good-by, and God bless you.

The Minor Wail objects to our objections to backless bathing suits. But bless your heart, Minor Wail, who said we objected to them? All we object to is receiving a rumor that there's one or two loose in the waves at the foot of Oak street and then to gallop madly up there, only to be told we had been given the wrong dope and that the backless bathing suits were swimming in the lake off 79th street, and to go running 'way down there, to be told that the place to find 'em was in a lagoon in Garfield Park. That's all we objected to—false alarms.

CHARLEY DAWES says he will not serve alcoholic beverages in the American embassy in London. Well, just the same, we won't mind dropping around to see Charley when we go to London. We know a peach of a place just a short walk from the embassy right down Exhibition Road where they sell the best Scotch in London.

NINE MOHAMMEDANS have been sentenced to death in Russian Turkestan for killing a Moslem poet. Maybe the poet wrote a sonnet to Col. Lindbergh and the guilty nine were column conductors. In that case, of course, they have pleaded extenuating circumstances, or sudden and violent provocation, or something like that.

"PLEASE," begs M. M. F., "now that the lettuce and spinach season is with us again, to reprint in the column the Hiawatha and the Lettuce poem. Come on, now, be a good sport." We always wish to be a good sport, M. M. F., but you know our rule; we never reprint. Of course, if you dared us to reprint—Oh, that might be something quite different.

WE GIVE UP! If June the perfect month, June the month of roses and sunshine and joy and a lot more of that hooey, boloney, and applesauce, goes away in five more days without presenting us with a snowstorm or a blizzard, we'll miss our guess.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

THE NEWS.—Our news from Gen. Grant's army gives the first clew to the nature and object of the new movement foreshadowed in our dispatches of a few days since. Our army south of Richmond aims a blow at the defenses of the rebel capital and at the same time seeks to control and cut off its communications with the seaboard.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The following is the latest received from your correspondent in the field with the Army of the Potomac: "The general anticipation of a few days' rest by the army has not been realized. On the 21st another change of line to the left was made. Simultaneously with the recrossing of the command of Gen. Smith and a part of the Sixth corps to the east bank of the Appomattox, the Second corps and the main body of the Sixth abandoned their position to the northeast of Petersburg and moved to the left six miles, taking up two lines to the south of the Petersburg and Weldon railroad. This shift indicates a purpose to work as thorough a destruction of the railroad as was done with the Virginia Central on the North Anna. The Second and Sixth corps are now confronted by Longstreet's and Hill's corps in an entrenched position."

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—President Lincoln, after visiting Gens. Meade, Butler, and Grant, is returning to Washington. Opposition papers will doubtless now raise an outcry against presidential interference with Gen. Grant's plans. The purpose of Mr. Lincoln's visit was simply to ascertain in what way and by what means he could, according to the judgment of commanding generals, best serve the interests of the country.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 25, 1899.

BREST, France.—The cruiser Sfax, with Capt. Dreyfus on board, was reported at Madeira, and everything points to the arrival here tomorrow.

CHICAGO.—Congressman Henry S. Boutell is suffering from injuries received when he was run down by a "scorching" bicyclist at Grand boulevard and 43d street. He was knocked unconscious and carried to his home in Evanston. Samuel Insull, president of the Illinois Electric Vehicle company, was felled by a cab horse at Jackson boulevard and Wabash avenue and severely cut on the forehead, cheek, and chin, but was able to go to his residence.

CHICAGO.—Dr. M. C. Jennings, 2208 Wabash avenue, was slayer of and physician to his neighbor, Thomas H. Levers, a sewing machine agent. He quarreled with Levers over the latter's habit of daily feeding his horse from a feedbag close to Dr. Jennings' window, and shot him. As Levers lay dying the physician was brought into the room to be identified by his victim. Dr. Jennings placed his trained fingers on the pulse of the wounded man and pronounced him as "past all hope, poor fellow." The doctor was then locked up on a murder charge.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 25, 1919.

PARIS.—France has decided to require complete reparation from Germany for the sinking of the German warships in Scapa Flow.

CHICAGO.—A strike of city electricians, which threatened to plunge the city in darkness, was at least temporarily averted when it became known that the strike order was issued through a misunderstanding. Meanwhile between 3,000 and 4,000 white wings, ash and garbage removers, helpers, and street repair men went out on strike for higher wages.

CHICAGO.—William Carpenter Camp, once familiarly known as "Billy" in the cork popping belts of Chicago and New York, and Mrs. Katherine C. Thorne, widow of William C. Thorne, vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., were married in the bride's bungalow in Hollywood, Cal., and are on their honeymoon in Santa Barbara, Cal.

CHICAGO.—A notable society affair took place in Oak Park when Miss Harriet Warner Noel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Noel, 406 Linden avenue, and Lyman Taylor Burgess of Sioux City, Ia., were married by the Rev. William E. Barton.

BRITISH DIPLOMACY.

Chicago, June 22.—In an article by John Steele on the coming negotiations for a navy cut, I notice that the British have very cleverly manipulated press comments and press opinion to make it appear that the next move for initiating a navy cut rests with the United States.

I fail to recollect any recent instance where the British initiated any real action toward disarmament. The Washington conference, the Geneva conference, and even the present preparations for a possible conference were all initiated by the United States. I think it is about time that some of the disadvantages of position accruing to those proposing a naval cut be accepted by others than the United States. The plan of the British diplomacy always appears to be to place the United States in the position of the party wanting a cut, and then to take full advantage of propaganda and publicity to make us concede most on account of being in this position.

I hope THE TRIBUNE remains as one of the few outstanding American newspapers which defend America's interests first, and then secondarily play the good brother part to the rest of the world.

W. M. SAYNER.

REVISING THE HEADLINES.

Chicago, June 17.—Will you kindly correct a misstatement on your front page headline on June 17, which read, "U. S.-Britain Plan Navy Cut"? We all know it should have read, "Britain Plans U. S. Navy Cut."

Have we so soon forgotten how we were swindled in the four power treaty pact? Is the Methodist federal church block and the Volstead act making the country a nation of weak minded jackasses?

TUNNELS FOR SUBWAYS.

Chicago, June 21.—Mr. Earl A. Hayford asks whether the tunnels under the loop are suitable for an underground passenger transportation system and whether such a system could be utilized for the transportation of freight during the night.

These tunnels can be reconstructed to accommodate a four track system under most of the streets running through the loop, and as to the transportation of freight through such a system it would only be necessary to enlarge some of the existing laterals and perhaps the relocating of others.

To transform these tunnels into a subway system would be a very simple engineering problem and the cost about one-third that required to construct a subway according to the plans heretofore suggested.

An examination of the original franchise granted the eastern syndicate which constructed those tunnels and the size of the bore, especially under the intersection of La Salle and Randolph streets, would disclose that the idea

BISHOP CANNON FAVORED CLIENT OF STOCK FIRM

His Account Shows an Odd Entry.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Some mysteries developed today when the trading account of Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, with the defunct firm of Kable & Co., was aired before Referee in Bankruptcy Robert P. Stephenson. Cannon is known as a militant leader in dry politics in the south and a Trojan in national Anti-Saloon circles.

The firm was raided by the government as an alleged bucket shop and the partners, Harry L. Goldhurst and Charles W. Kable, indicted by a federal grand jury for alleged fraudulent use of the mails. Goldhurst was on the stand today under examination of C. Edward Benoit, attorney for the receivership department of the Irving Trust company.

The possibility that the stock plunging bishop might be called to testify moved toward probability today. Final decision on this point will be made Thursday, when Goldhurst is to return for further interrogation.

Friends for Years.

Bishop Cannon, according to the evidence of Goldhurst, a social as well as a business friend of the cleric for seven years, was a good customer of the raided house. It was a mistake in bookkeeping he added, which caused Benoit to infer that the bishop had been able to buy $10,000 worth of stock without putting up a nickel as margin.

Mr. Benoit's inference was based on a mystifying entry in the books of Kable & Co. The attorney produced three photostatic sheets covering the account of Bishop Cannon, who it developed, had ventured into Wall street under the tutelage of Goldhurst before Kable & Co. came into being.

The photostatic copy showed that on Sept. 21, 1927, the bishop had put up $500. Alongside this, on the buying account, appeared an entry which Mr. Benoit tried to interpret as showing that on Aug. 14 of the same year Bishop Cannon had bought 100 shares of Lehigh Valley, amounting to $10,359.50, and sold it for a profit of $400.

Mistake, He Believes.

Goldhurst, a stout man with shell rimmed nose glasses, looked long and studiously at the entry. He expressed the opinion that the phrase "as of Aug. 14" was a mistake. He added that he might have opened the bishop's account on credit, but refused to be definite, remarking that he would have to consult all of the books of the firm.

Goldhurst denied with emphasis that Bishop Cannon had any interest in the profits or losses of the firm. He denied the prelate had had an arrangement with the firm whereby he was to bring it business. And he denied he had ever used the bishop's account to impress prospective traders, or had ever told any one that the bishop was a partner.

He also testified that a month before Kable & Co. filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy he had informed the bishop that the firm was in straits, but that he hoped to tide it over with outside money.

Balks at One Question.

At one point the examination was concentrated on a purchase of 200 shares of Hudson Motors by the bishop. The attorney pressed Goldhurst to tell whether, at the time the firm failed, he had an actual possession of the stock and was holding it for the Cannon account.

"I refuse to answer on the ground that it might tend to incriminate and degrade me," said Goldhurst, who later said that under the partial payment plan, which the bishop utilized, it had not been necessary for him to produce the stock until the final payment.

Goldhurst testified that he had formed the firm in June, 1926, and that Kable had not put in any capital. Kable, then a 26 year old law student, was engaged on a salary that was to go up when the profits did.

Pressed to tell of his assets and his liabilities, Goldhurst found it hard to answer. The assets, he said, were about $3,500, but the liabilities he could only guess at.

GIRLS UNCLAD AT STUDENTS' PARTY POLICE CHARGE

Carbondale, Ill., June 24.—[Special.] Five youths were under arrest today charged with burglary and grand larceny in connection with wild parties at summer homes at Thompson Lake and on the Midlands Hills Country club property, both near Carbondale.

Police say that at least eight girls, some of them students in Teachers college here, participated in a wild party at the home of Attorney George Dodd here. At the height of the gayety, they allege, a number of the girls and youths disrobed more or less completely.

Officers today said that three of the youths have confessed to buglarizing the Russell Tuthill home at the Midlands Hills club, obtaining a portable phonograph, blankets, clothing and other articles. Those under arest are Windall Kane, son of a Herrin doctor; Byford Hall of Carbondale; Kern Batson, son of a Carbondale business man; Ralph Choisser, of a prominent Eldorado family and "Doc" Ozment, son of a Harrisburg doctor.

Officers said they knew the names of girls who took part in the parties but would withhold the names unless the youths stood trial, in which event the identities of the young women would become known.

Authorities at the Teachers college said the students implicated would be expelled at once and that the school would in every way coöperate with the officers.

after the milk leaves the farm.

Do you realize that these steps are necessary for the preservation of the public health — that elaborate and costly sanitary plants are maintained by the Milk Dealer in order that the work may be thorough?

Has it ever occurred to you that the Milk Dealer's profit which averages less than half a cent a quart, is really insignificant compared with the great work he does for your benefit?

1. Constant inspection of herds and farms.
2. Receiving and weighing milk in the country, and washing and sterilizing farmers' milk cans.
3. Sampling, testing, and cooling to a low temperature.
4. Transportation to the city in scientifically built refrigerator containers.
5. Receiving at city plants and placing milk in sanitary glass-lined thermos-holders.
6. PASTEURIZING.
7. Cooling.
8. Bottle washing, bottling, filling and capping of the milk.
9. Washing and sterilizing each piece of equipment in the plant.
10. Refrigerating.
11. Distribution to the homes 365 days in the year, regardless of weather conditions, Sundays and Holidays.

Do You Know that every one of these scientific steps must be taken in order to insure an adequate supply of pure, wholesome milk?

HAGUE IS CITED BY LEGISLATURE FOR CONTEMPT

He Refuses to Explain Source of Wealth.

Trenton, N. J., June 24.—[Special.]—The Republican legislature of New Jersey held Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Democratic leader of Hudson county in contempt tonight. The action followed after Hague had refused to answer a legislative committee's questions concerning the source of nearly $400,000 he is said to have spent in the last ten years.

Sergeant at Arms De Witt of the senate was directed by the resolution to "take Hague to the Mercer county jail. Russell E. Watson, counsel for the committee, however, permitted Mr. Hague to return to Jersey City tonight upon his promise to surrender before tomorrow night, should the mayor's attorney, Merritt Lane, be unsuccessful in his effort to obtain a writ of habeas corpus from Vice Chancellor John J. Fallon in Jersey City.

Explains His Reasons.

Mr. Watson explained to Mayor Hague that he recognized the contempt action was merely the beginning of a long legal procedure to test the right of the legislature to force him to answer their questions and of his right to refuse on constitutional grounds. No legal purpose would be served by incarcerating him at this time, he said.

Three hours later Vice Chancellor Fallon granted the writ of habeas corpus. Hearing on it was set for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the chancery chambers in Jersey City.

The McAllister investigating committee is trying to link Hague with alleged graft in Hudson county. The Democratic mayor has long been a target of the Republican legislature.

Today's proceedings, marked the third attempt of the lawmakers in a little over a year to force the mayor to disclose the source of his wealth.

Key Question Far Reaching.

Each of the "key questions" was preceded by queries relative to condemnation proceedings, alleged overpayment for sewer franchises and bus franchises, and a $50,000 fund which it was testified earlier had been collected by Joseph E. Bernstein from motion picture theater owners in Jersey City to insure noninterference with Sunday movies.

Mayor Hague stated he had "never taken a dishonest dollar," but based his refusal to answer the questions relating to bank deposits and cash on the ground that he was entitled to do so under the guaranties of personal privacy in the fourteenth amendment to the constitution.

DENY MACINTOSH CITIZENSHIP FOR QUALIFIED OATH

Yale Professor Had Attached Strings.

New Haven, Conn., June 24.—(AP)—Because of conscientious scruples against swearing to a question of taking up arms in the defense of his country, Prof. Douglas C. Macintosh, Dwight professor of theology at Yale divinity school, today was refused admission to citizenship of the United States by Judge Warren B. Burrows of the Naturalization court.

After Prof. Macintosh was sworn in by the clerk of courts he was asked to answer question 22 on the preliminary naturalization papers, referring to the taking up of arms in defense of the United States, if it became necessary.

Desires a Reservation.

He replied he would take up arms with the reservation that the war in which he was asked to serve should be for what he considered a just cause. He said he could swear allegiance to the United States as well as he could to any country, and after his allegiance he would owe no other country a duty higher than to this country.

Judge Burrows, in refusing Prof. Macintosh citizenship, said that the President had the power to command the nation's fighting units in time of war. To allow any citizen the use of his own discretion would open the way to presumption by every citizen as to the justness or unjustness of war, and would leave the President without any power whatever.

On Yale Faculty Since 1919.

Prof. Macintosh was born in Canada and was graduated from McMasters university in 1903. He joined the faculty of Yale in 1919.

He was represented today in court by Dean Charles E. Clark of the Yale law school. Dean Clark announced that he would appeal the case of Prof. Macintosh to the United States District court in New York City.

406,000 ADDED TO POPULATION OF ITALY IN 1928

Nation's Latest Count Shows 41,173,000.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 24.—Italy's population at the end of 1928 was 41,173,000, according to official figures given out today by the central statistical institute in Rome. These figures show an increase in population of 406,000 over the previous year and are hailed as conforming to Premier Benito Mussolinini's campaign to raise the Italian birth rate.

All Italy does not live at home, however, according to the Italian conception. The same statistics show that there are 9,300,000 Italians living abroad, which represents an increase over the previous year, and therefore the Italians claim they have a population of 50,473,000. Milan remains the largest Italian town with 950,000.

This population represents a richness which must be defended against foreign absorption, says the Giornal d'Italia tonight, which is often close to the government. The newspaper adds: "To our 50,000,000 living at home and abroad must also be added several millions who, in spite of the fact that they have accepted foreign citizenship or had it forced on them as in the case of the United States and Tunis, nevertheless remain Italian at heart. Such an Italian bloc is imposing among European forces, and after England and Germany represents the strongest national and political mass in Europe. Such a force has the right and duty to make itself prevail in Europe and to hold the place which it deserves."

Police May Raid Bunco Clubs, Is Court Ruling

Police may raid bunco clubs. This decision was made yesterday by Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend in sustaining a demurrer of the city to a bill for an injunction brought by the Armitage Social club and 24 others to enjoin police interference. The demurrer stated that the bunco clubs should file individually rather than collectively.

RAID ALLEGED HANDBOOK; SEIZE 50.

A police squad led by Deputy Commissioner John Hogan raided an alleged handbook at 223 East 31st street, yesterday, arrested fifty men and booked James Fairweather as keeper.

BROADWAY LIMITED

ALADDIN found rubies growing on trees . . . That was good . . . But perhaps cherries are the better fruit.

They have the ruby beauty without the ruby heart. Inside the cherry, all is tenderness—but poignant—melting into flavorful, tart juices.

Try it this week on Pennsylvania diners . . . A true "Arabian Nights" surprise awaits you beneath the golden crust . . . And it's only one of many delicacies on the menu.

FIND GAMBLER SLAIN; FRIEND OF ROTHSTEIN

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—With bullet wounds through his temple, neck, and jaw, a man believed to be Frank Marlow, night club proprietor, fight manager, race horse owner, gambler, and an intimate friend of the late Arnold Rothstein, was found tonight in a clump of bushes opposite a cemetery in Flushing. He died ten minutes later in a police booth four blocks away.

Two men saw the wounded man, only partly concealed by shrubbery, and summoned police.

Find Card on Body.

Detectives searched the clothing of the dead man and found a card bearing the name "Frank Marlow, Ritz-Carlton hotel, Boston, Mass." They also found a New York operator's license for an automobile, a pistol permit from Suffolk county, New York; a similar permit from Brookline, Mass., and a membership card issued by the Ohio state athletic commission at Cleveland. All were made out in the name of Frank Marlow.

No one living in the neighborhood had heard sounds of shooting. This fact led police to believe that the man probably had been "taken for a ride" and thrown out of the car at that point. This theory was confirmed later when it was learned residents living ten blocks from where the body was found heard two shots there soon after 9 p. m.

Well Known Broadway Figure.

Marlow was a well known figure on Broadway. He had been a fight manager for many years. At one time he handled Johnny Wilson, who was middleweight champion of the world in 1922, and he was one of the first to discover Jack Delaney.

Marlow had numerous other interests besides prize fighting. For several years he ran the Silver Slipper night club and subsequently is said to have been interested in the Rendezvous club.

According to the police Marlow was also a racketeer and was known to be affiliated with a beer running syndicate.

NEW JUDGESHIPS OF MUNICIPAL COURT TO GO TO REFERENDUM

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court said yesterday that a referendum may be submitted at the fall election on a proposal to increase the number of judges of the court under the provisions of a new law passed by the recent legislature. The law authorizes the court to certify to the city council the need of creating nine additional judgeships whenever the necessity arises.

Justice Olson said there was no possibility of new judges being elected until next year, and perhaps not then unless the court, the city council, and the people at the referendum decide that more are needed.

KICKED OUT BY GIRL'S FATHER, HE SUES FOR $25,000

William Hallworth, 25 years old, a clerk, 3848 Greenview avenue, yesterday filed a $25,000 damage suit in the Circuit court against Dr. F. E. Hecklin, 3927 North Wood street. Hallworth charges he was seriously injured when Dr. Hecklin kicked him out of the Hecklin home as an objectionable suitor for the hand of his daughter, Frances, 19 years old.

The suit was filed by Attorney W. W. O'Brien, who said that Hallworth had met the daughter early in 1928. He called on her several times. At first Dr. Hecklin mildly disapproved of his daughter's caller, but later forbade Hallworth to enter the Hecklin home at 3927 North Wood street.

The young couple circumvented the paternal decree by clandestine meetings. Hallworth would call for the girl by knocking at the back door, Attorney O'Brien said. On June 29, the father saw Hallworth entering through the rear door and expressed his disapproval with the time honored well placed kick. Hallworth declares that he suffered a serious injury to his hip in a fall down the rear stairs.

Find Maryland Man Guilty of Slaying Chicago Youth

WILLS SISTER IN EVANSTON ENTIRE $736,000 ESTATE

Mrs. Mary Hamilton Paullin, 1908 Sheridan road, Evanston, the sister and only surviving relative of Mrs. Frances Anne Garwood Quin of Philadelphia, was named sole heiress of Mrs. Quin's $736,000 estate in a will filed for probate in Philadelphia yesterday.

Mrs. Quin, widow of the wealthy Dr. John Quin of Philadelphia, was killed last May 19 in an automobile accident in New York.

Mrs. Paullin is the wife of George W. Paullin, former sanitary trustee and former Republican central committeeman of Evanston, who retired from a Michigan avenue fur business in 1927. The Paullins have two sons and a daughter.

An interesting four-color booklet written by Mr. C. N. King and Sir Charles Markham will be mailed free on request. This book tells of the difficulties encountered in their journeys across Equatorial Africa, and the burning Sahara Desert.

INTERNATIONAL

First Stock Motor Truck to Cross the Sahara Comes to Chicago

SEASONED desert travelers said it could not be done, but Sir Charles Markham, of London, and Baron von Blixen-Finecke, of Näsbyholm, Sweden—in a stock-model International Special Delivery truck—plunged successfully across the arid wastes of the Sahara Desert. And the whole world marveled at their achievement.

Over 2,800 miles of burning, shifting sand; through sixteen days of 125-degree temperature; across waterless wastes, where it has never been known to rain; trackless, dangerous country, never before conquered by a stock four-wheeled motor vehicle. And this was the same truck which Clyde N. King, of Chicago, had already piloted across Equatorial Africa, 3,800 adventurous miles in nineteen driving days.

Sir Charles and Baron Blixen faced death and destruction for days; with their very lives depending upon the performance of their International. And through the whole experience they never once had occasion to doubt its ability to carry on.

Now, this celebrated International truck comes to America in order that every one may see and examine the truck that conquered the Sahara Desert. We invite you to come and see this International while it is on exhibition here.

TESTS FOR INTELLIGENT PEOPLE—No. 1

Visible evidence of a roving life was the china which he had brought back from the Orient, and so the retired mariner was eager to display his prizes where they could be seen by admiring landlubbers. The sturdy open-rack cupboard showed off his cherished possessions to excellent advantage and quickly became popular among seafaring men in New England.

What is a Softened Edge?

When a fine piece of furniture is apparently complete, there still remain hours of work—softening the edges. A cabinetmaker goes over the whole piece and carefully, gently rounds off each sharp edge. This extra hand-craftsmanship is typical of the features which add to the beauty of fine furniture and distinguish it from ordinary.

Which Wood Produces the Mellowest Tones?

White walnut has a lustrous quality which makes possible unusually rich and mellow tones. It is rare and costly, and is used only in the choicest furniture.

N. U. Romance Ends with Husband's New Ideas.

Mrs. Audrey Vinita Coon yesterday was awarded $225 a month temporary alimony in her separate maintenance suit against her husband, Byron S. Coon, manager of the Coon Finance company of Evanston, by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath. Mrs. Coon charges her husband with cruelty in an effort to transform her from an old fashioned girl into a modern wife.

The Coons were married on May 12, 1924 in a campus romance at Northwestern university. Coon was leader of the university band and his wife was also active in campus activities. She left school three months before she would have received her degree. They have two children, James, 4 years old, and Audrey, 2. They separated on April 23 of this year.

Rebels Against Modernism.

After their marriage the couple lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Coon, 2312 Park place, Evanston. For a time the marriage ran smoothly, according to Mrs. Coon's story to Judge Sabath. After a year he attempted to teach her to drink and smoke, or, as he put it, "to be a modern wife." Mrs. Coon said she tried to please Coon, but her home training rebelled against his teachings.

She said that when she refused to do as he said Coon beat her and she left him, but returned at his protestation that he wanted her as she was, an old fashioned girl. After a short reconciliation he again attempted to mould her to his standards. She declared that he announced that old fashioned women were a thing of the past and ridiculed her as a Victorian.

Second Reconciliation Fails.

Mrs. Coon again left home. After a separation of several months, Coon won her again on promises to cease his attempts at modernization. The second reconciliation failed when, according to her allegations, Coon reverted to cruelty to push his campaign. Last week she filed suit for separate maintenance through the law firm of Socrates and Davis.

Mrs. Coon asked that her husband be restrained from taking the children from her. She averred that he is making $10,000 a year in his father's concern. She is the daughter of G. A. Beem, of Wilmette, president of the Paint Engineers, Inc.

Attorney Nicholas Socrates announced that Mrs. Coon will return to Northwestern to get her degree after she wins her suit.

TRAP CONSTABLE AS EXTORTIONIST IN HIGHLAND PARK

Constable James Marsh of Highwood was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Edward Maroney of Highland Park on a charge of extortion. Chief Maroney said he trapped Marsh after being informed by Marco Sabego of Highland Park that the constable had threatened to turn him over to State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county for prosecution on a liquor charge unless he paid the constable $200. Chief Maroney said he hid in a room in Sabego's home and saw him pay $200 to Marsh. Marsh furnished a bond of $5,000, and his case is to be heard on July 2 by Police Magistrate A. E. Smith of Highland Park.

VICOMTE, SADDER BUT WISER, GIVES UP LOVE QUEST

(Picture on back page.)

Vicomte Alain De Leche, youthful French poet and novelist, came to Chicago yesterday from Hollywood, a saddened and a disillusioned man. He went to Hollywood in quest of love and he failed to find it.

Vicomte De Leche holds seriously, or at least so he pretends to hold, the theory that a man cannot fall in love between the ages of 30 and 50.

He got reams of publicity several months ago when, on the verge of 30, he expounded his theory and set sail for America in search for that love he had not found in his native Paris.

"I could not find it there; I have never been in love in France," he said. "Here in America I had hoped to find love. I sought it in New York and in Florida and in Chicago. And finally almost face to face with—what you call my deadline—thirty, I started post haste for Hollywood.

"I had hoped surely to find love in Hollywood, but—"

There was utter dejection in the way he shrugged his shoulders.

Heavy Fog Ties Up Liners, Halts Shipping at New York

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—A thick fog which hung over the coast from Nantucket south to Quarantine today disrupted trans-Atlantic and coastwise shipping, holding up five ocean liners and necessitating careful piloting to bring others to their piers. The liners still out at Quarantine or in the bay tonight were the New York of the Hamburg-American line; the Cunarders Franconia and Carinthia; the North German Lloyd liner Dresden, and the Baltic of the White Star line.

Laboratory Tests

To be fully protective all medical examinations must include Blood and other Laboratory tests. Because of this fact the Institute has developed its own Laboratory facilities . . . No expense has been spared in perfecting this service . . . Special machines were designed, permitting the maximum number of tests with the greatest degree of scientific accuracy and value . . . As a result the low charges for laboratory tests at the Institute have greatly lowered the cost of medical service . . . Serious as they are social diseases are curable if diagnosed early and treated regularly.

WHILE one cannot make the dogmatic assertion that marriage should not take place unless both parties are in perfect health, still physicians advocate full protection of medical examinations when marriage and motherhood are contemplated. Of the definitely known diseases that cause grave dangers to marriage and motherhood social diseases are by far the most outstanding. . . . The devastation wrought by these diseases can hardly be appreciated. . . . Marriage should never be entered into by anyone suffering from an uncured social disease. . . . A thorough medical examination should precede all marriages.

Unfortunately social diseases can be innocently acquired and exist unknowingly, after marriage as well as before, and unless disclosed by blood and other laboratory tests they often endanger the lives of many expectant mothers. . . . To prevent the large percentage of the babies that die at birth or live on with crippled minds and bodies because of a social disease, prospective mothers should seek the protection of early and regular medical examinations, preceding and during pregnancy. It has been fairly estimated that a mother or father with an uncured social disease will infect from twenty-five to thirty per cent of the family. . . . Therefore, see your doctor as soon as you desire to become a mother. . . . Follow his instructions faithfully and your health and that of your baby will be your reward.

Medical examinations that include blood and other laboratory tests for social diseases are provided at the Public Health Institute. . . . Operated not for profit the fees are low and treatments are available even to those without immediate funds.

The Public Health Institute has three separate clinics in Chicago. The Departments for Men are located at 159 North Dearborn Street—just North of Randolph and 129 East Thirty-first Street—Corner of Indiana Avenue.

The Department for Women and Children is located at 72 East Randolph Street (2nd floor) between Wabash and Michigan Avenues—All Clinic Hours, 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. Daily Except Sunday. Phone Central 9383.

Homes . . .

Philadelphia's guarantee of large sales volume

No other market in America has so large a number of home owners. 415,045 individual homes in the city alone,—with 50% owned by their occupants. Merging in an unbroken sweep with 150,000 individual suburban homes.

Homes, with their lawns and their gardens, their garages and cars. With their steady earning power and their incessant search for the new—and the modern—in merchandise.

565,045 homes, with an imposing want list, and with the funds with which to buy.

A circulation which means not only coverage, but influence as well, because it has been built entirely upon reader confidence.

The Bulletin has no premium or contest circulation, for artificial methods have never been used; nor does The Bulletin use scare headlines or sensational news treatment.

Its circulation growth, through thirty-four years, has been upon the principle of the satisfied reader.

Today The Evening Bulletin has more than double the circulation of any Philadelphia evening newspaper; almost equals the combined circulation of all Philadelphia morning newspapers. The confidence of a great people has made it one of the leading newspapers of America.

Thus the manufacturer finds here a home market, whose permanence and stability insure him adequate sales return—and a home newspaper whose coverage and cost simplify his advertising program.

The Port of Philadelphia

An available water-front of fifty miles, dotted by 267 wharves and docks, forms the port of Philadelphia, the second largest in the country in volume of water-born commerce. A belt line encircling the city with railroad trackage onto the piers gives direct connection of car with ship. Extensive marine terminals of three great trunk line railroads give ample transportation facilities. The absence of congestion, the direct handling from ship to car, the saving of lighterage costs, the lower rates, the economy of time and money, and the freedom from port charges by city and state are attracting shipping of the world here.

36 CENT TARIFF ON WOOL ASKED BY FARM GROUPS

House Bill Carries Rate of 34; Present Duty 31.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Farm groups today joined in a demand for a further increase in the duty on wool before a subcommittee of the senate committee on finance. A basic rate of 36 cents per clean content pound was asked as against 34 cents in the house bill and 31 cents in the present law.

Those appearing for the 36 cent rate included F. J. Hagenbarth of Idaho, president of the National Wool Growers' association; Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau federation; J. Byron Wilson of the Wyoming Wool Growers' association, and L. B. Palmer of the Ohio Wool Growers' association.

Higher rates on wool waste were asked on the ground that importations of waste have displaced a considerable amount of domestic wool.

Adds to Living Cost.

It was made apparent that the duty on wool will occupy an important place in the tariff discussions in the senate. Granting of the request of the farm groups would require further increases in the compensatory rates on wool manufactures. The three cent increase in the house bill already is being cited as one of the items which increase the cost of living.

Mr. Hagenbarth in reply to questions insisted that the additional two cents should not increase the cost of a suit of clothes more than about 14 cents.

The wool rate has figured prominently in all tariff revisions. It was included in "Schedule K," around which controversy raged in connection with the Payne-Aldrich tariff law of 1909. The Payne-Aldrich rates were on a different basis than in the present law, being 11 and 12 cents per pound for two different classes of wool, with double these rates applying if imported washed.

Free Under Democrats.

Wool went on the free list in the Democratic Underwood law of 1913. In the emergency tariff act of 1921 a duty of 15 cents per pound was imposed on unwashed wool. The basis was changed in the 1922 Fordney-McCumber act, 31 cents per pound clean content becoming the basic rate.

This duty was much higher than previous rates and has been credited with restoring the prosperity of the western wool growers. However, it is not high enough to provide complete protection, according to their spokesmen.

Rise in Rates Makes Dominion Worry.

BY STANLEY JACKSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., June 24.—Upward revision of the United States tariff now going on at Washington is causing considerable worry to Canada. Business men generally are watching developments with keen interest, while political leaders are making it a feature of their speeches.

Exports of Canadian farm products and wheat flour to the United States for the eight months ended May 30, 1929, show a decline of more than $100,000,000, or more than 75 per cent as compared with the corresponding period eight years ago when the tariff against Canadian primary products was raised by the United States. This, is is stated, gives some indication of what may happen when the new tariff rates go into effect. Upon three items alone—cattle, wheat, and wheat flour—Canada sustained a hundred million dollar jolt in her export trade to the United States when the bars were previously raised.

Shows How Exports Dropped.

In 1921, during the eight month period ending with May, Canada sold Uncle Sam 212,958 head of cattle valued at $14,561,036, but cattle on the hoof were then admitted to the United States free of duty. After duties ranging from ½ to 2 cents per pound were imposed, Canadian exports dropped to 134,701 head of cattle worth $8,142,715 in the eight months ended May, 1929. The United States is now proposing to further increase the duties on cattle.

In the same eight month period of 1921, before the duties went on, Canada sold 46,000,000 bushels of wheat to the United States, valued at $96,692,963. In the eight months just ended Canada's exports were but 6,559,395 bushels, valued at $7,157,633. Wheat now has a duty to face of 42 cents per bushel, whereas it was on the free list in 1921.

Big Decrease in Flour Sales.

A similar condition exists with respect to wheat flour, of which Canada exported to the United States 1,234,623 barrels in the eight months ending with May, 1921, but only 2,409 barrels in the corresponding period this year, the value dropping from $12,058,339 in 1921 to $14,563 this year, due to the imposition of a customs duty of $1.04 per hundred pounds.

Only Prisoner in Lockup at Lake Forest Escapes

Daniel Barry, 16 years old, of Indianapolis, arrested Sunday in Lake Forest on a charge of stealing an automobile, broke the lock of his cell and escaped from the Lake Forest police station early yesterday. Barry was the only prisoner in the lockup.

O'BRIEN NAMED IN NEW INDICTMENT ON BRIBE CHARGE

The early arrest of James [High Pockets] O'Brien, alleged brains of the $1,000,000 slot machine syndicate, was forecast yesterday by Criminal court attachés as the result of the return of a new felony indictment against O'Brien and Frank J. Beran, former police department custodian. They were named jointly in a true bill charging bribery.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers, who is in charge of the investigation, which has already resulted in the indictments of Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson political leader, six police captains and twenty-one others, refused to give any reason for the new indictment. O'Brien and Beran are also defendants in the conspiracy indictment and proof that money was passed for the return of slot machines seized in raids would have been admissable in the conspiracy trial.

Extradition from a foreign country however cannot be had on a misdemeanor charge such as conspiracy. O'Brien was last reported in London safe from the local authorities on a conspiracy charge. O'Brien's neighbors in Flossmoor, south side suburb, have reported unusual activity about the spacious grounds of the beautiful home which O'Brien deserted.

A MONUMENT TO SERVICE

THE 2,000 employes of The Chicago Daily News are proud of their new home. They want you to be proud of it. Twenty-five shining stories of steel and stone it stands at the cross roads of America's second greatest population center as a fitting monument to service rendered by The Chicago Daily News in the past. It is a pledge of still greater service demanded by a great country, a great city and a great community.

In its 54 years of progressive journalism The Chicago Daily News has had one policy: uncompromising public service—through complete editorial independence and impartial presentation of news.

That policy was fearlessly, consistently and ably administered by Victor F. Lawson during his regime as publisher and continued aggressively by Walter A. Strong when, at the death of Mr. Lawson, he took up his former chief's responsibilities as publisher.

The Chicago Daily News occupies a prominent place in the business and home life of Chicago. For many years it has been the medium employed by merchants and manufacturers to convey their messages to the families who represent the buying power of Chicago and its trading area.

Never was there any doubt as to the number of readers the advertiser would reach through this newspaper.

The following institutions were advertisers in The Chicago Daily News in 1905—many for years previous—some for more than 50 years.

These firms are advertisers in The Chicago Daily News today. They are impressive in size, in volume of business, in invested capital, in solidity, in standing. They are representative of that great body of merchandisers—national and local—who place great confidence and a large portion of their advertising in the columns of The Daily News. They have grown as The Chicago Daily News has grown, to meet and to anticipate the ever increasing demands of the people of a great city in a great country.

SWANSON TAKES STEPS TO CLOSE JAI ALAI GAMES

Says Sport Is in Class with Dog Racing.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson yesterday said that the jai alai games conducted at the Rainbow Gardens, formerly operated by Fred Mann, friend of Mayor Thompson, but now under control of a receiver, are in the same category as dog racing and that he is taking steps to close the games.

The betting on the jai alai games is similar to the system employed at the dog racing tracks, which Prosecutor Swanson is endeavoring to close in the face of temporary injunctions issued by Judge Harry Fisher of the Circuit court. The jai alai games are operating without an injunction, but apparently under a gentleman's agreement between the corporation counsel's office and C. H. Penikoff, the receiver.

Dog Racers Object to Games.

The situation at the jai alai games was called to the prosecutor's attention by the dog track interests. The track owners did not think it fair that betting should be allowed at the jai alai games and prohibited at their tracks in as much as the system is the same.

"The jai alai games are in the same category as the dog tracks," said Prosecutor Swanson. "I am working on that and hope to take steps soon to close the games."

The prosecutor said that he tried to close the jai alai games when they operated under an injunction. He said he tried to force the injunction hearing to an issue before Judge William V. Brothers in the Circuit court, where the petition was pending for some time.

Writ Issued in 1927.

The original injunction was issued by Judge Ira Ryner in December, 1927, on the petition of the Rainbow Exhibition company, and Fred Mann. In September, 1928, the injunction hearing he continued because the jai ers. At the time he announced he would hear and dispose of the petition early in January of this year.

Just before the petition was called up for hearing, it was reported that a present officeholder asked that the hearing be continued because the Jai alai interests had a big investment and the players were under contract until May. Edward J. Hess, former assistant district attorney under a Deneen administration, appeared as the attorney.

Injunction Is Dismissed.

The hearing was not pressed and when the contracts expired in May the jai alai backers did not appear to prosecute their injunction suit and it was dismissed for want of prosecution on May 7. That night State's Attorney Swanson raided the place and arrested two men as keepers of a gambling house. Since that time no steps have been taken in the matter.

On May 18 Penikoff appeared in court to file a petition asking that the officials be restrained from interfering with the games. Officials are reported to have agreed that the situation should remain in status quo, and, so far as any action toward closing the games is concerned, it still is in status quo. The state's attorney's office said they did not enter the agreement.

FIND NEGRO SHOT IN HEAD.

A 40 year old Negro known as "Smithy" Smith was found dead with a pistol bullet in his head, yesterday in his room at 3030 Prairie avenue, having been shot supposedly by his paramour, Emma Sweeney, also colored, who fled.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our Cubs finally were forced to the conclusion that the only way they could beat the Pirates was to knock the ball out of the park and keep on knocking it out until they had enough homers to return victory. The scheme worked admirably yesterday, for three homers produced four runs, which gave the McCarthys one more run than the Pirates. In other words, the Cubs beat the Pirates in the final of the home stay, 4 to 3.

In working out their shrewd technique, Cuyler made his seventh homer with none on, Wilson made his 18th with one on, and Hornsby accomplished what proved to be the winning marker with his eleventh circuit blow of the year.

There was another homer in the game. Pitcher Brame knocked the ball clear into Sheffield avenue with Hargreaves on board to give the visitors a 2 to 1 lead in the fifth.

Stevie Is Fielding Hero.

Cuyler, Wilson, and Hornsby. This is murderers' row, less one man—Mr. Stephenson. Old Stevie didn't do much until the ninth inning, then he became the whole show. First he made a catch over his shoulder, running into the left field wall, to prevent the tying run from scoring from second and he ended the game by a perfect throw to the plate which thwarted Sparky Adams' attempt to score from second on Bartell's long single.

It strikes us now that we've been pretty slow about mentioning Charley Root, overworked Charley, who stayed right in there and won his seventh victory of the year. In each of five innings the Pirates made two hits off Charles, but he refused to blow up. His mates responded to his weary courage and now the Cubs are only a game and half out of first place, whereas the slightest wavering would have put them three and a half games back.

Cubs Rest Up for Cards.

Kind fate must have foreseen the plight of the Cubs' pitching staff when the schedule was made out last winter, for the exhausted throwers are provided with today and tomorrow to rest their arms before setting out for the five game series which opens Thursday against the Cardinals in St. Louis.

Yesterday's win gave the Cubs an even break with the Pirates for the year in the 16 games played. Of the eight victories, Grimes has won four, Swetonic three and Kremer one. Two of Swetonic's were in the role of relief pitcher.

The Pirate final was a scoreless affair until two were out in the Cubs' fourth. After Hornsby had been thrown out by Bartell and Wilson had fanned, Cuyler smacked the ball into the right field bleachers. Stephenson then lined to P. Waner.

Wilson Follows Suit.

English opened the seventh with a single to center and took second on a passed ball. Hornsby popped to Grantham, then Wilson lifted a high one over the right field screen, English scoring ahead of him. Cuyler sent L. Waner almost to the flagpole to get his drive and Stephenson flied to P. Waner.

The only run in the game that was accomplished without the aid of a homer tied the score in the eighth. Bartell beat out a hit to English and went to second while Root was throwing out L. Waner. He scored on P. Waner's single to left. Traynor flied to Wilson, Grantham walked and Comorosky flied to English in short left.

After Beck and English had expired, Hornsby achieved his homer in the eighth to bring the Cub total to four runs.

The Cubs weren't out of the woods when the Rajah's drive cleared the screen, as the first of the ninth soon showed. Sheely opened with a double to right. Hargraves' smash appeared about to hit the left field wall when Stevie jumped up and caught it over his shoulder. Brame struck out and Adams then was sent to second to run for Sheely.

Adams Out at Home.

Bartell rapped a beautiful single to left and Adams started peddaling for home. Stevie came up with the ball on the first bounce and made a great throw which Schulte caught on the wing, high in the air. Johnny made a stab at Sparky and missed him. Sparky made a dive for the plate and missed it, whereupon Schulte lunged at the little fellow and tagged him just as Sparky was reaching for the plate with his hand.

Thus ended the final game of a very disappointing series.

"Extortion Plot": Tunney's Answer to $500,000 Suit

Charges Extortion

GENE TUNNEY.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion prize fighter, paid Katherine King Fogerty, who last May 21 filed a $500,000 breach of promise suit against him in Connecticut, $35,000 for release of her claims against him on July 24, 1928, his attorneys here announced today in releasing a copy of a denial of the woman's charges.

A charge that the present suit had been instigated for the purposes of extorting money and profiting by publicity was made in the cross complaint filed as part of the denial to the suit. Tunney's desire not to impair his boxing contracts was given as the reason for the payment of the money for the releases, one of which was executed two days before a championship fight.

The denial was filed in the Superior court, Fairfield county, Conn., by Homer Cummings of Stamford, representing Tunney. Mr. Cummings was retained by Chadbourne, Stanchfield Levy of this city, general counsel for the boxing champion.

Gibson Made Payment.

Attached to the denial of Mrs. Fogarty's charges were two releases of claims against him which acknowledged payment of sums of money.

The $35,000 payment, according to the copy of the affidavit, was made by William Gibson, Tunney's manager, two days before Tunney's fight with Tom Heeney. Previously, on May 25, 1927, another release had been executed for "the sum of one dollar." Both of these documents contained the broadest legal protection against further claims in their legal wording. However, while the releases acknowledged satisfaction of claims, both of the affidavits stated that Mrs. Fogarty had no claim upon Tunney, now absent in Europe with his bride, the former Polly Lauder of Greenwich, Conn.

The affidavit accompanying the "one dollar" release said Mrs. Fogarty "now has no claim and never did have any claim whatsoever against the said James J. Tunney, either civil or criminal, whether in law or in equity; that he has at no time harmed or injured her either physically or mentally, that she has this day freely and willingly executed a general release to him; that she knows of no act or deed of his which could be assailed by her or any other person; that her dealings with him have at all times been of a strictly impersonal nature and on a pure friendship basis; that she has received no written communications from him other than occasional impersonal ones which have been at all times decent, proper, and becoming.

"Deponent makes this affidavit," it continued, "for the purpose of counteracting any scandalous and defamatory rumors alleged to have been based upon statements alleged to have been made by deponent, which deponent herewith avers are wholly false and untrue and are without the semblance of truth or fact."

Met Tunney in 1924.

Mrs. Fogarty's second brief affidavit, alleged to have been made in connection with the payment of $35,000, follows in part:

"I made the acquaintance of John James [Gene] Tunney in Hot Springs, October, 1924. Our relations at all times thereafter were such as in no way cast the slightest criticism or discredit upon him. I have no claim upon him and never did have. I had hoped to continue to enjoy his friendship but that does not seem any longer possible for either of us.

"In the past I have said things about him to my lawyers that I now deeply regret because I know of nothing that I could say that would cast the slightest discredit upon him, and should my name ever be used with or without my knowledge in the future in any way to reflect in the slightest manner upon him, I wish to make this solemn declaration under oath, that may be published at any time, that he is under no obligation whatsoever to me and never was, and that his character and conduct to my knowledge are of the best."

The cross-complaint charged specifically that the complaint had been filed, "to vex and trouble the defendant unlawfully; to extort money from the defendant; to gain, for the publication of libelous charges against the defendant, immunity from the penalties, civil or criminal, of the law of libel, by relying upon the privilege incident to pending legislation; to secure large sums of money from newspapers and from notoriety distributing agencies willing to pay for her statements, photographs and services."

The fear of the effect of adverse publicity upon Tunney's second fight with Dempsey and the Heeney match was stated in the brief to be the sole reason for the previous payments. With Tunney's retirement from the ring, according to the brief, no reason existed for the continued payment of money and so it was stopped.

AMERICAN TENNIS PLAYERS WIN IN WIMBLEDON MEET

Lott Is Wild, but Whips French Youth.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

WIMBLEDON, June 24.—America's tennis aspirants, headed by Big Bill Tilden, came through the first round of the Wimbledon championship today without a hitch, only E. G. Chandler, Harvard law student, falling by the wayside, and then at the hands of a compatriot, Wilmer Allison, who beat him 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. The other Yanks won handily.

Chandler, who was out of practice, could not hold the pace which Allison set him, and after winning the first set 6-2, dropped the remaining three sets for the match.

Tilden was given the honor of opening the 1929 season in the center court, and before a gallery of 15,000 romped through an easy victory over H. S. Dillon, Irish Davis cup star, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

Lott's Strokes Wild.

Though he has had but a day to get over his sea legs, George Lott, Chicago champion, played brilliantly at times to defeat Edouard Duplaix, one of the best French youngsters, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. Lott was inclined to wildness, driving out continually and netting often, but his speed and strong service gradually wore down his opponent, and after the first set he easily dominated the match.

The Chicagoan was fortunate in the draw and gets very little opposition before he reaches the quarter finals, where he should meet Jean Borotra of France.

John Van Ryn, hailed on all sides here as the tournament's dark horse, fairly burned up the court today when he drupped Andre Gentien, French star, 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

Hennessey Beats Malcolm.

John Hennessey of Indianapolis played in his usual nonchalant way against Robert Malcolm, South African Davis cup star. Hennessey won, 6-3, 6-0, 6-3. He has fairly easy going until he meets Henri Cochet in the fourth round.

Francis Hunter, remembering his first round reverse here a year ago, was as serious as a country deacon in his match with R. Miki of Japan, whom he beat, 6-1, 7-5, 6-3.

Wilbur Coen, seventeen year old Kansas City youth, uncorked a flashy game to down Jack Wright, Canadian Davis cup captain, 2-6, 9-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 24.—[U. P.]—Three boys—Charles Albany of Philadelphia, Marion Iello of Springfield, Ill., and Dominic Cartelli of New Britain, Conn.—emerged with perfect scores today in the first round of the national marbles championship. Fifty-two boys, each a city champion, participated. After the day's play all went for a sail as guests of the city, and tonight went to the movies.

Chicago Team Beats Cleveland at Tennis

U. S. Officials Seek Peace in Football Row

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Prospects for early resumption of football relations between the military and naval academies brightened today.

Secretary of War Good announced that he already has opened negotiations with Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams in an effort to break the deadlock which has prevented a game between the two service schools during the last two years.

Details regarding the eligibility rules which caused the original break between athletic authorities at West Point and Annapolis have been requested of the general staff by Mr. Good.

In case the break should be healed it would be three years, war department officials said, before it would be possible for either team to give the other a regular place on its schedule.

The original quarrel developed over the question of whether star players should be allowed to play four years at the military academy after playing on college teams.

At present an attempt is being made to place a four year limit on college players who go to West Point. A player who had never played at college would be eligible to play four years at either academy. One who had played two years in college could still play two at West Point or at Annapolis. No player would be allowed to play more than a total of four years.

THE NAVY'S STAND.

Annapolis, Md., June 24.—(AP)—Athletic officials at the United States Naval academy here said tonight that no contracts for games during the coming football season would interfere with any resumption of the annual clash between the Navy and Army should pending negotiations between the two arms of the service reach a successful termination.

Bob Lists Charms of Black Bass Camping Grounds

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Butternut Lake, Northeast of Three Lakes, Wis., June 24.—Chicago black bass fishermen are shooting their casts at all points of the compass, the woods are fragrant with the blossoms of the wild blackberry, the wild iris or blue flag, is painting the marshes a vivid purple with its many flowers and the small mouth bass are smacking the surface of the lake to gobble the newly hatched cisco flies.

Although the boys are getting fish the sport should be better in about a week.

By that time the bass population should be back to normal and full of fight. The spawning season was retarded this year by cool weather so that the opening day of the season, June 20, came around with conditions not quite up to all standards for good fishing.

A three pound small mouth rang the bell for us this morning to start the day's fishing program. We had tried the rock bars without any success.

Then we edged into a big bay on the east side of the lake where the blue herons were wheeling around, dipping low over the water and sometimes landing with a big splash. Close to the forest lined shore we saw bass breaking water to feed on the cisco flies. Two casts, and bang! A strike. The third cast—and wham! A three pounder nailed our lure, jumped two feet into the air and then bored into deep water from which we pumped him up.

Britton Beats Pollock with Broken Hand

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

After breaking his right hand in the first round, Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion, won a ten round decision over Patsy Pollock of Montreal in the main event of the open air boxing show held last night at the Logan Square open arena.

Britton, who is 44 years old, had the sympathy of the spectators, but very few knew of his handicap. They kept urging him to use his right, which was practically useless.

Showing the gameness which has made him one of the greatest 147 pound champions in history, Jack let go a few times with his injured hand in a clubbing fashion. His left, however, scored the points which won.

Pollock established an early lead by winning three of the first five rounds. The other two were about even. Jack started to show his ring craft in the sixth, which he won handily. He won the remaining rounds through clever use of his left hand, which he used to jab and hook. His right was turned loose a few times, but every time he let it go he fell into a clinch.

In the bout which followed the main event Herschie Wilson of Danville, Ill., and George Kerwin of the north side went six interesting rounds to a draw. They met at 136 pounds. Jimmy Murphy, the north side 147 pounder, was given the decision over Steve Hess of Logan Square in the four round opener.

Eddie Ballatine, south side 150 pounder, won from Jackie Reynolds of Indianapolis by a technical knockout in the second round of the third fight. In the other bout on the card Kurt Prenzel, the German welterweight, was given the decision over Mickey McLaughlin of the west side.

PENN PULLS UP THIRD; BADGERS FINISH LAST

Four Crews Fail to Complete Route.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 24.—Columbia's eight oared crew stroked its way through the tossing waters of the Hudson to win the thirty-fourth Poughkeepsie regatta here today before 125,000 spectators. Washington was second and Pennsylvania third. Navy and Wisconsin were the only other crews to finish. The other four shells, California, Cornell, Syracuse, and Massachusetts Tech, filled with water until they were awash, when the patrol boats came along from the rear to pick up the crews and take the shells in tow.

Columbia's eight young men, recruited from the sidewalks, although not necessarily from the curbstones and lamppost hangouts, of New York, finished with a lead of about two and one-half lengths of open water over the Washington boys, who come from the wide open spaces and are known as the huskies.

Penn's boat, an outsider in all the advance calculations, was about six lengths behind Washington, and the midshipmen from Annapolis, who had led the flotilla most of the way, were about one and one-half lengths astern of Penn. Wisconsin was not really a contender, but the boys in the shell appear to have done something notable in finishing at all, considering the casualty rate of almost 50 per cent.

Water Becomes Rough.

The water became quite unsteady as the first eight boats paddled up to the line of skiffs anchored in the stream to prepare for the getaway, and by the time the Cornell shell appeared, almost half an hour late, the ripples whipped up by the evening breeze had developed into a state of sea which the watermen, in their homely language, call a slop.

Then there followed about thirty minutes of uneasiness as the crews swung on the current, like fractious thoroughbreds at the barrier, and when the wide row of nine shells got going at last those which were out toward the middle of the river were shipping water over their gunwales. However, Columbia rowed out there in the same sort of going that swamped California and Cornell, so the state of the water does not seem entirely accountable for the farcical turn of events.

Cornell Delays Start.

The program seems to have been too big for one afternoon and also there appears to have been nobody around with the authority or the initiative to penalize Cornell for delaying a series of events that would have been a close fight in the time available even if all the crews had arrived on time.

As matters developed, Cornell held up the getaway of the junior varsity race about twenty minutes and the further delay while the eight varsity shells waited at the stake boats for the start of the big race, with the Cornell varsity nowhere in sight, saw the water change from the oily tranquility of afternoon to the ruffled condition of late evening when four shells were able to keep afloat.

In addition to all this, there were five false starts, two in the freshman race of two miles, one in the three mile junior varsity event and two in the varsity. The difficulty of bringing nine boats about, paddling them up stream, held up the start of the big race until lights began to blink on the patrol boats and in the houses on the outskirts of Poughkeepsie across the river. So the main event was rowed in a fading light and not many of the 5,000 people on the observation train or the thousands standing on the hills or on yachts and naval vessels at the finish, were certain as to which crews finished on the water and which ones finished in it. Not many persons knew that Wisconsin had finished, so deep was the twilight and so confused were conditions on the river by the time the race ended.

Tech First to Sink.

Massachusetts Tech, rowing at Poughkeepsie for the first time, was the first boat to lose free board and give up the hope of thrashing oars as the patrol vessel ran up from astern and took off the men. That was about one and one-half miles from the start and the leading boats, with Navy first, Washington second and

COLUMBIA WINS HUDSON REGATTA; WASHINGTON 2D

About a mile further along, the Syracuse shell sank to the water line and only the heads of the men could be seen above the spray of their sweeps as they continued to lash the tide in futile attempts to keep under way. Navy and Washington had been alternating in the lead, but now, at the railroad bridge, Columbia had come up in the distance, almost in the middle of the river where the water was worst, and had taken a lead of almost a length.

Maintain Only Fair Beat.

None of the crews was maintaining a very high beat, Columbia's count being about thirty and the others, as closely as they could be distinguished in the failing light, were about the same, attention being concentrated on the leaders. Navy was rowing close to the west shore in the second lane, with Penn in shore from them in the most favored position on the course, in the lee of the palisades.

California dropped out of the competition soon after the start and the great crew from the west, including seven of the athletes who made the water boil in winning the 1928 Olympia race, settled down to a fight with Cornell for a possible fourth or fifth position. Syracuse also kept up with California until their shell filled and the people on the train and the boats were much surprised at all this, as Cornell and Syracuse were supposed to have no legitimate place on the same river with California.

Navy Rows Itself Out.

The Navy crew seemed to row themselves out in setting the early pace.

At two one half miles, Columbia had a lead of a quarter of a boat length over Washington and Navy's bow was about amidship of the Washington bow. Cornell, about four lengths behind the Navy and only dimly visible across the water, was leading California by half a length.

The high railroad bridge is three miles down river from the start and here Columbia had a length over Washington, with Navy third, about three lengths behind, and Cornell and California, each about a length astern of Annapolis. Penn was nowhere and Wisconsin was beginning to vanish behind sheets of water as the boat hit the seas. The California shell was hopelessly beaten, but as well as could be seen from the shore was still seaworthy.

And the valley between the hills resounded with the measured yells of the Columbia crowd massed in several flat cars on the observation train. The tugs, yachts, subchasers, and a lone destroyer were bleating and whooping with their sirens as Columbia's sweeps carried the shell half a dozen strokes beyond the finish line, then trailed in the water as the men sagged in their seats.

Bow, Walter; No. 2, Murphy; No. 3, Walker; No. 4, Sanford; No. 5, Douglas; No. 6, Blesse; No. 7, Davenport [capt.]; stroke, MacBain; cox, Berman.

Results of the Races.

In the three mile junior varsity, Cornell won after holding up the proceedings by the nonappearance of the crew as the other five shells clung to the stake boats, ready to start. Columbia was second and Navy rowed third.

Syracuse won the two mile freshman race, with Cornell second and California's yearlings third. In the third race, Massachusetts Tech made two false starts and in each of these the California crew was away almost a length in front of the nearest boat. California rowed about a quarter of a mile at top speed in each of these starts. Some of it seems reasonable to believe that they might have done considerably better if the race had been sent away in good order the first time.

FAVORITES SCORE EASY VICTORIES IN STATE NET MEET

Devoid of upsets, all favorites and seeded players scoring easy victories, the opening rounds of the Illinois state tennis championships got under way at the River Forest Tennis club yesterday.

All of the first and part of the second round matches of the men's singles were run off and today's events should see championship competition. Opening matches for the junior round start today and tomorrow the record field of fifty women begin competition.

LeRoy Weir, present singles champ, annexed an easy win over J. A. Perfecto, Columbus Park Filipino. The scores were 6-2 and 6-1.

Miss Wilson Again Sets New Record in Golf Play

Buffalo, N. Y., June 24.—[Special.]—Miss Virginia Wilson, slender little miss from the Onwentsia Golf club, Chicago, stroked out a sensational 9 hole score of 33 to capture medalist's honors in the qualifying round of the country club's ninth annual woman's invitation tournament today. Her mark, achieved in a nine hole playoff with Martha Kinsey, Wyoming, O., after each had carried an 81 in the regular round, shattered by several strokes the best record ever accomplished by a woman golfer at that course and equaled the standard established by Lighthorse Harry Cooper last season.

MOON MULLINS—MOON'S LOVE RINGS TRUE

EGYPT, DO YOU MEAN TO SAY YOU'RE NOT GOING TO MARRY LORD PLUSHBOTTOM?
I SHOULD SAY NOT! HE SENT MOON HERE TO TELL ME THAT HE WAS WAITING AT THE TRAIN WITH A PREACHER SO AS TO AVOID PUBLICITY. THE OLD IDIOT! WHAT DID HE THINK I WAS GOING TO MARRY HIM FOR ANYWAY?
NEARLY TIME FOR YOUR TRAIN TO LEAVE, LORD PLUSHBOTTOM. I WONDER IF ANYTHING HAS HAPPENED TO THE YOUNG MAN YOU SENT BACK WITH YOUR MESSAGE.
WELL IF THE YOUNG LADY DOESN'T GET HERE IN TWO MINUTES SOMETHING WILL HAPPEN TO HIM.
YEH-TRYIN' TO PUT OVER A FAST ONE ON YOU LIKE THAT- WHERE'S MY HAT? I'M GONNA GO TALK TO TH' OLD GENT MYSELF!
MOONSHINE, PLEASE DON'T GET ROUGH- I GAVE HIM THE AIR- THAT'S ENOUGH.
YEH, I KNOW- BUT MAYBE HE'D SELL ME TH' RING CHEAP.

Errors—Cissell [2], Watwood, Berg, [2], Westling. Two base hits—Gehringer, Fothergill. Home run—Faber. Stolen bases—McManus, Gehringer. Sacrifices—Shires, Watwood. Double plays—Gehringer to Westling to Alexander. Bases on balls—Yde, 3; Faber, 2; Dugan, 2. Struck out—Faber, 4. Hits—Faber, 11 in 7 innings.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—The White Sox gave until it hurt today. They kicked and tossed the ball around as though errors were marks of distinction, and the laugh provoking blunders were so well distributed among a flock of hits off old Red Faber that the Tigers almost ran themselves bowlegged in the series opener. The count was 13 to 4, and to add to the merriment Umpire Geisel dispatched Boss Blackburne from the premises for daring to speak in a quiet, gentlemanly manner about an apparently defective decision.

Faber took his first jolt both from the Tigers and his mates in the inaugural inning. A muff at the plate by Berg led to four runs, whereas there should have been one. In the sixth, Cissell and Watwood decided to get in on the fun, and their boots assisted two more across. Then the game went entirely to pieces with miscues by the same pair in the seventh, and a cluster of six tallies picked up at this stage made winning a simple matter for Emil Yde, the ex-Pirate southpaw.

Metzler Benched; Lineup Revised.

The Sox put on a big rally of one hit in the first inning and made it grow into a run. Cissell, who led off in a revised lineup that sent Metzler to the bench, drew a pass off Yde for a starter, and Reynolds slapped a single to center. The two runners moved along on a sacrifice bunt by Shires. Watwood hoisted a healthy fly to Heilmann in right, and Cissell registered.

The Tigers' opening stand that developed into four runs started with Johnson getting a single on a liner that Watwood failed to hold in left. Fothergill singled Johnson to third. Gehringer pushed a two bagger past Watwood, scoring Johnson and sending Fothergill to third. Three strikes disposed of Heilmann. McManus then grounded to short, and Cissell pegged perfectly to the plate, but Berg failed to hold the ball, and both Fothergill and Gehringer tallied. McManus went to second on the error, to third when Berg dropped Alexander's third strike and home on a hit by Shea. After this session, Blackburne decided to move Watwood back to center where he is better acquainted.

Faber Hits Home Run.

After the first round, the Sox refrained from mischief until the fifth, when Faber took it upon himself to show his mates how runs can be produced. Berg opened the inning with a single, and a moment later old Red scored him with a homer over the left field wall. Cissell then singled and Reynolds forced him. The latter promptly stole second, and actually accomplished his purpose, but a rank decision by Umpire Geisel rendered him out. Passes to Shires and Watwood followed, but Kamm grounded out the side. It was at the conclusion of this chapter that Blackburne was told to get out of the park by Umpire Geisel.

Faber's worries in the sixth when two more tallied got under way with singles by Gehringer and Heilmann. A boot by Cissell filled the bases. Gehringer scored on Alexander's infield out and Heilmann got home on Shea's single to center.

The Comical Seventh.

The loud and funny Tiger seventh saw Feber give up two passes, which, with a single by Gehringer, filled the bases. Alexander cleaned 'em up with a triple to right. Shea singled Alex over the pan. Cissell booted Schuble's grounder. Yde singled to center, Shea scoring, and when Watwood's return throw went wild, Schuble also crossed the plate with the sixth run of the round.

The Sox broke loose with a run in the eighth on hits by Taitt, Kerr and Berg. The Tigers must have accepted this as a challenge. At any rate they snatched the run back in the home eighth off Dugan. A double by Fothergill and single by Heilmann did it. Moreover, the sacks were jammed as the result of a couple of passes when the side was retired.

Omaha, Neb., June 24.—(AP)—Arne Borg, Swedish swimming flash, who has been in Omaha for several days, yesterday swam 550 yards in 6 minutes 41 2-5 seconds in an exhibition. Borg's time is nearly half a minute under the present world's record mark of 7:10 1-5, held by Norman Ross.

280 PLAY TODAY IN ANNUAL MEET AT BOB O' LINK

Foursomes to Shoot for 24 Prizes.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Bob o' Link's eighth annual Hullabaloo, one of the biggest invitational golf tournaments of the Chicago district each year begins this morning. An entry of 280 golfers will play 18 holes today, dine, and make merry in the evening, and play the 18 hole stake horse race tomorrow.

Under direction of Harry Curran, chairman of the tournament committee, the foursomes will shoot for twenty-four prizes, which include low gross and low net for both individuals and foursomes on both days and for the 36 holes. Some of the stars expected to come close to par on the long course, which incidentally is in mighty near perfect condition, are Al Seckel, Alden Swift, Chester Williams, Frank Thompson, D. A. Matteson, and several low handicap men from other cities.

Sixty patent attorneys will hold a golf tournament at Midlothian today. The program is all day play of 36 holes.

Hours of advance registration for Sunday golf on the Forest Preserve golf courses have been changed from 8 o'clock to noon, in order to give golfers who can't get away during working hours a chance to register on their lunch time. The change went into effect yesterday.

The Illinois State Championship, which has been held on the Columbus Park course for six years, will be staged on Mid-City course Wednesday through Saturday. Change to a better golf course is expected to increase the number of private club golfers in the tournament and has had the effect of increasing the out of town entry.

Winners of class B and C competition in the quarter finals of the spring tournament at Medinah Country club are announced by J. W. Schippmann, chairman of the golf committee. R. Baker, J. Silhanek, A. A. Shogren and H. S. Elbert came through in class B, and Otto Kretzer, F. A. Bringoff, S. Smedberg and F. W. Reinhardt were winners in class C.

POTPOURRI.

BUDDY BASIL'S victory over Clyde Van Dusen, African, and others in the Latonia Derby did not add to public estimation of this year's crop of 3 year olds. In fact, it supported the growing impression that they are below average.

Buddy Basil up to this time had been ranked as a selling plater and had found his most congenial occupation in that company. Although Clyde Van Dusen perhaps should have won, the mutuels paid off on Buddy and Clyde has a second defeat charged against him following his sorry showing in the American Derby.

The redeeming feature of Buddy Basil's performance was the time for the mile and one-half, 2:30 2-5. That has been eclipsed only twice in Latonia Derby history, by Handy Mandy with 109 pounds and Chilhowee with 118 pounds, the same weight as Buddy packed. Handy Mandy's 2:28 3-5 is the American record for the distance.

"Why don't the Cubs buy a couple of good pitchers who can last more than six innings?" asked a disgruntled fan after Sunday's game.

"Where?" we queried.

"Is that the answer?" he countered.

"The Cubs haven't shown any bankroll paralysis whenever there was opportunity," we concluded.

Disappointment of Cub fans is accentuated by the fact that with the acquisition of Hornsby the north siders were regarded as sure pennant winners in advance of the season's opening. We do not know whether they will triumph, but certainly the race is not over.

New York Yankees lost their opportunity at this time to break the morale of Philadelphia's leading Athletics, who now have a comfortable lead. If the Yanks get going, of course, they could wear down that lead, but Connie Mack's crew have their heads up. Despite Babe Ruth's popularity and drawing power, a change of American league pennant tenure would be a good thing for baseball.

Improving The Breed.

O, married ladies, guard your mates,
Lest they should play the horses,
For a long shot coming down the stretch
Can start sixteen divorces.

The morning papers they will snatch
And they'll vainly rack their brain,
Should they lay that "fin" on Muscatelle
Or that mudder, Try Again.

O, married ladies, don't lose heart,
Your hubbies will come back,
But you can't buy groceries with the dough
They dropped out at the track.

BURKE SHOOTS A PAIR OF 70S OVER U. S. OPEN COURSE

Golf Notables Start Practice for Meet.

Mamaroneck, N. Y., June 24.—[Special.]—The other day Robert Tyre Jones gave warning to the world of golf that he was ready to play the national open under par. Today one Billy Burke, born Bourkowski, gave him warning that he is ready to do the same. He shot the Winged Foot course twice in practice today, and out of the muggy heat, the hot sun and the hard baked fairways he produced two 70's.

Burke last Saturday spread eagled a fine field in the New York state open at the Westchester-Biltmore club at Rye, and this performance, his first major victory, has given him a world of confidence and moved him right up into the four or five to one class. As the links saying goes, the young man from Westport, Conn., is hot right. And when they get hot right near the open it's usually time to dust off the old cup. Hot right stars are hard to beat.

Winged Foot was dotted with celebrities today. Among those who marched over the course, whacking woods and irons and peering into odd corners, traps and bunkers, were George Von Elm, Bobby Jones, Leo Diegel, Bill Mehlhorn, Harrison Johnston, Bill Leach, Johnny Golden and Ed Dudley, Bobby Cruickshank, Al Espinosa, Craig Wood, Bob McDonald and Roland Hancock, the young fellow who came so close to winning last year, needing a five, four, four and blowing up handsomely with a six, five, six, or something.

MACKS GAIN ON YANKEES; DEFEAT RED SOX, 5 TO 4

9 Game Lead as Rommel Hurls 7th Victory.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—(AP)—Athletics increased their lead over the Yankees to nine games today by winning a 5 to 4 decision from the Boston Red Sox, while the New Yorkers were idle. Eddie Rommel won his own game in the eighth inning when he broke a 4-4 tie with a long double that scored Joe Boley.

A double play with full bases in the ninth inning saved the day for the Athletics after Rommel had weakened and Shores was called to the rescue. Rommel got credit for his seventh straight victory of the season with

MISS NELSON IS LEADER IN TEAM PLAY AT EXMOOR

Miss Rena Nelson, western junior champion, led in the second of the Women's Western team matches yesterday. Playing for Exmoor, in the north side matches, at Briergate Miss Nelson had a card of 85 on the 6,700 yard course.

Despite Miss Nelson's individual efforts, Exmoor finished far back in the division. Glen View won with 86 points, though Sunset Ridge was only a point and a half behind.

In both the west and south side matches, the winners in the first series of matches repeated. Edgewood Valley won the west side matches at Maywood with 104½ and Olympia Fields' 62 points put them first in the south side matches at Calumet.

Results:

WEST DIVISION—Edgewood Valley, 104½; Westward Ho, 102½; Riverside, 78½; River Forest, 77; Oak Park, 74; Maywood, 68½; La Grange, 65½; Brookwood, 38½; Butterfield, 37; Mohawk, 27.

The next team matches will be held July 16 at Indian Hill (north division), Westward Ho (west division) and Flossmoor (south division).

PRINCESS EDITH WINS HOMEWOOD FEATURE EVENT

Jockey McDermott Fails on Blushing Maiden.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Larry McDermott seems to be a hero one day on the turf in Chicago, and a derided bum next afternoon.

This was demonstrated at Washington Park yesterday. Larry has been riding two and three winners each day, and he has been wined and toasted. But in the Garden City purse yesterday Larry climbed into the saddle on the ever popular Blushing Maiden. She was beaten by the Royal Stables' Princess Edith, and Larry rode like a novice making his first trip to the barrier.

Princess Edith acquired little prestige by her victory, for the race was run in slower time than the selling platers were stepping around the track. McDermott, showing timidness that does not do a great jockey any credit, had Blushing Maiden so far out of it her many backers groaned before the field hit the turn into the stretch.

From last place in the stretch Larry brought Blushing Maiden up to be second, but never did she threaten Princess Edith. The time for the mile was 1:39. It took them 1:13 4-5 to reach the six furlong mark, which isn't saying much for Princess Edith or the others which she defeated.

Beauregard Sets Pace.

Edward R. Bradley's Beauregard was early pacemaker, old Jimmy Smith giving him an unusually brilliant ride. An eight from home, he was still a half length in front of Princess Edith. Then he began to quit and Princess Edith sailed on past him. In the last strides McDermott, riding like the Hero McDermott, brought Blushing Maiden up to claim second money. He was within a half length of the lead. If he had ridden just one-tenth as hard during any of the early stages Blushing Maiden couldn't have lost the race.

Princess Edith had her following but paid better than 3 to 1 to win. Account had been the favorite, with Blushing Maiden the second choice. Account never got into stride and was soundly beaten from beginning to end. He was ridden by Chiavetta. Beauregard lasted long enough to get third money.

Consistent Gotham Wins.

Consistent Gotham, running in the silks of Phil Reuter and ridden by Jockey E. Shropshire, rolled up his fourth straight victory of the Washington Park season when he won the mile and seventy yard struggle which served as the secondary feature. He trimmed Sir John K by a head after being in front throughout the run down the stretch.

Spanish Lay, owned by Fred M. Grabner of Chicago, was made the medium of a big plunge but could get no better than third money, having been taken far back by McDermott in the early stages. And when he began to run in the stretch was so far out of it he had no chance to win.

FIELDS, COOPER FINISH TRAINING TODAY FOR BOUT

Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, and Farmer Joe Cooper of Illinois will finish training today for their ten round decision fight at Mills stadium Thursday night.

Fields boxed six rounds at the Arcade yesterday. His opponents were Harry Wilson and Billy Brent. Cooper also stepped six sessions, three with Fay Kosky of San Francisco and as many with Rex Ripple of St. Louis.

Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., world's lightweight champion, who will defend his title against Tony Canzoneri of New York at the Chicago stadium Aug. 2, will arrive this week to resume training. Canzoneri will arrive about the middle of next month.

CRAM VICTOR IN COLLEGE TENNIS TOURNEY UPSET

Haverford, Pa., June 24.—(AP)—Donald Cram, Vanderbilt university, created an upset in the second round of the intercollegiate tennis championships today by defeating Bradshaw Harrison, University of Oregon, Pacific Northwest collegiate champion, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3. Harrison was a seeded player and last week at Wilmington, Del., defeated Julius Seligson, of Lehigh university, intercollegiate champion, who is defending his title in the present tournament.

Denver Youth Shoots 67 in Omaha Golf

Omaha, Neb., June 24.—(AP)—A comparative nonentity of amateur golf, Nathan Grimes of Denver today handed old man par one of the worst drubbings he has ever received on the tough Omaha Field club course to top a large and brilliant field at the halfway juncture in the trans-Mississippi championship qualifying test.

A master of putting and the acme of steadiness with his woods and irons, the bespectacled youth of 21 years literally burned up the 6,400 yard stretch with a 67, which is six better than par and which equaled the course record established by Johnny Goodman of Omaha, former 'Sippi champion, two weeks ago in the national open trials.

The score was four strokes better than his closest competitor, J. A. Kennedy of Tulsa, whose performance also was surprising.

Putting was Grimes' winning suit today. On seven greens he was down in one putt, looping three of them in from a distance of 20 to 35 feet. Despite the brisk wind that made the course lightning fast and slice shots numerous and costly, Grimes was in trouble but once on his triumphant round. That was on the fourth where he took a 5 for a par 4 hole when his brassie shot landed in the rough.

His card:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Par out | 445 | 444 | 534—37 |
| Grimes out | 345 | 534 | 524—35 |
| Par in | 443 | 444 | 454—36—73 |
| Grimes in | 442 | 343 | 453—32—67 |

Not in the tournament's 29 years of play were scores as uniformly low as they were today. In addition to Grimes' record smashing round, five broke par, two equaled it, and more than forty others landed in the charmed seventies.

Jockey Dies from Injuries Received in Ohio Race

Cleveland, O., June 24.—[Special.]—Jockey C. Churchman died in a hospital here from a fractured skull received Saturday when he was thrown from his mount, Roll 'Em Down, in the fourth race at Bainbridge Park.

Jockeys S. Deprini and J. Savage were injured, but not seriously, in the same mishap, which was caused by a fall of Deprini's mount, Princess Margaret, near the last turn.

Dunlap Shoots Par; Leads in College Meet

Deal, N. J., June 24.—(AP)—George T. Dunlap Jr. of Pinehurst, N. C., playing for Princeton, led a field of 95 starters over the first 18 holes of qualifying play for the inter-collegiate golf championship of the United States today with a sparkling 72, par for the difficult course of the Hollywood Golf club. The qualifying test extends over 36 holes with 18 remaining to be played tomorrow, the low 32 entering match play Wednesday.

The team championship will be decided in the two qualifying rounds. After the first 18 holes, Princeton topped the field, leading Georgetown by a margin of four strokes, 310 to 314. Princeton won the team championship and the Maxwell cup last year.

Scores on the whole were high for the day, only 13 of the best the colleges could offer managing to break 80. It was suggested tonight that 36 hole totals of 165 probably qualify.

Maurice McCarthy Jr. of Georgetown, defending champion, had a shaky first nine, using 39 strokes, but he came rolling home with a 35 to count 74. Two great putts at the last two holes were helpful.

With Pond at 75 was Charles Hunter of the University of Washington and four were grouped at 77, Goldwater, University of Illinois; Wilson, Georgetown; E. E. Ohio State, and Charles F. Lehigh.

Francis W. Ryan from the University of Detroit who defeated McCarthy when Georgetown played Detroit, scored 78 and four stood at 79, Finlay, Harvard; Fred Yale; F. P. Hersey, and Jones, both of Princeton.

Three well known players, Al beck of Pennsylvania, Lester Minnesota, the Big Ten champion, and Tommy Aycock, the Yale shooter, had scores of 80. Mark Flanagan, Georgetown, and J. A. Yale, runnerup last year, took

In the team championship competition Princeton had a count of Georgetown, 314, Yale, 320, Detroit, 327, Pennsylvania, 328, Harvard, Dartmouth, 334, Ohio State, Penn State, 358, and Union, 381.

FOREIGNERS ABLE TO SQUARE TRADING SCORE

Payments Cited in Lamont Report.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Uncle Sam is a good trader and does a mighty nice business with the rest of the world. But foreigners are not exactly novices in international business and generally manage, in one way or another, to about square the score. This is the burden of a report issued by Secretary of Commerce Lamont yesterday on international payments last year.

For example, it takes a lot of American exports to offset the expenditures of globe-trotting Americans who last year spent more than $750,000,000 abroad. Again, our recent stock market boom has not been overlooked by other peoples, who resold $1,153,000,000 of American securities previously purchased and in addition disposed of $1,483,000,000 of their own securities in this country.

In fact, Secretary Lamont estimates that the sum of these and other "invisible" items in favor of other countries exceeded the value of commodities sold by them to this country, which was [illegible]4,497,000,000.

Total of Payments.

All told, international payments between the United States and other countries last year exceeded $21,250,000,000. This represents the interchange of goods, gold and services. Of this total the United States came out with credits of $10,648,000,000, including $5,334,000,000 for goods exported, $817,000,000 as interest on foreign investments and $1,634,000,000 from the sale of American securities to foreign investors.

On the other hand, other nations ran up credits of $10,608,000,000 as a result of goods, gold, and services furnished to Americans. Therefore, the United States really came off only about $40,000,000 to the good, which denotes a pretty even balance in an interchange of such magnitude.

"The study demonstrates that as a creditor nation we are not the giant that is often supposed," Secretary Lamont points out in analyzing the compilation. "War debts aside, we are a net creditor nation in the amount of probably less than nine billion dollars. However, the figures for the balance of international payments set a new record for size and illustrate that 1928 was a year of tremendous international exchange business."

The usual seasonal decline in American automobile production was set forth in another report by the commerce department. Output in May was placed at 603,969 units, including [illegible]6,056 passenger cars, 86,596 trucks, and 1,318 taxicabs. This output marked a moderate decline from the 621,331 units turned out in April, but was a large increase over the 425,783 units produced in May, 1928.

Tourists in Canada.

American tourist money left in Canada, estimated to reach a total of [illegible]0,000,000 this year, is proving an important stimulant to the prosperity of the dominion, according to the [illegible]k of England in its review of the [illegible] half of 1929. This tourist money is a prime factor in redressing Canada's adverse trade balance with the United States, it is said.

"Large expenditures of public money on highways have given employment to labor and impetus to business, bringing in their train a great influx of tourists," the review continues. "Canadian commerce, in nearly every branch, has reached a high peak. Foreign trade, railway traffic, manufactures, mining, building operations, and agriculture have been of greater volume and value than ever before. Employment has never been more brisk nor balance sheets better. Diffused prosperity, the rising tide of which set in five years ago, continues."

Loop Garages Represent Investment of 12 Millions

Public garages in the Chicago loop district represent an investment of $12,000,000 to $15,000,000. The estimate was made by the Chicago Association of Commerce. It is pointed out in the report that competition has reached a high pitch and prices for parking are much lower at the present time than at any time in the past. This, combined with the higher salaries being paid to garage employés is causing considerable worry to owners, according to the association.

Rates Decline as Electrical Output Grows

BY SCRUTATOR.

Intelligent management in most cases and freedom from more than the reasonable amount of governmental regulation enabled the electric light and power industry almost to double the number of its customers and amount of revenue from 1922 to 1928.

A report of the National Electric Light association states that the domestic consumers in 1928 increased by 1,163,000, or 6.5 per cent, over 1927 and that commercial consumers were greater in number by 238,300, or 5.4 per cent. It shows also that the total number of consumers was 23,235,000 last year and that they paid for their service more than a billion eight hundred million dollars. In 1922 the 12,709,868 customers of the industry in the United States paid 940 million dollars.

Electricity is almost unique in that it can be purchased more cheaply than in pre-war times. The average charge in 1914 was 8.30 cents a kilowatt hour and in 1928 it was 6.55 cents. Figures released yesterday by the national industrial conference board indicated that in the first quarter of the present year living costs averaged for all commodities were 60 per cent more than in 1914. Had electricity followed the general trend its price would have been double what it is.

Compares Cost Levels.

It may be of interest to compare this product's level with that of the other necessities. Clothing, according to the conference board, is proportionately higher in comparison with the years before the war than any other product. It is more than 70 per cent above the old level. Coal, even with miners in distress and the operators making profits only in rare instances, is still higher than in 1914. The malign influence of railroad freight rates accounts for much of this. Even gas, on a countrywide basis, costs more than of yore.

And the report quoted above stated that care by physicians and recreational activities were higher in 1928 even than in the years just previous.

At the recent convention of the National Electric Light association many of the more prominent leaders advised specifically lower rates to encourage enough patronage to keep the generating plants and distributive facilities nearer capacity. They consciously recognize, apparently, that more business will enable them to effect greater operating economies and more profits for their stockholders.

There are gentlemen of radical tendencies who profess to see in the growth of concentration in light and power production a menace to the consumer.

Complaints of Favoritism.

Complaints have often been made that the utility companies favor the large industrial user with contract rates and take it out of the little fellow with the few lamps in his house. Ontario's government owned electric plants are often pointed to as model aids for domestic users and contrasted with the privately owned concerns in this country.

It is simply in the point of view. It costs as much to generate electricity for one customer as another, but it obviously costs a great deal less to transmit it to a big user than a small one. To charge the big user of power as much as the little user of light would be of no advantage to the latter. The loss in volume—the industrial buyer would go to cheaper power—would offset the gain in revenues from those who would buy.

The electric utilities with their contract rates have shown gains to themselves and their customers. The railroads with contract rates prohibited and the interstate commerce commission traffic managing the country are coming to a hard and fast mileage basis for rates. A trainload a day gets the same rate per carload as a car a month. Government regulation designed to go only far enough to prevent unfairness would seem to be enough, both for railroads and electric companies.

PEORIA RY. MAY USE TRACKAGE OF OTHER ROADS

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—An interstate commerce commission examiner has recommended to the commission that the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad be permitted to operate under trackage rights over the lines of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and Peoria Terminal company in Peoria county.

The examiner, O. D. Weed, recommended that the commission authorize the construction by the Toledo, Peoria and Western of tracks connecting this railroad with the other two, and that it be permitted to construct a mile and a half extension in Tazewell county, Illinois.

ANACONDA MAY PLACE SHARES UPON $7 BASIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—It is expected that when the directors of the Anaconda Copper Mining company meet tomorrow they will place the new stock on a $7 annual basis, the same rate paid on the outstanding stock prior to the issue of rights to stockholders for the purchase of approximately 2,160,000 additional shares.

Maintenance of the $7 rate would require $14,000,000 more, of which approximately $8,000,000 would be derived from the saving in interest and sinking fund requirements resulting from the retirement of the bonds, proceeds for which were obtained from the sale of stock.

Baldwin Works Branch Books Heavy Business

New York, June 24.—(AP)—June orders of the Standard Steel works, a subsidiary of the Baldwin Locomotive works, will be the largest for any month so far this year, Samuel M. Vauclain, chairman, said today. Business for the first half of the year is about 30 per cent greater than the first half of 1928. The company, he added, is operating at about 50 per cent of rated capacity.

WILL FILE PLANS FOR NEW TRUNK LINE TO CHICAGO

Wabash Center of Proposed Group.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—Plans for the organization of a fifth trunk line from the Atlantic coast to Chicago, centering around the Wabash and including other independent railroads in the eastern territory, will be filed with the interstate commerce commission next Monday, it was announced today by William H. Williams, president of the Wabash.

Some time ago Mr. Williams conferred with Frank E. Taplin, chairman of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia on a plan to link those two with the Western Maryland and other carriers to form a new trunk line from Baltimore to Chicago. The Wabash at the time announced its intention of asking the interstate commerce commission for permission to acquire the Western Maryland. The Pittsburgh and West Virginia would be necessary to bridge the gap between them.

Controlled by Taplins.

The Pittsburgh and West Virginia is controlled by the Taplin interests and the Wheeling and Lake Erie. The Taplins are now endeavoring to wrest control of this line from the Van Sweringens.

The Pennsylvania is indirectly brought into the plan through its holdings of 49 per cent of the stock of the Wabash. The proposed plan of the Wabash would further the aim of the Pennsylvania in disrupting the merger plans of the Baltimore and Ohio and Van Sweringens. Although there is no corporate connection between the Pennsylvania and the Wabash, a significant similarity in their ambitions is seen as a result of the conference between Mr. Williams and Mr. Taplin.

It is believed that the recent Pennroad corporation purchase of the important Canton terminal development at Baltimore was with a view to transferring it to the fifth trunk line planned by Mr. Williams. At the present time the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Western Maryland all use the terminal. The Western Maryland, however, has no tracks into the Canton district of Baltimore but reaches it with car floats.

May Transfer Line.

The Canton company owns the terminal and the Canton railroad, the latter being one of the lines which the Baltimore and Ohio wanted to merge. Acquisition of the Canton railroad takes it out of possible control of the Baltimore and Ohio and makes it possible for the Pennsylvania to transfer the line to the Wabash giving it an eastern terminus for the new trunk line. Considering the present financial resources of the Wabash, it is

Report $50,000,000 Hotel System Merger Is Near

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—A merger of the largest hotel systems in the country and extending into Canada—the Bowman-Biltmore and the United Hotels corporation—doing an annual gross business of $100,000,000 and comprising $50,000,000 in assets, is near completion, it was learned today. Negotiations have reached the stage where the deal is in the hands of the bankers and with nothing but the terms to be decided upon, agreement of which is expected any day.

Included in Chain.

Five years ago the Bowman-Biltmore corporation had a valuation of $25,000,000. Its chain of hotels includes the Commodore, Biltmore, Murray Hill, and Belmont, in this city; the Westchester-Biltmore Country club at Rye, N. Y.; the Belleview, Belleair, Fla.; the Griswold, New London, Conn., and the Seville-Biltmore, Havana. Other Biltmore partly owned and operated hotels are in Providence, Los Angeles, and Atlanta. It is not expected that the Los Angeles hotel will be included in the new combine.

Some of the United hotels are the Roosevelt, in this city; the Benjamin Franklin, Philadelphia; the Robert Trent, Newark; the Mount Royal, Montreal; the Bancroft, Worcester, Mass.; the Ten Eyck, Albany, N. Y.; the Yorktown, York, Pa., and the Penn-Harris, Harrisburg Pa. The Bowman-Biltmore corporation reported not long ago that profits from operation of the Biltmore and Commodore last year were smaller than those for the year previous, which, according to John McE. Bowman, president of the corporation, reflected the generally poorer situation in the hotel business in this city at that time.

Incorporated in 1910.

The United Hotels company was incorporated in 1910 as a $10,000,000 organization, headed by J. Pierpont Morgan, to buy and build a string of hotels from Boston to San Francisco. Alfred G. Vanderbilt was also interested in the project and at that time owned the New Vanderbilt hotel.

Perfect Pins, Plus

To prevent the bending of eccentric pins during the process of manufacture was the problem put up to Interstate Metallurgists by a certain engine company.

After a careful study of the situation, these Interstate Metallurgists recommended a certain alloy steel which, because of their experience, they knew had the desired qualities. The test of the engine company showed that with this alloy steel, bending was reduced to a negligible minimum.

In addition, the adoption of this Alloy Steel gave them better eccentric pins because of more uniform machinability, more uniform response to heat treatment, greater depth of hardness, 15 per cent higher physical properties and closer control of their product.

The advice of these same steel experts is also available to you.

The largest shipping orders since middle of last March boosted hog prices 10@15c yesterday, top reaching $11.25, with the general average 10c above Saturday and 5c above last Friday at $10.80. Activity featured the trade and only 5,000 were left at the close, with some smaller houses running short. Eight local packers handled a combined total of 27,700, while shippers obtained 11,000 and city butchers 3,000.

The June hog supply is falling short of all expectations. The total for the month at 11 leading centers promises to stand smallest for June since 1917, with only two June totals smaller in over 20 years. Chicago receipts for the month are 111,000 below a year ago, a decrease of 19 per cent.

Additional weakness was noted in the cattle market yesterday good to choice grades of steers sharing in some of the price cuts toward the close, in face of small supplies for this time of the year.

Choice steers and yearlings averaging in loads from 938 lbs., to 1,491 lbs., topped the market at $15.45 late in the day, with bulk of sales at $13.25@15.00, against $14.00@15.25 the previous Monday. About 25c more was added to last week's sharp loss in butcher stock. Calves sold steady. Stockers and feeders were very scarce and steady. Cattle receipts at Chicago this month are running smallest for June since 1912. There have been only two smaller June totals since 1886.

Lambs Decline Again.

Lamb prices were pounded down mostly 25c yesterday, despite the fact that supplies from most points have dropped off abruptly. Most native lambs sold at $13.50@14.25, with western range stock largely at $14.50@14.85, several large bands going over unsold, due to the unsatisfactory condition of the trade.

Fresh lamb is selling slowly and 1c per pound lower than a week ago on the wholesale market and 2c lower than three weeks ago. Feeder lambs sold slowly at little price changes.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 23,000 hogs and 6,000 sheep, against 6,817 cattle, 18,049 hogs and 4,282 sheep, the previous Tuesday and 7,296 cattle, 25,759 hogs and 8,671 sheep a year ago.

SUGAR.

New York, June 24.—(AP)—An advance in the price of refined sugar to five cents a pound, effective tomorrow, was announced today by several leading refiners. The advance was made from 4.85 cents a pound, to which figure it was reduced from five cents last week. The new price applies for immediate 30 day deliveries. The companies announcing the increase were American, Arbuckle and National refining. Prices for the day follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—Cotton textile markets were quiet and firm with print cloths in fair call and some light demand for sheetings as general curtailment among mills loomed for next week. Fine goods markets were moderately busy. Mills were reported operating about 70 per cent of capacity. Spot raw silks were quiet and firmer. Silk fabrics markets were quiet with sales at slight concessions. Burlaps were quiet and firm at the higher prices quoted Saturday.

STEEL OPERATIONS.

Eastern Utilities Investing.

Miss K. W.—Eastern Utilities Investing corporation was incorporated in Delaware Aug. 4, 1922, as Eastern Hydro-Electric corporation. Its name was changed to Pennsylvania Electric corporation in 1924 and subsequently to Eastern Utility Preferred Holding corporation. The present title was adopted July 26, 1927.

The company is engaged in acquiring and holding for long term investments minority securities of public utilities and allied enterprises. The company may also underwrite securities and act as fiscal agent.

Net income of $2,525,585 was reported for 1928, against $2,164,652 for 1927, and $1,397,864 for 1926.

Surplus for 1928 was $1,314,807, against $1,485,487 for 1927, and $741,278 for 1926.

After new financing the balance sheet as of Jan. 31, 1929, showed preferred stocks $32,500,000; common stocks and surplus $12,478,856; funded debt $35,000,000.

The funded debt consists of $35,000,000 5 per cent debentures, dated March 15, 1929, and due March 15, 1954.

These debentures are not secured by mortgage. The corporation, however, will not mortgage or pledge any of its assets without securing this issue equally and ratably, nor may the company assume any additional funded indebtedness unless thereafter total assets equal at least 200 per cent of all funded indebtedness.

Each debenture bears a non-detachable warrant entitling the holder to purchase twenty shares of Class "A" common stock between Dec. 31, 1929, and Dec. 31, 1934, at $15 per share.

Mengel.

S. D. Mengel company resumed for 1928 the upward trend in sales that, except for 1927, had been consistently shown after 1921. An excellent gain is estimated in 1929 first quarter earnings over the corresponding period of 1928, and in unfilled orders on March 31, 1929, over those of a year before.

Net sales for 1928 were $16,383,502, against $12,200,340 in 1927. Net income was $902,753, against $510,184 in 1927.

Earnings on the common in 1928 were $2.78 a share on the basis of 240,000 shares, compared with $4.58 a share on 60,000 shares in 1927.

Profit and loss surplus as of December 31, 1928, was $2,497,776, against $2,002,221 the year before. Working capital at the close of 1928 was $4,658,526, against $5,747,338 the year before.

Earnings for the first quarter of 1928 were equal to $1.24 a share on the basis of 320,000 shares.

Durant Motors, Inc.

A. P. L.—Durant Motors, Inc., operating profit of more than $600,000 after depreciation for last year, compares with an operating loss of nearly $1,500,000 in 1927 and with larger losses in the two years preceding.

Final deficit after extraordinary charges was under $1,000,000 for 1928, against $5,000,000 in 1927.

The balance sheet as of December 31, 1928, showed a total deficit of $12,828,454. No dividends have been reported.

The stock is just a speculation.

Wabash Railway Center of Proposed Group.

believed that the property will be sold to the Wabash on easy terms.

Plans for the uniting of the Wabash with the Lehigh Valley were proposed about a year ago by Leonor F. Loree, but the project was defeated. He sold the stocks of these two roads, which he had acquired, to the Pennsylvania for $63,000,000. The Pennsylvania is now under a Clayton antitrust act citation for its part in this deal.

Opposes Van Sweringens.

The road expects to fight this citation in the courts. Should it be defeated or should its defeat be indicated by the higher courts, the Pennsylvania could, without loss of time, meet the situation by selling its control of the Wabash and Lehigh Valley to the Pennroad corporation.

At the time the Pennroad corporation was formed, the Pennsylvania intimated that it had no "present" intention of disposing of its interests in the Wabash and the Lehigh Valley to the new organization. By starting a fifth trunk line plan the Pennsylvania-controlled Wabash is putting in its oar to upset the merger plans of the Baltimore and Ohio and of the Van Sweringens. Thus the step is said to be in complete harmony with the efforts of the Pennsylvania to oppose the ambitions of its rivals.

RAILWAY ASKS I. C. C. FOR LOWER FREIGHT RATES

S. P. Line Would Offer Competition.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—An application by the Southern Pacific railroad to lower freight rates in order that its Sunset-Gulf water-rail route may compete with steamship lines running from New York to San Francisco by way of the Panama canal, come up for a hearing before the interstate commerce commission in the Hotel St. George, Brooklyn, today.

William A. Disquo, an attorney examiner, represented the interstate commerce commission. W. A. Worthington, vice president of the Southern Pacific, was cross-examined by attorneys opposing the rate reduction on matters brought up at previous hearings in Phoenix, Ariz., Los Angeles, and Galveston.

Source of Opposition.

Opposition to the lower rates comes from the Intermediate Rate association, an organization representing shippers, state commissions, and traffic organizations in eleven western states, and from about a score of steamship lines plying between Atlantic ports and San Francisco by an all water route.

The Intermediate Rate association objects on the grounds of different rates charged for long and short hauls. The steamship lines, according to Frank Lyon, attorney for the Luckenbach Steamship company and others, contend that the low rates asked for by the Southern Pacific, would, in time, take so much of the transcontinental freight shipping as to "paralyze" their business.

Mr. Worthington told the Examiner that the Sunset-Gulf route, employing water transportation to Galveston, Tex., and rail transportation from Galveston to San Francisco, was organized in 1878 to gain some of the transcontinental freight business and that in 1895 about seventy per cent of that type of shipping went by that route. According to testimony presented at earlier hearings the Southern Pacific's share of this shipping had sunk to only 5,599 tons in 1928.

Business at Stake.

The amount of business at stake, according to Mr. Lyon is some $30,000,000, representing about 3,000,000 tons of intercoastal shipping now going by way of the Panama canal. The Southern Pacific asserts that it is entitled to lower rates to compete with the all water route and regain the amount of intercoastal business said to have gone by its own water rail route before the opening of the Panama canal.

The railroad rates now in force are far in excess of those charged by the steamship companies, the exhibits placed before the examiner showed. The Southern Pacific asks rates which it claims are only slightly in excess of those charged by the ship companies with the privilege of further reducing these rates 10 per cent without further application to the interstate commission if it is deemed necessary.

Mr. Walter S. Wyman, President of New England Public Service Company, summarizes from his letter to us as follows:

COMPANY: New England Public Service Company, a Maine corporation, owns all of the Common Stock of the Public Service Company of New Hampshire, the largest public utility in that State, Bradford Electric Light Company, Inc., Middlebury Electric Company, Windsor Electric Light Company, Swans Falls Company and Public Service Corporation of Vermont. In addition, the Company owns over 99½% of the Common Stock of the Central Maine Power Company, of the Cumberland County Power and Light Company, and of the National Light, Heat and Power Company. Through the latter company it controls over 99% of the Common Stock of the Rutland Railway Light and Power Company and through ownership of the entire Common Stock, the Twin State Gas & Electric Company, Berwick & Salmon Falls Electric Company, Vermont Hydro-Electric Corporation, and Pittsford Power Company.

The operating companies with their subsidiaries serve at retail a total of 553 thriving industrial and farming communities having an estimated combined population of 941,810 in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, and New York. There are 106 additional communities served by these companies under wholesale contracts with other utility companies.

BUSINESS: An important part of the vast water-power resources of northern New England is controlled by the operating subsidiaries of the Company. Plants of its subsidiaries have a generating capacity of 204,501 K. W., of which over 69% is hydro-electric, while the ultimate output of the water-power sites controlled, but as yet undeveloped, is estimated to be several times that of existing stations. The strategic location of these properties offers advantageous possibilities for further development and interconnection. During the year ended December 31, 1928, 69.16% of the consolidated gross revenue was derived from the sale of electricity, 10.62% from transportation services, 5.52% from manufactured gas, and 14.70% from merchandise sales and miscellaneous sources.

CAPITALIZATION

On completion of this financing the capitalization of New England Public Service Company will be as follows:

| | Authorized | Outstanding |
|---|---|---|
| Preferred Stock—No Par Value | 200,000 shares | |
| $7.00 Dividend Series | | 46,821 shares |
| $7.00 Dividend Adjustment Series | | 1,783 shares |
| $6.00 Dividend Series | | 70,000 shares* |
| $6.00 Convertible Preferred Stock (this issue) | 40,000 shares | 40,000 shares |
| Common Stock—No Par Value | 1,250,000 shares | 797,178 shares |

*Not including 40,000 shares reserved for conversion of 40,000 shares $6.00 Convertible Preferred Stock.

EARNINGS: For the year ended April 30, 1929, the earnings available for dividends on all classes of Preferred Stock and Convertible Preferred Stock, after a depreciation charge of $1,510,133 and all prior deductions, were $2,518,933, or over 2.51 times the maximum annual dividend requirements on the total amount of Preferred Stock and Convertible Preferred Stock outstanding.

EQUITY: The Company has no funded debt. The 797,178 shares of Common Stock representing the equity junior to the Preferred Stock, are paying regular dividends at the rate of 90c per share per annum. They were issued in exchange for stocks of subsidiaries or for cash and based on current market quotations have a value in excess of $25,000,000.

MANAGEMENT: This corporation is a part of the Middle West Utilities system. The management is in the hands of experienced public utility men whose ability as economical and efficient operators has been thoroughly demonstrated.

Legal matters in connection with the issuance of this stock will be passed upon by Messrs. Seibert & Riggs of New York City. This stock is offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to prior sale and change in price subject to approval of counsel.

Price $97.00 per share and accrued dividends to yield over 6.18%

SPECTACULAR RISES FEATURE CHICAGO STOCKS

Public Service, Auburn Auto Make Big Gains.

Spectacular rises by Public Service of Northern Illinois and Auburn Auto were the features of Chicago stock trading yesterday. Otherwise the market was irregular. An increasing call money rate, which rose from 7 to 10 per cent with the mid-year demand for commercial credit, lessened the buoyancy with which the market opened.

The rise of Public Service follows the announcement several days ago of a large melon to be divided among the stockholders later in the year. According to plans stockholders will be offered rights to purchase one share at $100 for each six now held. Based on the closing price of 285, at which the stock closed yesterday, rights are worth approximately $26 on each share now held.

Other Utilities Strong.

Other utility stocks continued strong. Middle West Utilities touched a new high at 205½, but later slipped back and closed at 201, with a net gain of 3 for the day. The 7 per cent preferred stock was up 2 points. Central and Southwest Utilities netted 1½ points, while Commonwealth Edison dropped 1¾. Insull Utility preferred dropped 5 points in light trading.

In the general list gains were made by Gleaner Combine Harvester, Jefferson Electric, and Morrell & Co. Gleaner was up 4½. Jefferson Electric gained 3, and Morrell closed 3 points higher. Keystone Steel, Super Maid, and Associated Apparel Industries were off from one to three points.

Radio stocks were generally lower although Atlas Stores chalked up a gain of 2 points and closed at 42½. Grigsby-Grunow lost 3; Raytheon was down 3½, and United States Radio was off 2½.

Expands Production.

Prices of automotive issues with the exception of Auburn moved within a narrow range. Muskegon Motor was up following the news of plans for the increasing of the company's production facilities. Expansion of production capacity by approximately 50 per cent has been authorized by the board of directors. The move was brought about by the report of the management announcing that both of the Muskegon plants of the firm were behind in their production schedule and prospects of summer business required additional facilities. Bendix was off fractionally and Modine finished 1½ higher.

It is reported that Allied Motor Industries is about to add American Cirrus Engines, Inc., to the group of companies which it now controls through stock ownership. The report, which has bobbed up before, claimed a new lease on life yesterday when another story was circulated to the effect stockholders of Allied Motors and its subsidiaries, Great Lakes Aircraft and Van Sicklen corporation, were to be given an opportunity to purchase shares of American Cirrus at a ratio based on the number of shares now held. American Cirrus has a plant at Belleville, N. J.

Gardner Denver company announces that an increase in new orders of 20 per cent in the last few weeks has caused the firm to step up production in its Denver and Quincy plants. The company manufactures air compressors, slush pumps and rock drills.

ON FOREIGN BOURSES.

RECAPITALIZATION OF INTERN. MERCANTILE MARINE IS APPROVED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—Stockholders of the International Mercantile Marine company today approved the recapitalization plan proposed by P. A. S. Franklin, president, thus ending prolonged differences of opinion as to new financial adjustments for the company. There were 395,331 preferred shares and 335,867 common shares voted in favor of recapitalization and 318 shares of each class in opposition.

The plan was proposed some time ago, following a permanent injunction by the New Jersey courts against the first recapitalization program.

Under the plan holders of $100 par preferred stock will receive $20 in cash in lieu of the accumulated dividends in addition to one share of new no par common stock for each share of preferred stock held. Common stock holders will receive one-fifth share of new no par common stock for each share of $100 par common held.

This will replace International's present outstanding capitalization of $101,596,800, represented by 517,720 shares of $100 par preferred stock and 498,718 shares of $100 par common stock with 616,994 shares of new no par common stock, which will be carried in the company's balance sheet at $30,000,000.

Mr. Franklin, in answer to stockholders' question concerning the trans-Atlantic situation, said that the freight line was doing better than last year, but was not making money. He said the freight situation was not good.

ADVANCE IN CALL MONEY IS SIGNAL FOR CURB SALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—A rise in call money rates proved a signal for a selling movement by profit takers and bears, thus checking the advance of the utilities and other issues on the curb exchange today. It started out as a strong session, with such leaders as American Superpower and United Gas Improvement making new highs in the early trading, but weakened into a highly irregular market.

The selling canceled the early gains of Electric Bond and Share, American Superpower, Niagara Hudson Power, and other gainers on the large orders accumulated over the week-end. Fokker and Keystone Aircraft also retreated before the selling after starting upward around the opening.

Central States Electric, which recently declared a 200 per cent stock dividend, was conspicuous for the progress it continued to make in spite of the selling. Both the old and new shares extended their gains to new highs of 145 and 49 respectively. Middlewest Utilities, which went to 206 for a 6 point rise before it fell back 1⅛ to close at 203⅞, Pennsylvania Water and Power and Italian Superpower also were strong. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, hit by the early selling wave, retraced its ground.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Formation of the Credit Foncier International, Inc., under the laws of Delaware, to operate as an international clearing house and coöperative mortgage loan company is announced. Offering of 20,000 units consisting of one share of 7 per cent cumulative first preferred stock, par value $50, and one share of no par common stock, will shortly be made.

Offering is being made of $40,000,000 Shell Union Oil corporation 5½ per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock by a banking syndicate headed by Lee, Higginson & Co. at 98. Proceeds will be used in connection with the acquisition of the New Orleans Refining Co., Inc. and for other corporate purposes. This stock is convertible at its par value of $100 into common stock of the corporation at the rate of $30 per share at any time before July 1 1932 and at $35 per share until July 1, 1935.

Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., Chase Securities corporation, Bancamerica-Blair corporation, and Brown Brothers & Co. are to offer today an additional issue of $4,000,000 five per cent first mortgage bonds, series A, of El Paso Electric company. The bonds are priced at 95 and accrued interest to yield 5.40 per cent.

Offering of 57,500 shares of common stock of the Detroit Gasket and Manufacturing company is to be made today at $20 a share by Wm. I. Davis and Co. The company, which is one of the largest manufacturers of nonmetallic gaskets in the United States, has outstanding 143,750 shares of common stock as the only capital liability.

Initial financing for the Wall Street Trading corporation, an investment trust recently formed with an authorized capital of 25,000 shares of $50 par value 6 per cent convertible preferred stock and 50,000 shares of common stock without par value, will be carried out this week by W. W. Snyder & Co. The offering will consist of all the authorized preferred and half the common stock.

B. C. Cobb has been elected president of the Penn-Ohio Edison company, succeeding R. P. Stevens, who resigned to become president of Niagara Hudson Power corporation. Other officers elected were T. A. Kenney, vice president; H. G. Kessler, controller; and E. E. Nelson, secretary.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Boston and Maine railroad has bought 1,000 new freight cars to be delivered for service in time for the peak traffic period this fall. They will cost over $2,000,000; but, under an arrangement new to eastern railroads, the Boston and Maine will pay the builders only on the same basis that it would pay "per diem" rental for cars of other railroads.

An Erie special, made up of twelve Pullmans, two diners and club observation car, carrying more than 200 New York representatives of the Majestic Radio company, left Jersey City Sunday at 10 a. m. on a tour, with Chicago as its destination.

One Tri-Motored Plane Per Day Is Ford Plan

First Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series A, 5%

Dated June 1, 1925
Due June 1, 1950

Interest payable December 1 and June 1, in Boston, New York and Chicago. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000 and $500, registerable as to principal only. Callable on 30 days' notice as a whole at any time before maturity, or in part on any interest payment date, at 105 through December 1, 1930, decreasing 1% at four year intervals through December 1, 1946, and then decreasing ¼% each year through December 1, 1949, thereafter at par, in each case with accrued interest. Interest payable without deduction for Normal Federal Income Tax up to 2%. Pennsylvania personal property tax, on proper application, refunded up to 4 mills. State Street Trust Company, Boston, Trustee.

The El Paso Electric Company furnishes the entire electric light and power service in El Paso, Fort Bliss, Canutillo, Vinton, LaTuna, Ysleta, San Elizario, Clint, Fabens, Tornillo, Acala, Alamo Alto, Fort Hancock, McNary, Sierra Blanca and Van Horn, Texas and the rural sections along its transmission lines which extend a distance of approximately 150 miles along the Rio Grande. It wholesales electric energy to the El Paso and Juarez Traction Company which does the entire electric light and power business in Juarez, Mexico, and also to the Mesilla Valley Electric Company, which serves Las Cruces, Mesilla Park, Anthony, La Union, Chamberino, Berino, La Messa, Vado, Mesquite, Picacho, Dona Ana, Hill, Hatch, and Rincon, New Mexico. The Company provides transportation service in El Paso and in conjunction with the El Paso and Juarez Traction Company, an affiliated corporation, owns and operates two international toll bridges across the Rio Grande, connecting El Paso and Juarez, Mexico. The population served by the Company and its affiliated companies is in excess of 160,000.

The transmission and distribution lines of the Company extend over 420 miles. The transportation system includes 39 miles of equivalent single track, 78 rail cars, 7 buses and one-half of the international toll bridges. Electric energy is provided for the operation of these properties by generating stations having a capacity of 42,500 horsepower. The normal load growth in the territory and additional loads now under contract make necessary a substantial addition to the power capacity which is being provided by a new station so advantageously located that it ultimately can be expanded to a total of 200,000 kilowatts.

The proceeds from the sale of this issue of Bonds will be used to retire the present floating debt of the Company and to finance the major portion of the Company's construction program, the principal items of which are the construction of the new power station with its connecting transmission system, installation of equipment in the present power station for the utilization of natural gas as fuel, and the construction of a new international bridge.

These Bonds, together with the Series A Bonds heretofore issued, making the amount presently to be outstanding $8,000,000, constitute the Company's only funded debt, and will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all of the fixed public utility property, together with franchise rights and permits in connection therewith, now owned by the Company (except a fifty acre tract of unimproved land recently acquired by the Company, not now being used as a basis for the issue of bonds), and by a direct lien on all fixed public utility property hereafter acquired, all as provided in the Indenture.

Net Earnings before Federal Income Taxes, Provision for Retirements, etc. for the twelve months ending May 31, 1929, were $1,316,344 or over 3.29 times Annual Interest Requirements on Company's total funded debt, including this issue. The balance of such net earnings remaining after deduction of such interest requirements was equivalent to over 30% of gross earnings.

All of the Common Stock of El Paso Electric Company (Texas), (except Directors' qualifying shares) is owned by El Paso Electric Company (Delaware), a subsidiary of Engineers Public Service Company. Subject to the direction and control of its Board of Directors, the Company is operated under the supervision of Stone & Webster, Inc.

Legal matters relating to the issue of these Bonds are being passed upon by Messrs. Rushmore, Bisbee & Stern, New York, and as to titles, franchises and conformity with local laws, by Messrs. Baker, Botts, Parker & Garwood, Houston, Texas.

We offer these Bonds when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to approval of Counsel.

WHEAT VALUES FORGE AHEAD TO NEW GROUND

Oats and Rye Gain; Corn Prices Decline.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat values forged ahead into new ground on the present movement, at the top showing 3c over Saturday's finish and 20¾@21¾c above the inside figures of the season made about three weeks ago. Torrential rains in parts of Kansas, with over 6 inches reported at one point, with frost and drought talk from the American and Canadian northwest was responsible for heavy buying which absorbed immense profit taking sales, and lifted the July to $1.16¾. The best figures were not maintained, but the close was at a net gain of 1⅛c with July, $1.14⅞@1.15; September, $1.19¾@1.19⅞, and December, $1.24⅞@1.25.

December corn sold up to 91⅝@91¾c early, a new high for the season on buying induced by the strength in wheat, and that the crop was late over a wide area, but eased toward the last and the close was unchanged to ½c lower, with July leading the decline. The finish on the latter was at 92⅝; September, 93½@93⅝, and December, 90@90⅛. Oats were ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower with July 44⅜c; September, 44¼@44⅜, and December, 47c. Rye gained ⅝@1¼c higher with July, 88¼c; September, 92¼c, and December, 97¼c.

Spring Wheat Damaged.

Damage reports have started to come from the spring wheat territory both sides of the international line, and the effect of the lack of subsoil moisture is very apparent in some sections. This is especially true in areas where there have been no showers during the last week, and the forecast was for generally clear and warmer. Heavy rains in the southwest are expected to result in further losses, as there have been many reports of late of the straw being weak, and much lodging is feared. One point in Alberta reported a temperature of 26, with 6 degrees of frost.

Winnipeg showed more strength than Chicago and, while failing to hold the best price, wheat there closed 2⅝@2⅞c higher. Liverpool paid considerable attention to the unfavorable North American prospects, and closed equal to 4@4¼c higher, while Buenos Aires was up sharply, with August 4¼c higher at midday. Export demand at the seaboard was slow, with no sales reported, but Europe was said to have purchased around 1,000,000 bu Argentine grain during the day.

Selling of wheat futures here was headed by commission houses, part of whom were free buyers last week, but there was persistent buying by other houses, and local sentiment generally was distinctly bullish.

Corn Closes Easy.

Corn traders are by no means unanimously bullish and while reports told of the crop being decidedly later over a large area, long grain came out freely on the bulges, and the undertone was easy at the last. Country offerings to arrive were fair with purchases of 33,000 bu made by local handlers, while the eastern demand was less aggressive than of late with sales of 77,000 bu. An increase of 430,000 bu in the visible supply had some effect, with the total 12,058,000 bu, against 18,376,000 bu last year.

Oats were moderately active within a range of around ½c with houses with northwestern connections selling July and December, while cash interests took the July. More attention is being given to the rye market, and there was buying during the day by commission houses and foreigners. Selling of rye against purchases of corn to close spreads furnished a good part of the offerings.

CURED PRODUCT FIRMER

Strength in the grain markets brought in fair commission house buying of lard, and while there was scattered liquidation in the July and packers sold October as a hedge against the cash article the undertone was firm and the close was unchanged to 5c higher. Clear bellies were dull and closed unchanged to 5c lower, while ribs were neglected, but nominally 5@7½c higher. Cash demand was rather quiet, but the undertone firm. Liverpool spot lard closed 3c higher with futures unchanged. Hogs were mostly 10c higher despite western receipts exceeding those of a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

LONGS SELL JULY COTTON

Liquidation by longs in July cotton, who were reducing lines, as today will be the first delivery day, gave the nearby month a weak undertone yesterday, but the deferred futures were stronger due to rains over part of the belt, and the forecast was for rain over the greater part of the belt. Liverpool came better than due and had some effect on values. With deliveries out of the way, traders feel that the market will fluctuate in a more normal manner. Closing trades in Chicago were 9 points lower to 13 points higher; New Orleans, 1 point lower to 10 points higher, and New York, unchanged to 11 points higher. Prices follow:

WHY have it at all?

This part of a building is called a monitor. It adds to the cost of a building, and adds nothing to its effectiveness. It is supposed to ventilate ... but it actually hinders the natural ventilation in a building, except under one certain wind direction. It is supposed to daylight the building ... but it really is one of the least efficient ways to get daylight into an interior.

Do you want to know the real effect of a monitor? We will demonstrate it with an ingenious machine right on your desk. Just mail the coupon. No cost no obligation.

ERECT $300,000 STRUCTURE AT CLARK-WILSON

Will Contain 45 Flats and 10 Stores.

Construction is now under way on a three story apartment and store building at the southwest corner of Wilson avenue and Clark street, which, with the land, it is stated will represent an investment of approximately $300,000. The structure will replace an old landmark of Ravenswood—a building that in the day before prohibition housed one of the few saloons in the immediate vicinity.

C. J. and R. H. Johnson designed the building which will contain forty-five one and two room kitchenette apartments, six offices, ten stores, and an automobile showroom. The lot is iregular in shape, fronting forty-two feet on Wilson, 268 feet on Clark and 125 feet along the south line. John and Katherine Issel are the owners. Stanley C. Chadwick & Co., have the general contract.

Callner Makes Loan.

Milton H. Callner has given a trust deed to the Central Trust company to secure a loan of $200,000 for three years at seven per cent on the vacant property extending along the east side of Sheridan road, between Surf street and Oakdale avenue. The Greenebaum Sons Investment company has underwritten the mortgage.

Bertie E. Kingsley has purchased from Natalie and Frank Heenan and Louise and James McCarthy the thirty-six flats and seven stores at the northeast corner of Kedzie and Wilson, lot 106x125 feet, for a reported $240,000, subject to $186,000. Mr. Kingsley gave in part payment thirty-eight lots in the southwest section of Chicago Heights, situated along Peoria, Sangamon, Morgan and 35th on which it is proposed to erect bungalows at a later date. Barry & Boyle were brokers. Charles E. Seleck was attorney.

Buys Parcel on Belmont.

Charles Oliff and Joseph S. Simon transferred title to the property at 929 Belmont avenue to Thomas E. McElroy and the latter in turn passed the title to Patrick J. Hursen. The land, 50x157 feet, is improved with a two story building in which the lower floor is used by Mr. Hursen for one of his undertaking establishments.

The Walgreen Company has leased the corner store, 30x70 feet, in the building at the northwest corner of Madison street and Central avenue from Max Clamitz for ten years from Oct. 1. After alterations on the building, the Walgreen company will open a drug store. The lease was made on a percentage basis, with a minimum guarantee. Newman Realty Associates, Inc., was broker.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—SILK—Raw, futures closed steady; sales, 140 bales. July, $4.80; September, $4.76; December, 4.74. Open market quotations [60 day basis]. Shanghai steam extra B, $4.85; Canton double extra A 14-16, $3.75; Japanese crack double extra, $4.92.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The recession in wheat values from the extreme top was regarded as a natural reaction in a bull market by a majority of local operators, and sentiment remained decidedly bullish, and unless there is rain in the immediate future over the spring wheat territory a materially higher level is expected to be witnessed. Weather markets are notoriously erratic, and a sharp decline would probably be seen in case of rain. Owing to the lack of subsoil moisture persistent rains will be necessary to secure a good crop. It is pointed out that even with a normal yield per acre Canada would hardly harvest in excess of 450,000,000 bu, compared with 534,000,000 bu secured last year, the return per acre in 1928 being 3.2 bu above the 1922-'26 average.

◆

B. W. Snow, after a 350 mile trip over northern Illinois, says corn crop in that territory is 10 days late, very uneven and stand much below normal. All reports indicate that corn crop south of Decatur, Ill., is in poorer shape than territory he visited, so that crop for the state as a whole must be regarded as decidedly unpromising and already late enough to create doubt about its ability to catch up.

◆

Pit observers said that public interest in the wheat market here and at Winnipeg yesterday was the largest in many weeks, which [illegible] the excellent absorption of the [illegible] profit taking sales by local [illegible] houses with eastern connections.

◆

Rye traders say they see evidence of increased outside interest in that grain. Crop comments from North Dakota, which raises a good part of the commercial grain of the country, are unfavorable, and, as some operators put it, there would not have to be very much deterioration to reduce the yield to a point where there would be comparatively little grain available for export.

CHICAGO EMPLOYERS ARE GIVING THE TRIBUNE 85% MORE HELP WANTED ADVERTISING THAN THEY GIVE ALL OTHER CHICAGO NEWSPAPERS COMBINED!

WITH the beginning of this year and its accelerated production, Chicago employers added new men and women rapidly to their organizations. They advertised for their help—and they concentrated 85% more of that advertising in the Tribune than they gave to all the other Chicago newspapers combined!

Experience led them to use the Tribune. They'd found that it could bring them any type of worker they needed—and as many as they needed. It could do their "Help Wanted" job better than any other means of advertising available.

You can use Tribune Help Wanted advertising to the same advantage! Whatever employes you may need, Tribune Want Ads can supply them! Get the best results from your Help Wanted advertising by placing it in the

THE Fixed Investment Trust we strongly recommend is founded upon common stocks of the 31 dominant Standard Oil companies. The lowest aggregate annual yield of these companies since their inception was 8.6%.

FOR the prudent investor who seeks safety, marketability together with more than ordinary yield, we have prepared interesting literature which clearly presents this exceptional offering. Your inquiry cordially solicited.

How to Invest $1,000 to Net $60 a Year

"I HAVE $1,000 to invest. What kind of securities shall I purchase? What is best suited to my needs? What will give me safety, good yield and other qualities which meet my own particular requirements?" Such are the thoughts of many investors today as the July investment period approaches.

The July offerings of S. W. STRAUS & CO. furnish the answer to all such questions.

Our list is widely diversified and includes first mortgage real estate bonds in which $1,000 may be invested to net $60 a year—$10,000 to net $600. It includes also public utilities, railroads, municipals, industrials and foreign bonds, with a yield ranging from about 4% to 7.35%, and high grade investment stocks.

To any investor who is interested we will send our list of offerings, together with our booklet, "How to Invest Money." Thousands have read this booklet, now in its second edition, and have found it an invaluable guide. Indicate what type of securities you are most interested in and specify

BUSINESS: The Shell Union Oil Corporation, organized in 1922 as a consolidation of substantially the entire Royal Dutch-Shell and Union Oil Company of Delaware interests in the Mid-Continent and California fields, with additions since that time including new refineries and pipe lines and extension of its distributing system is, through its subsidiary companies, one of the largest producing, refining and marketing companies in the oil industry of the United States. Sales in 1928 were in excess of $179,000,000.

PROPERTIES: Through its subsidiary companies, Shell Union Oil Corporation owns and operates oil properties having a net daily production of approximately 124,000 barrels, and in 1928 a net annual production of 47,788,000 barrels; has refineries in California, in the Houston and New Orleans districts on the Gulf coast, in the Mid-Continent field, at Wood River near St. Louis and at East Chicago, with a combined capacity of 240,000 barrels of crude petroleum a day and with a total intake of 53,536,000 barrels during the past year; owns or controls trunk and main pipe lines aggregating 3,085 miles; and has concrete and steel storage capacity together amounting to more than 28,000,000 barrels.

ASSETS: Net assets based on consolidated balance sheet as at March 31, 1929 giving effect to this financing, after deducting all liabilities other than capital stock, were $306,796,226, equal to $766 per share of this 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock. Total current assets of $118,061,558 are more than 4¾ times total current liabilities of $24,620,136.

EARNINGS: For the year ended December 31, 1928, consolidated net profits, after Federal Income Taxes, available for dividends, were $20,395,021 or more than 9.2 times the $2,200,000 annual dividend requirement on total 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock to be outstanding upon completion of this financing. For the 7 years since organization, such average annual consolidated net profits, available for dividends, were $18,384,729 or more than 8.3 times this requirement. For the 6 months ended June 30, 1929, consolidated net profits, partly estimated, are in excess of those for the corresponding period of 1928.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Proceeds of this issue will reimburse treasury of Corporation for expenditures in the purchase of New Orleans Refining Co., Inc., and acquisition of assets now owned by Shell Eastern Petroleum Products, Inc. operating on Atlantic seaboard, and will provide funds for additions to and development of Corporation's properties, more particularly its marketing facilities, and for general corporate purposes.

EQUITY: Common Stock of the Corporation, following this $40,000,000 par value 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock, represents at present quotations an indicated market equity valuation of more than $345,000,000.

No preferred stock having priority over this 5½% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock nor any additional shares of this Stock may be issued without the vote or consent of 75% of this Stock then outstanding. Except as aforesaid, additional shares of preferred stock ranking equally with this Stock may be issued, subject to restrictions contained in the amendment of the Certificate of Incorporation under which this Stock is issued, which together with provision for sinking fund beginning July 2, 1935 and provisions defining the limitation of its voting power and stating its rights and preferences, are described in a circular, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned.

Stock offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel. It is expected that temporary stock certificates will be ready for delivery on or about July 10, 1929.

MONEY PINCH SUBDUES WALL STREET PRICES

host of forenoon favorites wound up on the minus side of the list.

Bidding for new credit accommodations forced the call rate from a renewal level of 7 per cent to 10 per cent, with the demand reported brisk on the outside at twelve. This is the highest level reached by the demand rate since May 17, and as close to $1,000,000,000 must be paid out in corporation dividends and interest within the next fortnight, market experts do not anticipate any radical easement of the conditions for some time to come.

Comes as Surprise.

Today's boost was as surprising as it was sharp. Few expected the mid year stringency to begin to develop before later in the week and there were those who had lulled themselves into the belief that it might not come at all.

Buying was quite spirited in various directions in the early trading before money began to tighten, and substantial gains were registered in any number of active stocks. The aviation issues were conspicuously buoyant on talk of a merger between Curtiss and Wright but the group as a whole receded toward the last. United Aircraft was particularly weak.

A perpendicular rise of some 25 points in Auburn Auto was the sensation of the motors group. Not all of the advance was held, but the stock at its top level showed an appreciation of more than 111 points from the low of 221 established shortly after it had moved over to the big board from the curb. It is reported that the company is preparing to bring out a new car in which a number of revolutionary changes may be looked for.

Whittle Down Supply.

The capitalization of the corporation is small and the floating supply of stock whittled down to limited proportions—which makes it move in a hurry when a demand develops. The street has been regaled for some time with talk of a banner year for the company if earnings hold out at the present rate.

So called hot weather shares, such as Coca-Cola, Shattuck, National Dairy Products, and Canada Dry did well, but suffered from profit taking with the rest of the market in the afternoon.

The public utilities were less active and inclined to slide off under heavy realizing. American Foreign Power, American Power and Light, Consolidated Gas, and Public Service of New Jersey were among the recent favorites to retreat in the face of steady selling.

Steel in Demand.

The rails were quiet following initial upturns in New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake and Ohio, and some of the others. Steel was in good demand on a discussion of the possibility of more dividends as a result of record-breaking earnings for the first six months of the year, but profit taking cut down its showing before the final gong.

One explanation advanced in banking circles for the sudden rise in call money was that it was window dressing on the part of corporations preparatory to issuing their semiannual statements. It is a little early, it was remarked, for the banks themselves to be accumulating cash in preparation for a good showing on the occasion of the forthcoming bank call, due at the end of this month. Corporations which wish to show heavy cash balances, however, might start at this date to retire call loans in this market. The funds so withdrawn from the market would go into bank deposits, thus increasing reserve requirements and exercising a firming influence upon money rates.

Characteristic Stunt.

Adams Express performed one of its characteristic "stunts" by shooting up for thirty-five points, and Allis Chalmers continued its remarkable advance. American Can was active and climbed almost to its previous high. There was little interest in the oils and the finish found most of the leaders at a lower level.

Talk of favorable dividend action at this week's meeting of Anaconda Copper company directors stimulated interest in the copper stocks in the early trading, but they, too, sold off in the afternoon. Anaconda was down more than 2 points at the close. Followers of the red metal shares generally expect business to pick up in July.

A. A. AVERILL ESCAPES DEATH IN AUTO WRECK

Tire Blows at Dangerous Crossing as Well-known Actor Speeds to Theatre Engagement

Sarano, Mich., Nov. 1.—A. A. Averill, the well-known actor who appeared in the benefit performance of Leaves of Grass at the Apollo Theater last night, narrowly escaped serious injury on his way to the performance. Mr. Averill had been delayed at a special dinner given in his honor by the Theatrical Society and was speeding to the theatre when a front tire blew at the corner of C. Street, throwing the car into a construction excavation. The car was wrecked but fortunately Mr. Averill and the other occupants escaped unhurt. Although Mr. Averill admitted at the theatre that he had received a serious mental shock he was able to

Do YOU ride on RISK or SAFETY?

Does the fear of an accident due to tire failure ever sit beside you at the wheel? That is one risk you can avoid. Banish it. Know that your tires are safe. For the sake of everyone in your car avoid even the one-out-of-a-thousand chance of tire failure in a crisis.

Think of this when you buy your next tire: The few dollars you can save in buying a "bargain" tire is only an investment in risk. The few dollars more you spend for a Hood Tire is an investment in safety.

Buy the tire with the known inbuilt extra margin of safety—the Hood. Mileage you want, of course. Hood Tires will match any mileage on the road and more. Freedom from tire trouble on the road you want. This is certainty with Hood Tires which are engineered to specifications that go far beyond the demands made upon tires by the severe grinding strains and wear of modern motoring.

Come in and let the Hood dealer tell you about the Hood standard of tire construction. Let him demonstrate why the White Arrow is the one thing you should look for in buying a tire, and why it assures you the extra margin of safety you must have to drive in comfort today.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is shocked by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post, Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctors' colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony, Rex, Joy and Percival Arthur go to the south of France. Joy enjoys keeping house and Percival Arthur has the time of his life. Joy and Rex become interested in each other. Then the Fords, Geoffrey and his mother, appear on the scene.

INSTALLMENT L.

THE LITTLE PRUDE.

Mrs. Ford's voice lost some of its pathos as she said to Geoffrey, "I've had at least—at least ten years more good time than most women. After all, I ought to be able to retire in good order, and let my hair go, and wear gentler clothes, and prepare to—to—to be a nice little granny to your babies——"

"I shouldn't worry about those, my dear. It would not amaze me if the gifted author of 'The Trap' lived up to his theories and continued for the rest of time to make his bachelor home with that marvelous little mother whom everybody takes for his sister."

Being himself, however, could he help feeling less unhappy than vividly interested in himself and his friends alike? How could he help appreciating the simmering curiosity, the atmosphere of human drama which had surrounded both his mother and him since their afternoon at Mon Plaisir? Being that amphibious creature, an author, he could as soon stop breathing as he could cease to enjoy living in his two elements—the subjective, the objective. And [even while he smiled inwardly. "What a deplorable lot of pure fake we take out of our own books to carry over into our own lives!"] he sighed again, raised his dark brows, and asked his mother—"After all, who is so staggeringly happy?"

Certainly not Travers, if he had known it! Joy, too, meanwhile was footing a bill presented by that invisible waiter for any pleasure she might have taken in trying to exasperate Rex she now paid by living at Mon Plaisir with an utter stranger.

He was polite and pleasant when they met at meals; quite conversational about any new arrivals he had encountered, any gayeties in the place. He asked her if she would mind coming to his study, where he dictated letters to her for half an hour at the end of which Joy asked herself, "Are we still in Harley street before the move? Has all that other been a dream?" He said "Good morning!" he said "Goodnight, Joy," in precisely the same manner as he had once said, "O, good afternoon, Miss Harrison." Further—and either this had not happened in the Miss Harrison days, or if it had, Joy would not have noticed it—he and she were always standing at opposite ends of the room to each other. Always the width of the room or the length of the balcony between them now! This, literally. Metaphorically a distance incalculably greater divided these two who ought to have been in each other's arms.

This defeated the girl Joy, who, though her young prettiness might have drawn any man's eyes, was not man experienced. Her first love was the only one of his sex about whom she could supply data. In Geoffrey Ford she had met man, the artist, man temperamental, man flattering, man amused, man in tender mood, man artistically creative, man petulant and so childishly unreasonable that it had left Joy with a habit of rebuking Rex's nephew when he was in an obstreperous mood in the words: "Come, don't be idiotic, Percival Arthur; really you are behaving just like a grown up man!"

But she had never before met man, hundred per cent man retired into himself and choosing to absorb himself in his job so that a fireproof curtain was dropped between him and anything that the adjacent woman might do, say, look.

"I only wanted to know if you wanted me about those articles you said you had to do for that new medical journal?"

"O, thank you. Presently I should be very glad if you would be good enough to re-type my rough drafts; but I shall not have those ready for some days yet."

"I see. I have done the one you gave me; so you wouldn't mind if I went out again this afternoon?"

"O, certainly not! Go out by all means."

"Thanks so much."

She put on a fresh frock, and descended to the warmth and buzz of the plage. Beside her skipped the attendant Eros in bathing costume, Percival Arthur, who since that aquarium encounter had seemed loath to let Joy out of his sight alone.

The usual chorus of shrieks greeted "Parsifal!"—"Tou-tou!" The usual bouquet of young hands to be wrung was stretched out to the pair, and the babble enveloped them. "Toutou, my brother is gone to bring out the motor boat and——"

"—we are going to make the skis d'eau! Come Toutou——"

"—Toutou comes with us?"

But the boy turned a deaf ear to this temptation and sidled along through the ever basking groups beside Joy, exchanging greetings in three languages until they met their friends the little French baroness and her brother, who stopped and proposed a drive to see this concours at the Cap d'Antibes.

"O, well! If you are going with them!" exclaimed Percival Arthur, as one who is relieved from mounting guard. "I did rather want to go aquaplaning with those people."

Presently a tiny white motor boat was whizzing across the bay, pursued at about fifty foot distance by a cloud of foam, out of which showed glimpses of a laughing brown boy face, a slim wet body balancing on the flying surf board. Almost as swiftly, the count's car was whizzing along the dust white road, taking Joy and her friends to watch that competition organized at the Cap d'Antibes to reward the bather who could boast of the finest coat of sunburn.

"Jean should have entered for this prize," declared the Baroness Alberte. Critically her blue eyes roved over the display of sun-browned skins in the minimum of colored bathing attire, into which there had flowered the entire promontory of the Eden Rock. "Already he is dark, and during this summer on the beaches he has oiled himself and cooked himself until he is the true South Sea islander. Much more dark than any of the human terra-cottas and bronzes whom the judge is now considering. Me, I do not care for this cult of copper legs and breasts—no, pardon! Chests of nutwood. It is overdone."

"Not in the man, Alberte," argued her brother. "For it is sporting, it is hygienic. But in the women—look at that girl in the white cap; she is a Scandinavian, but one would say Joséphine Bekère! It is a pity, I think. What is more beautiful than a woman who preserves a corpse of alabaster? And why does Mrs. Travers laugh?"

"I'm sorry. It's only because we don't say 'corpse' in this case."

The count smiled that never would he know for certain what words the English said, and when his sister prattled on that for her a man was handsome when fair-skinned and only a little sunburnt, say like an apricot—say like the Doctor Travers, doubtless Madame Travers agreed with her.

"I don't think I have ever thought about it," Joy said carelessly. [But there flashed back to her memory the one occasion when Rex Travers had come out early enough to bathe with the boy and herself; the big fellow in his dark blue swimming suit had shown up noticeably fair. He had one of these solid satin blonde skins which freckle lightly, but seldom burn or peel.]

Then she caught upon her the amicable, scrutinizing, blue Breton eyes. Joy liked the little baroness, liked going about with this friendly sister and brother, found them stimulating and sympathetic. But why did Alberte look at her so often in that amused, speculative sort of way, as if she could see things most people didn't dream about? For no reason, up under Joy's sensitive skin crept Joy's softly profuse and easy blush. She turned away; and her little Latin friend gave an inward chuckle of "la vraie prude Anglaise!" Silently adding, "What did I tell Jean about this bride? If she has forbidden her husband to kiss her cheek it is so far all!"

GASOLINE ALLEY—NO RESULTS

PHYLLIS! YOU LOOK WONDERFUL! MARRIAGE, MOTHERHOOD AND THE YEARS ALL REST LIGHTLY ON YOU.
HELENE OCTAVE! I AM GLAD TO SEE YOU. I WAS AFRAID YOU HAD FORGOTTEN ME ALTOGETHER.
I HAD A TALK WITH WALT AS YOU KNOW, PHYLLIS, ABOUT SENDING SKEEZIX ABROAD. BUT NATURALLY HE LOOKS AT THINGS DIFFERENTLY THAN YOU WOULD. I KNOW WELL ENOUGH THAT, SINCE YOU HAVE A CHILD OF YOUR OWN, SKEEZIX CAN'T MEAN NEARLY AS MUCH TO YOU.
HELENE, YOU WILL NEVER UNDERSTAND! SKEEZIX IS AS MUCH A PART OF US AS CORKY IS. WE WOULD NEVER GIVE HIM UP NOW. OF COURSE THE SUN RISES AND SETS IN CORKY BUT THAT DOESN'T AFFECT OUR LOVE FOR SKEEZIX.
I HAD HOPED, PHYLLIS, THAT YOU WOULD SEE THE ADVANTAGE TO SKEEZIX IN THE THINGS I SUGGEST. I AM ONLY INTERESTED IN HIS FUTURE.
I AM AS MUCH INTERESTED IN HIS FUTURE AS YOU ARE, HELENE, AND I AM WILLING TO SACRIFICE A LOT MORE TO INSURE IT. I HAVE BEEN DOING IT FOR THREE YEARS.

Good Morning!

A sort of teeter totter production, this! In other words, now you like it and now you don't.

Its chief asset is an excellently chosen supporting cast. Its main liability is ambling direction. It features Mr. Martin Downey, a plump and earnest young man who sings a great deal in a high-pitched voice that you may find pleasing. He talks in the same key. When he and Mother, whose boy he is, are engaged in conversation, they sound exactly alike. Funny thing—they look enough alike to be really related!

This picture, lush with sentiment that verges on the maudlin, tells about Tommy O'Day, a delicatessen delivery boy with a VOICE, who leaves home because accused by his brother and dad of stealing money from the jar by the clock. It develops later that the thief is the rascally brother.

His father doesn't understand him and is quite unnecessarily gruff; his worthless brother who is also crazy for the girl upstairs, is always picking on him, and finally, as we told you, fixes things so that Mother's boy has to go out into the cold, cold world with nothing but his Voice for protection.

Yes, you've guessed it. He wins Fame and Fortune. Yes again—on the eve of his Biggest Success comes word that Mother is dying . . .

The cast IS splendid. There's some excellent dancing in the night club sequences. And I DO believe the photophone at the State-Lake is almost entirely recovered and will, when it gets a little coöperation from the operators, conduct itself with ease and composure.

"THE DESERT RIDER."

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by Nick Grinde.
Presented at the Rialto theater.

| | |
|---|---|
| Jed Tyler | Tim McCoy |
| Dolores | Raquel Torres |
| Friar Bernardo | Bert Roach |
| Padre Quintada | Ed Connelly |
| Williams | Harry Wood |

With all due kow tow to gallant Col. McCoy, methinks the roly poly gentleman (Bert Roach) in priestly garb runs away with the honors of this picture. Certainly he gets all the laughs as, with holy zeal, a right good will, and a childlike faith that the Lord will understand his unconventional demeanor, he helps confound the villains who would steal her deed and rancho away from the dark eyed Señorita Dolores.

"The Desert Rider" is one of those "westerns" with the Spanish land grant plot. Tim McCoy, as a pony rider, is attacked by bandits while crossing the desert. He bears the aforementioned deed in which the United States government accords Señorita Dolores the land which has been the Alvarado home for lo these many years.

The bandits, whose chief is a desperate gentleman you meet later in different guise, take the paper, Jed's horse, shoot a hole in his water bag, and leave him to die—as they believe.

But you know Col. McCoy! HE die? No siree!

This is only a mildly interesting number, for the reason that it keeps no secrets from you. But it has some fine scenery; some hard riding and fighting; a general air of breeziness; acting that is passing fair. Col. McCoy, whom you always like—and young Mr. Roach to hand you several sure fire guffaws.

See you tomorrow.

BELGIAN ROTARIAN PREDICTS MIDWEST WILL GUIDE U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Burlington, Wis., June 24.—The great American middle west is the pivotal point on which swings the possibilities of future world war or peace, Prof. Edouard Willems of Brussels, Belgium, declared today before the Wisconsin district assembly of Rotary International.

Prof. Willems is a vice president of Rotary International. He predicted the midwest attitude on foreign affairs would sway the policies of the United States government and consequently permanently affect world affairs.

Inability of the United States to compete with cheap European labor, and the inability of Europe to compete with improved American machinery is creating an international breach in which Europe is purchasing its wheat in New Zealand, Australia and South America and consequently obtaining markets in these territories for its manufactured products, a circle in which the United States is left out, he declared. The professor suggested the small cities in America and in the leading nations of Europe, exchange daily papers and that the municipal, crime and community news contained in them be made available through interpreters so that the common people might develop international minds.

Banker's Will Sets a Policy for University

Wilbur's Vermont Bequest Offers Puzzle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Britain, Conn., June 24.—The University of Vermont eventually may receive $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 in a trust fund provided under the will of James B. Wilbur, a Chicago banker and Vermont summer resident. He died recently leaving an estate estimated at several million dollars. The trustees of the university have not yet acted on the conditions nor has the legislature, which has the initiative.

The trust fund, from which several life incomes are to be paid, would revert to the university on the deaths of the first beneficiaries. But the will requires that:

This trust shall not be created unless the legislature of Vermont shall pass a law limiting the number of students in any one year to 1,000. No students from outside the state shall be admitted until native born Vermonters who apply and qualify shall have been taken.

The number of 1,000 students may be increased at a rate of 250 for every 100,000 increase in the population of the state over the census of 1920.

In addition to the gifts to the University of Vermont, outright gifts under the trust include the following: $100,000 to the Vermont Historical society; $25,000 to the Putnam Memorial hospital at Bennington, Vt.; $25,000 to the Western Reserve Historical association at Cleveland, O., and $100,000 to the New York Times' hundred neediest cases fund. These latter bequests are to be paid at once.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

A report in last Sunday's TRIBUNE declared that police found a broken bottle, which had contained liquor, in the automobile in which Albert Barr, 561 Pine avenue, was killed and John A. Walberg, 2009 Berwyn avenue, was injured early Saturday morning. Evidence at the inquest and given to the police contained no mention of such a bottle.

Symphony Concert at Ravinia Is Applauded; Harp Playing Feature

BY EDWARD MOORE.

There were only three complete numbers on the orchestra program at Ravinia last night, but they filled up a complete evening and provided a first class entertainment. The concert began with the Fifth Symphony from the pen of Tschaikowsky, conducted by Eric DeLamarter, who would seem to be following the example of other eminent musical directors in memorizing his scores. Memory is apparently better than eyesight in most musical performances.

At least this one by Mr. DeLamarter was marked by masterly firmness and no less masterly elasticity and shading. It was a great success for both him and the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Joseph Vito, the harpist of the orchestra, followed with the fantasy for the harp and orchestra by Dubois. It was a brilliant performance, interrupted only in its last third by time to change a harp string which was feeling the effect of early summer weather, an operation which Mr. DeLamarter explained to the audience was being surrounded by a halo of language. Finishing the number in fine form, Mr. Vito played an arrangement of Nevin's song "Mighty Lak a Rose" which also was greatly approved by the audience.

After the intermission there was an appearance by the eminent hospital graduate, Jacques Gordon, who, in ordinary times, is the orchestra's concert master. For once under the circumstances making use of a chair rather than standing, he played the Mendelssohn violin concerto, a revered veteran of concert programs, but one which Mr. Gordon performed with a little extra manner, and which certainly sounded as though he had never in his life needed the care of a physician. He is a great violinist, and never greater than he appears in the intimate surroundings of Ravinia.

Seventy-Eight Get Sealed Orders from the Salvation Army

Seventy-eight cadets of the Salvation Army Training college were commissioned as officers last night at the exercises of the centenary class in the Moody Bible institute auditorium, Chicago avenue and La Salle street. Commissioner John McMillan handed each of them sealed orders to posts in the eleven states of the central territory.

The class—forty girls, twenty-six single men, and six married men—had come from over the middle west, leaving their jobs to enter the services of the Salvation Army. Among them were seventeen stenographers, six bookkeepers, a high school teacher, a graduate nurse, farm hands, and mechanics.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Alice Head, 321 Hill street, Hannibal, Mo., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you approve of the idea of Judge Rhoades of Omaha, in which he advocates talking pictures of wedding ceremonies?

The Answers.

Louis Zelbell, 1330 South Albany avenue, salesman.—It is a very bright idea; something new, too. Our marriage has been happy; we have not had any domestic conflicts that required reseeing and rehearing of our wedding ceremony.

Mrs. L. J. Pelikan, 336 South Austin avenue, Oak Park, housewife.—We have never needed any reminders of our wedding, though it would be a delightful reminder of a wonderfully romantic event if we had a talkie of that ceremony with our friends present.

Allen Law, 29 South Dearborn street, aviator.—A difficult question. Even the most quiet weddings are expensive. Talking pictures would be more expensive. Don't forget home furnishings cost money, too. A married couple without a real home invites discontent.

Miss Vern O'Day, 5115 Emerald avenue, clerk.—It will make some talking picture when I get married, and how. It would be good to keep. I would like to have a view of that picture right now. Flowers, friends, the altar, the veiled bride. Well, I suppose a talkie of the ceremony would mean something if serious trouble developed later.

LeRoy Eschner, 122 South Michigan avenue, radio manufacturer.—I don't see how that would make any difference. If either or both are looking for trouble there will be trouble, and if they look for divorce they will have that sooner or later. If each is looking for happiness it may be a happy marriage. I am a bachelor, and so I am neutral.

Theta Delta Chi Re-elects President for 6th Time

For the sixth consecutive time, William F. Love of Rochester, N. Y., was reëlected president of Theta Delta Chi fraternity at the close of the eighty-second annual convention here yesterday. Other officers elected were: Donald S. Prince, Bowdoin college, Bowdoin, Me., secretary; Francis Tompkins, George Washington university, Washington, D. C., treasurer; Norman Hackett, New York City, graduate secretary, and J. Russell Whitmore, Philadelphia, graduate treasurer.

AERO COUNTRY CLUB TO OPEN SATURDAY; IT'S ON LONG ISLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—The Long Island Aviation Country club will be officially opened at Hicksville, L. I., on Saturday afternoon. The new flying club is the first to be opened in this country, with its own clubhouse, hangar and field and is one of 114 such organizations now being formed under the national plan of Aviation Country Clubs, Inc.

The dedicatory exercises will follow a luncheon to the board of governors of the national organization and will open with an address by F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics.

Sherman M. Fairchild, Richard F. Hoyt, Robert Law, Jr., Earl D. Osborn, George B. Post, G. M. Pynchon, Jr., W. A. Rockefeller, J. B. Taylor, Jr., Col. R. R. McCormick, George Hann, Elliott W. Springs, F. B. Rentschler. Col. R. R. McCormick, Capt. J. M. Patterson and Philip Wrigley have plans for a Chicago club.

Mathilde Oser Here Tomorrow with Children

Will Visit Her Father, Harold McCormick.

Max Oser and his wife, the former Mathilde McCormick, will arrive in Chicago today on the Century. Their children, Anita, 4 years old, and Peter Max, 3 years old, are with them.

It will be Chicago society's first opportunity to meet the former Swiss cavalry officer, who at the age of 45 was married to the 18 year old heiress on April 12, 1923, in London. It will be Mrs. Oser's first visit to Chicago since she was married. The visitors will be at the home of her father, Harold F. McCormick, 675 Rush street.

At the great stone mansion at Michigan avenue and Oak street Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick was not available to interviewers. Her social secretary, responding to questions, said that Mrs. McCormick had not mentioned the approaching visit of her younger daughter, her son-in-law, and her only grandchildren.

Harold F. McCormick, who originally disapproved of his daughter's marriage but later consented, precipitating a court battle with his former wife, the girl's mother, was also unavailable to reporters yesterday, but it is known that he has given his whole approval to the match since the birth of his grandchildren. He is now married to Mme. Ganna Walska of Paris.

"No definite plans have been made for the Osers," said a secretary to Harold McCormick. "Everything is being left open so they can spend all of their time to suit themselves. It isn't definite even how long they will remain in Chicago."

Chicago Moose Plan Five New Buildings for Mooseheart

Chicago members of the Moose lodge are planning to contribute five new buildings for the use of boys at Mooseheart, Ill., a colony maintained for the care of widows and orphans of lodge members. Plans to raise $50,000 to finance the project were discussed last night at a meeting of the Greater Chicago lodge, No. 3, in the Sherman hotel.

Following the annual initiation of new members it was announced that a committee composed of Bert W Johnson, secretary of the lodge; Dr. W. E. Buehler, and W. L. Proval has been appointed to handle the financial campaign. The funds will be obtained by voluntary subscription and must be completed by Dec. 1, 1930.

The proposal to erect boys' buildings is the result of long consideration of means whereby the Chicago lodge can make a substantial contribution to the colony, it was said.

Woman's Suffrage Alliance Re-Elects Briton President

BERLIN, June 24.—(AP)—The executive board of the Women's International Suffrage Alliance reëlected its officers today for a new term of three years. It created two new offices, naming Rosa Manus of Holland as second vice president and Emilie Gourd of Switzerland as assistant secretary. Mrs. Corbett Ashby of England was reëlected as president. Since all officers of the alliance are Europeans, the board voted to establish a committee to work out liaison between the continents.

It's Easy to Start Nagging, but Not So Simple to Stop

BY DORIS BLAKE.

This is the tale of a young woman who started her married life all wrong. She married Chester last March. It was a whirlwind courtship, in a way. But the introduction was all according to Hoyle and common friends of long standing on both sides were enthusiastic promoters of the romance. The young man was given a good bill of health to the girl by these friends and the girl's good qualities were exploited to the young man.

They went to Europe on their honeymoon. They came back and started out in the usual bridge-and-groom way of finding a place to live decently within their income. Then they settled down to the business of living.

◆

A fortnight after the last dimities were hung and the gay red kitchen things were placed in orderly row on the shelves, a wire came from an old friend of Chester's, a girl he used to know 'way back when—

Sue said: "Invite her up to dinner. I'll show her what a good cook you drew." Chester was delighted at the show of good sportsmanship.

The girl of the wire came. She was a good natured, breezy, loud-voiced and not too correctly grammared person. Sure enough, she did make some ill-timed remarks about the changed Chester in this settled-down man of the house. Thoughtlessly, she brought up the occasion of a party when they all got spifflicated.

After she left, Sue blew up. "That's the kind of a girl I took you from, is it?" she taunted Chester. "Did you have any more friends like that? A woman never knows what's she married until she's married to him and some of his old girls bob up." Et cetera, et cetera.

Fairly enough, Chester retorted: "If I hadn't thought she was all right I wouldn't have had her up here. And she is all right—only a little rowdy, but a good kid, nevertheless."

The incident didn't blow over as it should have. It was used as a cudgel every time a girl's name was mentioned. The childlike simplicity of the male telling about girls he used to know would be interrupted with a harangue about their being their late guest's kind. Something sweet and nice and confidential has gone out of their lives by now. And only Sue can tell whether it is the green eyed monster in her or whether her inheritance of a husband has set a natural nagging nature in motion. Either way, it's a stupid start on what promised to be a jolly sort of union.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Hasn't Any Suitcase.

"Has any one a suitcase to give to Mrs. M.? One of her five children has an opportunity to go to summer camp, but has no baggage. He would be grateful for a suitcase which is no longer in use. F. N."

If you are planning to invest in new luggage for your summer holiday perhaps you would like to put to use that which you are discarding. Here is a boy badly in need of a bag who would like to have it.

Asks for Dramatic Readings.

"I am a dramatic reader but have only a small stock of pieces. If your readers have any of the following—'Betty at the Baseball Game,' 'Billy Brad and the Big Lie,' 'A Pleasant Half Hour on the Beach,' or any other recitations they would pass on to me—I would gladly copy them and return the manuscripts. M. K."

If your reportoire is an extensive one, it may include some of the readings this young woman is looking for. I am sure any you send to be copied will be promptly returned.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

My husband's little brother was attached to his dog Cricket, but recently it had to be killed. This is the way Edgar wrote us about it:

"He got the mange, so Uncle Bill done away with it. I sure felt bad cause that dog liked me better than any of the family did." G. G. B.

◆

We recently sold our dilapidated old flivver and bought a good looking car. Every child in the neighborhood rode in the old one and hated to see it go.

One evening as we sat on the front porch, Susie, a little neighbor, joined us.

"Is you goin' ridin' this evening, Mr. Brooks?" she said finally.

Upon being told that we weren't, the child drew a deep sigh.

"I s'pose your new car are des a Sunday car, aren't it," she said mournfully. M. C. B.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Mary Louise Scheidenhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Scheidenhelm of Wilmette, to William Edmund Schweitzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Schweitzer of 4264 Hazel avenue is to take place at 8:30 o'clock this evening at the First Congregational church of Wilmette, with a reception following at the Shawnee Country club. The bride's attendants will include her sister, Miss Frances Scheidenhelm as maid of honor; and as bridesmaids, Miss Mildred Burnett of New York City, Mrs. Albert K. Scheidenhelm, Mrs. Alfred H. Taylor, and Mrs. Norman S. Clark of Evanston and Miss Isabelle Pope of Wilmette. Nancy and Peggy Pierson, nieces of the bride, are to be flower girls. Ellis Cook of Kansas City is to be Mr. Schweitzer's best man, and the ushers will be Frederick Schweitzer, Eric Jones, Albert K. Scheidenhelm, Alfred H. Taylor, Edward L. Scheidenhelm Jr., and Joseph Glover.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Emmert Hitt announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Rowland, to Ralph Coatsworth Perkins, which took place last Wednesday at the Bryn Mawr Community church, followed by a reception at the South Shore Country club.

Florence Celebrates Thousand Year Feast of St. John

FLORENCE, Italy, June 24.—(AP)—Florence's thousand-year-old ceremony of honoring the city's patron saint John the Baptist was celebrated today with all the color of the middle ages. Religious ceremonies, fireworks, parades and a carriage race in one of the principal streets of the town were combined to carry out the old traditions.

The observance began at eight o'clock this morning with a cannon salute from Fort Belvedere. A little later the royal society of St. John the Baptist marched in costume to receive the municipal authorities. The mayor and his following came from the Vecchio palace in parade formation, preceded by a squadron of guards in full uniform and pages and trumpeteers in costume.

The two processions, with bands, proceeded together to the Church of St. John. There the mayor made an offering of candles to the archpriest of the diocese. High mass was celebrated in the cathedral at 10:30, by Cardinal Mistrangelo.

The afternoon was turned over to the civil celebrations. One feature was the giving of dowries by the municipality to poor girls who stood little chance of being married unless a dowry were one of their attractions.

The celebrations, particularly the fireworks, drew to Florence thousands of peasants from surrounding towns.

Start New Structure to Carry Name of Bishop Anderson

In the presence of Episcopal dignitaries of the diocese of Chicago and teachers of the Western Theological seminary and Garrett Biblical institute, ground was broken yesterday for the $100,000 Anderson Memorial chapel to be built opposite the Patten gymnasium of Northwestern university, at Sheridan road and Haven street.

The chapel will form a unit of the seminary and will honor Bishop Charles P. Anderson. Bishop Sheldon M. Griswold, suffragan, turned the first spadeful of earth under the spot on which the altar will stand. The Rev. Dr. E. J. Randall officiated as chaplain and the Rev. Dr. F. C. Grant, dean of the seminary, was the speaker.

Funds for the new chapel have been raised by popular subscription in the diocese, the initial gifts being made by Mr. and Mrs. Angus Hibbard and Chauncey Keep. The tower and spire will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. R. Floyd Clinch, in memory of the Lay family, to which Mrs. Clinch belongs.

Girls!
Ziegfeld Judges them by Their HAIR!

Flo Ziegfeld, whose "glorification of the American girl" has received international recognition, says:

"I find that sparkling hair—hair that catches the lights of the theatre—is an invaluable addition to feminine beauty. In casting my productions, I always keep this in mind."

They all agree—the connoisseurs of feminine beauty on stage and screen. Hair lustre is essential... And now it can be yours. For the pinch of henna in Hennafoam will light those natural fires while you enjoy the most luxurious shampoo you've ever experienced. And it won't change the color a fraction of a shade.

Mrs. Watson, W. B. Wolf to Wed Today

BY THALIA

The marriage of Mrs. Pettit Watson [Marguerite Pettit] and Walter B. Wolf is to be solemnized quietly at noon today at the residence of Mrs. Watson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Pettit, in Philadelphia, Pa. Following the ceremony, which is to be attended only by members of the families, Mr. and Mrs. Wolf will sail for Europe on the Berengaria to spend the summer motoring. On their return in the fall they will occupy Mrs. Watson's apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Watson's children—Chita, who has just been graduated from Miss Porter's school at Simsbury, Mass.; Walter Johnson Watson, who is studying at St. Mark's, and Hathaway Watson Jr., who is to enter the same school next fall—will be present at the wedding, and are to sail with Mr. Wolf's mother, Mrs. Albert E. Wolf, for Europe also. Mrs. Watson's mother, Mrs. William G. McKelvey, is to attend the wedding.

Mr. Wolf is a Yale graduate and resided formerly at 1325 Astor street. He is a member of the law firm of Loesch, Willard, Wolf and Reichmann. During the war he was a member of the then Brig. Gen. MacArthur's staff in the Rainbow division. Mrs. Watson has been active in various women's organizations, and is specially interested in those dealing with business and politics. She was the Cook county head of the Ruth Hanna McCormick volunteers in Mrs. McCormick's campaign last fall, and is cochairman with Mrs. Frank G. Hibbard for the St. Luke's hospital benefit fashion show to take place in the fall.

Dr. George Roberts of the Lake Forest Presbyterian church will perform the ceremony tomorrow at the home of her father, Francis Cooley Farwell, for Mrs. Aime Millet, formerly Elizabeth Farwell, and Paul S. Moyer. Mr. Moyer is a Chicagoan. Mr. Millet, to whom Miss Farwell was married in 1922, is dead. Mr. Moyer in 1917 married Dorothy D. Fassenden, who died in 1919.

Only a few persons, relatives and close friends, will be present at the ceremony tomorrow and the couple will be away for July and August. Mrs. Millet has rented her Lake Forest home, Tree Tops, to the Paul Wellings for those months.

When Washington Park closes the end of this week the race fans can repair to Arlington Park, whose meeting opens on July 1 and closes on Aug. 3. Paul E. Gardner is president of the Post and Paddock club, and the other officers are Charles F. Glore, vice president; Lawrence F. Stern, secretary; Laurance H. Armour, treasurer, and Charles A. McCulloch, Otto Lehmann, Warren Wright, and John R. Thompson Jr., directors.

Members of the Dundee Country club are to have a basket picnic at Barrington on Thursday instead of today, as stated in this column yesterday.

Richard Bentley, Mrs. William E. Casselberry Jr., Knight C. Cowles, Albert Day Farwell, Mrs. Hale Holden Jr., Mrs. Hermon D. Smith, and Mrs. Arthur F. Tuttle were elected directors of the Lake Forest Day school at the annual meeting held recently. Mr. Smith is president of the board, Mr. Bentley vice president and Edward E. Welles is secretary-treasurer. The school is closing its first year of existence and is considered a most successful venture. Next fall they expect a larger enrollment than before, and there are plans in the making for a modern school plant with adequate playgrounds, and gymnasia.

The Vocational Society for Shut-ins is having an exhibit and sale tomorrow at Barrington at the residence of Mrs. Evan Evans from 10 to 5:30 o'clock. The hostesses will include Mrs. John Douglas, Mrs. H. Stillson Hart, Mrs. Frank H. Johnston, Mrs. James E. MacMurray, Mrs. Robert Hixon, Mrs. John Esmond, the Mrs. George E. Van Hagens, junior and senior, Mrs. Robert Buckley, Mrs. Lawrence G. Hallberg, Mrs. Alexander Reichmann, Mrs. Marvin E. Minor, and Mrs. Alfred E. Eustice.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus G. Hill of 28 Scott street are receiving congratulations on the birth last Thursday of a daughter at the Michael Reese hospital. Mrs. Hill was Miss Elizabeth G. Gray before her marriage.

Miss Carolyn Durand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Durand, is motoring from their residence, Woodlyn, at Dorset, Vt., with Miss Katrina Auchincloss and Miss Lillian Webster of New York City to Lake Forest, where they will be the guests of Miss Katherine Trowbridge, daughter of the Calvin Trowbridges. Miss Durand was just graduated from Vassar college.

The William R. Odells Jr. of Lake Forest have been sojourning at Jasper Park lodge in the Canadian Rockies.

Mrs. Ambrose Cramer has departed for Biltmore, N. C., to spend the summer there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Richardson of New York (Mrs. Richardson was Marion Ogden of Chicago), Miss Mariana Richardson, and Banning Richardson are spending the summer in Europe. Miss Mariana recently was graduated from the Fermata school at Aiken, S. C., and will study in Paris. The Richardsons are to visit Mrs. Catherine Barker Spaulding at Michigan City on their return next September.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Harris Giddens and Mrs. Giddens' son, Louis Michael Stumer of New York City have taken a house in Highland Park for the summer months.

Mrs. Forsythe Sherfessee is expected to arrive in Chicago about July 8 for a short visit with various of her friends, after which she goes to Cooperstown, her summer place for the next few months.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Caroline Dyche, daughter of William A. Dyche of Evanston, to Joseph Victor Falcon, son of Joseph G. Falcon of Florida, was solemnized on June 14 at the First Methodist Episcopal church of Evanston. After a honeymoon in the east Mr. and Mrs. Falcon will be at the Dyche residence for the summer.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, June 24.—The secretary of war and Mrs. Good and the secretary of commerce, Robert Patterson Lamont, were among the guests at a wedding here this afternoon. Miss Nancy Hamilton, daughter of George E. Hamilton, became the bride of Dr. Victor Alfaro, son of the Panama minister and Senora De Alfaro, at 4 o'clock in St. Matthew's Roman Catholic church. Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, just returned from his week-end visit in Pittsburgh, and Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of the Vice President, also attended the ceremony, as did nearly all the diplomats, as well as members of Washington's residential society in which the bride's family are prominent. A reception followed in the Pan-American Union building.

Mrs. Defrees, widow of Joseph H. Defrees of Chicago, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, made a short visit here on her way from Florida where she has been since the death of Mr. Defrees, to Camden, Me., where she will be the remainder of the summer.

Sally Gets Letters from Candidates for Thrilling Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Now I am certain that all girls and boys like White City. You'd know it, too, if you could see the enthusiastic letters I've received asking for invitations to my White City party, July 5, a week from next Friday. They tell how thrilling the rides are, swooping through space on a hot summer afternoon—the fun there is bumping each other's automobiles in the Dodgem, and the hilarity of Madame Murphy's Beauty Shoppe.

And you can share in all our good times at White City if you write immediately. I'm going to take a hundred boys and girls as my guests, you know—and I'm inviting those who write the best letters telling why they'd like to come and mail their letters in time to reach me Thursday morning at the latest when I choose my hundred guests. So you still have today and tomorrow to write a winning letter and what could be easier when you think of the great time we'll have.

Just think of all the fun there is at White City shooting the chutes, visiting the Mysterious Sensation where you can't stay on your feet, riding the boats in beautiful, cool Venice. There are the racing coaster, the Ferris wheel, the Flash, and Mr. Herbert A. Byfield, president of White City, says we'll not only enjoy all these but he's preparing some unusual extra features just in honor of our party. When you think of all that can't you write a winning letter?

Of course you can. It's just a question of getting started—but do so immediately. And remember this, before your letter can win an invitation it must reach me by Thursday morning, write plainly and do not forget to include your address and age, then watch next Sunday's paper for the list of the lucky hundred guests.

White Organdy for the Girl in Her Teens

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.] — The sub debit side of the column of dress is balanced, this year. More and more does it seem as if styles for the teens and styles for the full fledged debutante were approaching each other. Among the many facts pointing to such approximation is the wide use of organdy afternoon and dance frocks in both juvenile and adult circles.

Always the ideal selection for the young girl's summer dance frock, organdy is brought into even greater prominence this present season. For the girl of from 13 to 18 all types of this material are presented—printed, embroidered and colored. But the summit of good taste is represented by the perfectly plain white organdy with only a few touches of trimming. One of our most widely known Fifth avenue shops is advocating these plain white organdies almost to the total exclusion of other types.

Above we show designed for the girl between 14 and 18 the delightful simplicity of this mode. The fittest corsage, the flounces with their scallops, the dip at the back of the skirt—here is the adaptation of the period style to youthful figures. The only touch of trimming is found in bands of plain white net outlining neckline and armholes and the two organdy roses of pink finished by a bow of Nattier blue satin ribbon.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Gardeners' questions coming to this department in recent years indicate that there is confusion over the advisability of using lime on lawns and in vegetable gardens. For many years an application of lime generally was recommended to sweeten sour soils and to improve the texture of the soil. Liming is still considered necessary in the growing of many garden crops, particularly certain vegetables. Its use on lawns is being discouraged by some gardeners because it encourages the growth of weeds.

But the gardener who refuses to use lime regardless of conditions is unwise, for there are times when it is needed. C. J. Chapman of the University of Wisconsin's soils department recently said the value of lime on lawns is questionable and is recommended in the case of extremely acid soil. The growth of dandelions and plantain is stimulated by lime and there is little, if any, benefit to June grass or white clover. In fact fertilizer for lawns is usually recommended which will make the soil more acid and thus discourage the growth of these weeds.

He also points out that there are places where lime should be used. In gardens, where the soil is acid, lime will benefit cabbage, spinach, beets, Swiss chard, lettuce, onions, muskmelons, turnips, squash, parsnips, sweet corn, beans, cucumbers and celery, but has not been found especially beneficial for tomatoes, radishes, carrots, or potatoes.

CODDLING NEVER CURES CRIMINAL, LUTHERANS' VIEW

"Milk Fed Pacifism" Also Opposed by Church.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The coddling of criminals and ascribing of criminal acts and tendencies to new fangled diseases does not meet with the sympathy of the Lutheran church, according to Dr. Walter A. Maier, of St. Louis, spokesman for the Missouri synod, which is holding its national convention at Concordia college, River Forest.

"The church opposes organized efforts to abolish the death penalty, because these efforts are opposed to the teachings of the Bible both in the Old and New Testaments," Dr. Maier declared. "It is apparent that moves toward the softening of law have been conducive to increased lawlessness. The Lutheran church has no sympathy for the fashionable and popular mode of coddling criminals."

No "Milk-Fed Pacifism."

Dr. Maier said there is no tendency toward a "milk-fed pacifism" among Lutherans. He cited scripture in defense of the church's position, and stated that the "No more war" clamor, together with the scrapping of national defenses, is a procedure contrary to biblical admonition and national prudence.

"Why cry 'peace' when there is no peace?" is the question the church asks, according to Dr. Maier.

"The Lutheran church deplores war and the unspeakable sorrow which comes in its wake," he continued. "The very thought of brutal carnage must be repulsive to every Christian who knows and feels Christ's admonition that we should love one another. But any civil government is obliged to protect the lives and property of its citizens, and for this reason the Lutheran church takes the position that war, abhorrent as it is, may be justifiable and necessary."

Oppose Women in Business.

The Lutheran church has declared its opposition to the employment of married women in gainful occupations, according to Dr. Maier. He stated that it is the feeling of the church that the increasing economic independence of women is the reason for the increasing divorce rate.

"The traditional feeling that Adam likes to find Eve at home when he gets through with his day's work cannot be changed in a generation." Dr. Maier said. "We would not have the highly trained woman abandon her work completely and wrap herself in domesticity, but we do not want to lose sight of the fact that wifehood and motherhood are women's highest occupations."

The Rev. Fred Randt, St. Paul, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, was elected a vice president of the Missouri synod yesterday. A new $105,000 dormitory for Concordia college, Conover, N. C., was vote dby the convention. Concordia college of St. Paul, Paul, Minn., was granted $153,475 for a new laboratory and Concordia institute, Bronxville, N. Y., was granted a large sum for laboratory equipment. More than $750,000 was appropriated for missions.

Sousa's Band Is One Bright Spot on Elmer's Radio

'Hungry Five' Returns to Please W-G-N Audience.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The one flood of sunshine on last evening's programs was the John Philip Sousa band concert, from New York, through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9:30. And this concert was a hummer, making one regret all the more that next week brings the series of concerts by this band to a close.

"Southern Rhapsody" was by all odds one of the prettiest things in band music heard over the radio. In it were snatches of familiar southern melodies, one harp obligatto sort of fantasy, and here and there some connecting music apparently for horns alone, including the deep basses, but whatever the combination of instruments used the result was glorious beyond words, making one wish that we could have more music in which the smooth, golden tones of the horn section played the major part. "Prince Charming" march was written for and also played for school boys of Los Angeles. "The Thunderer" march was again played; "The Rifle Regiment" march, was quite unfamiliar, and very pleasing. "Carnival of Venice" was a clarinet solo, with band accompaniment, and for a finger tripper this was a lesson in what can be done with this key-covered wind instrument, and it was a beauty to hear also.

Louie's breezy Hungry Five, W-G-N 10:10 to 10:20, were back from their vacation. The Weasel was as hungry as ever, his merry spontaneous laugh was heartier than ever and, poor fellow, he put himself on the scale and found he "didn't gain one inch."

MRS. PANTAGES CHARGED WITH DEATH BY AUTO

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—[U.P.]—Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the vaudeville circuit owner, was formally charged with second degree murder in a complaint issued by the district attorney's office today after investigation of an automobile accident in which Juro Rorumoto was fatally injured.

District Attorney Buron Fitts said that every resource of his office would be put behind the prosecution. Mrs. Pantages stands charged with having been intoxicated when she drove her car into that of the Japanese, injuring him and six members of his family. The accident was her second within as many blocks.

Funeral services for Carleton R. Dart, designer of the State street and Dearborn street bridges over the Chicago river and for many years a member of the city's engineering staff, will be held today at his residence, 706 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette. Mr. Dart, who was 67 years old, died on Sunday.

Born in Lansing, Mich., he began his career as assistant engineer of that city. He later entered railroad service and then came to Chicago. Since 1921 he had been a a construction engineer for the sanitary district. Since the death of his wife, Mr. Dart has made his home with two sisters-in-law, Misses Margaret and Jane Weinland. He is also survived by a brother, James. The funeral services will be private.

Singer, Head of Famous Sewing Machine Firm, Dies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—Sir Mortimer Singer, 66, American born son and heir of Isaac Merritt Singer, inventor of the famous sewing machine, who became a British subject in 1900 and was given a knighthood, died in London today after a long illness. Sir Mortimer devoted his life chiefly to sports, being among the pioneers in cycling, motoring and flying. In 1910 he crashed in a plane, but in spite of the fact that both his legs and one arm were broken and his chest crushed, he soon resumed flying again. He also bred race horses and took part in shooting, hunting, golf, and yachting. The knighthood was granted to him in 1920 in recognition of his large gifts to charity.

U. S. REALTORS ZOOM TO BOSTON BY AIRPLANES

Forsake Land Travel to Annual Meet.

BY AL CHASE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 24.—[Special.]—Nearly 3,000 realtors poured into the New England metropolis yesterday and today and the airplane figured larger as a conveyance than in any previous realty convention.

The president of the National Association of Real Estate boards, Harry H. Culver, hopped all the way from the Pacific coast.

Members from several other boards flew to Boston, and tomorrow the Akron, O., real estate board will drop down from the skies on board a giant plane.

Hoover Greets Them.

A message from President Herbert Hoover to the convention addressed to Mr. Culver, said to be the largest communication ever sent out over the presidential signature, came zooming late today from Washington, D. C., by air mail.

In order to make the White House message big enough to be read in person by every one at the convention, it was sent by air to Atlantic City where it was rewritten on a giant typewriter in letters six inches high on stationery fifteen by nine feet.

From Atlantic City the message was brought to Boston via a special biplane to which it was fastened in a nine foot mailing tube. This message will be posted in one of the convention halls.

Urges Home Ownership.

"I cordially share your view that an outstanding opportunity for public service awaits the realtors in the field of stimulation of home ownership, which is so vitally related to the health, happiness and civic pride of our people."

The Chicago real estate board's special train pulled into Boston today after a three days' trip through Canada, with a day spent on Lakes Champlain and George. The Chicagoans were so cordially entertained in Toronto by the local realtors at a banquet that they pledged their support to a campaign to bring the annual convention to the Canadian city.

P. VANDERKLOOT, HEAD OF STEEL WORKS, IS DEAD

Peter S. Vanderkloot, head of the Vanderkloot Steel works, 2611 South Halsted street, and for 62 years a resident of the Chicago district, died yesterday at his home on Braeburn avenue, Flossmoor. He was 67 years old. The business which he headed was founded by his father, Marinus Vanderkloot, a pioneer Chicago manufacturer.

Mr. Vanderkloot is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter, and two grandchildren. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home. Interment will be in Oakwoods cemetery.

Ernest S. Hobbs, Retired Aurora Manufacturer, Dies

Ernest S. Hobbs, recently retired as president of the Aurora Cotton Mills and former president of the Fox River Valley Manufacturers' association, died Sunday night at his summer home at Lake Geneva, Wis. Mr. Hobbs was an executive of southern spinning mills before coming to Aurora in 1884. He leaves a widow, a son, Edward, of Aurora, and a daughter, Mrs. Alice Worcester of Pittsburgh. He was 71 years old.

Dr. Clarence McClellan Dies; Funeral Rites Today

Funeral services for Dr. Clarence McClellan, who died on Sunday after a three weeks illness, will be held at 2 p. m., today, in the chapel at 4542 Ravenswood avenue. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery. Dr. McClellan was 61 years old and lived at 4819 Broadway. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Blanche Johnson, of Indianapolis.

Hoot Mon, the Girls Are Taking to Green and Mauve Powders!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

To further complicate the dressing of the face, we have a green powder now sitting alongside a box of mauve in some of our better beauty shop windows. The mission of these two shades is to accent the quality of skin. Obviously, the bright sales person will enlighten you. They'll tell you, too, that the mauve powder is best for naturally fair skins and to get the perfect effect the fair one must use blue or mauve eye shadow, pale pink rouge, and a dark rose lipstick. Certain gray haired women, noted for their unusual chic, have been using the mauve powder for seasons past. But some lovely blonde young women tried some of mamma's powder with the result that her deb sister insisted upon learning the secret of the new complexion accent.

It's amusing a bit when you think of the words that are dragged in to the beauty product selling vocabulary. A complexion "accent," why not "brogue?" Why not "lisp" for a baby faced makeup? Or "drawl" for languorous creamy makeup—and so on. All of which is merely an aside in the day's business of acquainting you with some of the latest cosmetic tricks.

The green powder, a pale and lovely shade, really promises glorification of a white skin. To complete the picture you are recommended to use green eye shadow if eyes are green, gray or hazel bistre for brown eyes, and mandarin rouge and lipstick.

Kohl for use on the edges of the eyelid is coming back into favor. Other eyelid darkeners displaced it for a period. As a beauty secret, however, it dates back to the very earliest attempts of the sex to earn encomiums, poetic and free verse, and—well, from those for whom women make their eyes more alluring. I don't know whether Eve used it, but one of her daughters not far removed did.

Oriental women, of course, who were permitted to show no more than their eyes became the most skilled in its application. Rightly used, greater depth and brilliance is given the eye—but like everything cosmetic, there must be skill in lining the edges of the lids with this darkener.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Quick Jams.

Perhaps blackberry jam may be nearer like an aroma on the tongue than any fruit in any form. It may be that it is reckless to say this, but I do not remember that the eating of any fruit ever inspired me with this idea until eating some blackberry jam freshly made did. This jam gives a quality to breakfast that is comparable to the refreshment of a rose.

It has been advocated in this column over and over again that jams and jellies be made for summer use rather than saved for the winter. It does not require as much skill to make jams to be used up at once, and certainly the aroma of new jams is something that is rarely to be found in those a good many months old.

There is a great difference of opinion about how to make jams, but most people have come to realize that the long cooking of sugar with fruit gives a strong product, and that the short and fast cooking is preferable. It is also best in this sort of cooking to do but small quantities at a time.

The idea of the "seven minute" jam may be a delusion and a snare, and yet a good deal depends on the way the work is done whether seven minutes is long enough or not. One of the seven minute jams that has been mentioned in this column consisted of half rhubarb and half raspberry. Cut the rhubarb small and cook it with a little bit of water before adding the raspberries and use about the same measure of sugar as there is raspberries.

In making quick jams it is not necessary to use as much sugar as in those that are to be kept through the year. However, in all cases the sourness of the fruit does determine whether we shall use pound for pound or less, even as little as half the weight of fruit in sugar.

Blackberry flavor seems to be best retained in the jam when the berries are well heated first so that some of the water cooks out of them before the sugar is added. For a superior jam the heated berries are sieved and measured and then cooked with an equal measure of sugar.

A way to hasten the starting of the water is to mash the berries before they are heated. There is a good deal of water in a blackberry, much more than people generally realize. By mashing the berries, heating them to the boiling point, straining out the seeds and adding the sugar measure for measure gradually, one can cook a jam of blackberries or raspberries in ten minutes, or one that will jelly.

Patterns by Clotilde

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This design is made with a double circular tiered skirt and has a tight fitted band crossed by a belt to give that lovely smooth effect through the hips and general slenderness of outline, making it suitable for the street, or for more formal occasions, depending on the material used. For formal wear choose flowered chiffon in yellow beige and soft brown tones, or royal purple chiffon, beige georgette crêpe, tomato red crêpe de chine, and crêpe Elizabeth in foliage green are chic suggestions.

The pattern, 3231, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 40 inch material, with ⅞ yard of 36 inch contrasting.

Try Not to Pass on Your Fears, Failings to Your Children

Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

Of course, we all want to be examples to our children. We'd like to feel that we're all around decent enough human beings for them to learn wise and kind things from.

But if we're honest with ourselves we know we're many things we don't want them to be. Since their tendency is to be influenced by us, what shall we do about it? We may be trying conscientiously to change ourselves, but we may not have yet succeeded. So, for the children's good, what shall we do about it?

For example, suppose you're terrified by lightning. You don't want your small child to be so, too, but if he observes your terror he's apt to catch it. What shall you do? Hide it, of course. Quake inside if you must, but outwardly be casual or even admiring of the lightning and the cracks and booms of the thunder.

Suppose it makes you furious to be knocked against, or pushed aside, by some one in a crowd. Shall you dwell upon your feelings or show your anger before your child? Not unless you want him to learn the lesson of futile and energy wasting anger.

Do you dread meeting some officer in your company, or shake when you have to make a speech, or fear this, or hate that, or get self-conscious when some one watches you at work? If you do, cover up such feelings—they may be contagious and, if you can't cure them, at least don't discuss them before your children. As my grandmother used to say, "Now, don't put 'notions' in the children's heads."

Have you strong race prejudices? Do you see all the failings of your friends and relatives in a strong light? Are you a dark dyed pessimist and wish you weren't? If you have and are, cover it up before the children, even if you have to explode before some one else.

This is not a matter of hypocrisy. You're not trying to make yourself seem nicer then you are. You're only trying to protect your children. So, if you have fears and hates and idiosyncrasies that are a handicap to you, try not to pass them on to your children. And, perhaps, that much control may help to diminish them for you.

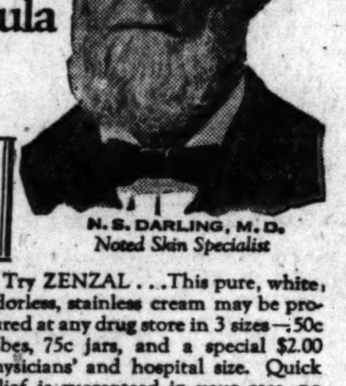
Relieves ACNE ECZEMA RASH PIMPLES BURNS SORES



N. S. DARLING, M. D. Noted Skin Specialist

IF your skin is broken out—if your complexion is marred by acne, pimples or unsightly rash—if you suffer from itching eczema or any other skin irritation—ZENZAL will banish your troubles quickly!

ZENZAL is not new. Nor is it untried. For its creator, genial old Dr. Darling, well-known skin specialist of La Porte, Indiana, prescribed it in the most severe cases among his private patients for over 40 years with marvelous results! Only upon his recent death, however, was ZENZAL made available to the public. Today all druggists can supply it.

Here is what ZENZAL will do for you. It will banish skin eruptions! It will stop all itching and irritation. It will soothe, cool and comfort your skin.

Try ZENZAL . . . This pure, white, odorless, stainless cream may be procured at any drug store in 3 sizes—50c tubes, 75c jars, and a special $2.00 physicians' and hospital size. Quick relief is guaranteed in your case, no matter how bad—or your money back!

Teaching an Expert.

I have been a life saving and swimming instructor for several years and one summer while in charge of swimming at Camp Highland Lake, North Carolina, one of a group of young people on the pier came to me and asked if I would give her swimming lessons. I had no class that period and she was an attractive young lady; so I was only too willing. I found her a hesitant and awkward pupil, but I persevered and when she rejoined her companions who seemed to be enjoying her attempts, I laughed with them but sympathized with her, telling her we would try it again tomorrow. The next day she was on hand again with her companions. We duplicated the previous day's performance amid the unrestrained mirth of her friends. Rather indignant at them, I started to sympathize with the young lady when she cut me short by saying, "Really, I'm awfully sorry I ever did this, but here's why they are laughing," and she executed a perfect surface dive, came up twenty feet away and swam a beautiful, flashing American crawl to the pier.

I am sure the fish in the lake thought something was on fire when they felt the heat currents radiating out into the water from me when I realized I had been teaching an expert.

Luther Upside Down.

Some years ago I played the part of Dr. Martin Luther in a home talent play called "The Story of the Reformation." When the curtain went down at the end of the famous trial scene I felt so happy I stood on my head in the middle of the stage and waved my legs.

A tremendous roar of laughter and applause brought me right end up to find that the curtain had been raised in acknowledgment of applause and exposed my acrobatics to the full view of the audience.

A BIG

5 YEAR CAMPAIGN

Salesmen—you will be interested in this:

A strong advertising campaign.

Excellent property locations now on the market and many surprises in store for ambitious salesmen.

These things, plus the settlement of the traction problem and the activities surrounding the World's Fair, make a connection with Krenn & Dato a real, worth while opportunity.

We will be pleased to talk to Sales Managers and Salesmen who are willing to take part in this campaign.

Come in and see me in person from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

SALES DIRECTOR,
KRENN & DATO, INC.
1009 North State-st.
Exclusive Agent:
Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick Properties.
Edith Rockefeller McCormick Trust.

A WORTH WHILE OPPORTUNITY FOR SALES MANAGERS AND SALESMEN

We are not deceiving ourselves and we're not trying to deceive you into believing this is one of those miraculously wonderful opportunities where all you have to do is to rake in big money! We do have an opportunity for men who recognize a worth while tie-up with one of the really substantial real estate operators of Chicago whose men have gone along steadily with him and made money by their willingness to work for it. Arthur T. McIntosh & Co., over the period of the last twenty years have been a successful concern—our men have capitalized on the soundness of our two decates of experience. They've worked and stuck to their guns because it has paid them well.

Consequently we have not had to lure salesmen to us by promising them "the greatest," "best paying," and similar superlatively phrased opportunities. The men we want are not influenced by such extravagant claims. They know that when the set-up is right they can apply themselves diligently, and—make money.

The set-up we have planned for the balance of this year opens the opportunity for a number of salesmanagers and salesmen who know and appreciate the advantage of tying up with a successful house. That type of men will be granted interviews between 4:30 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. today and tomorrow. Call for Mr. Stelle.

A. T. McINTOSH & CO.

SALESMEN ARE MADE, NOT BORN.

A multi-million dollar corporation has entered a new field of selling in which it has developed and has on its roster salesmen who are outstanding specimens of what a modernly devised plan of sales will accomplish. We have no $25,000 jobs for salesmen, but we do have average men earning $1,000 and over. The man we want does not usually answer ads, yet his ambition is beyond his present place, both as to remuneration and promotion. To some men this will mean $200 per week and better; to others, financial independence, and as for some, it will go right over their heads. But the wise men will see F. D. MAKE MONEY ON
ELMORE'S IDEAL
POULTRY FARM.

35 complete ideal poultry farms are now occupied and making money for their owners. These ideal poultry farms have complete plumbing, running water, gas and electricity, built-in ironing boards, shades and screens. Kelvinator iceless refrigeration, large poultry house, 20x40, cement floors, electric light, 3 large Jamesway brooder stoves, heating system for winter months. With this complete unit stocked—with 250 pullets of fine strain in the fall or 1,000 little chicks in the spring free with farm you can earn enough money during your spare time to pay for your home under the Elmore plan with co-operative feed buying and marketing of eggs and poultry, with the advice of our poultry expert who was formerly Junior Animal Husbandman, Poulty Investigator, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. $100 will start you and when $750 is paid in you can move into your ideal poultry farm. Come out and see what we have accomplished in the past 4 months and talk with our customers who are living on the property. VISIT OUR DEMONSTRATION FARM AND OUR 2 STORY POULTRY HOUSE, LARGE ENOUGH FOR 2,000 LAYING HENS. On this demonstration farm you will see thousands of young pullets that will be laying in October. If you wish to give all your time to raising poultry the land is large enough to add additional units. Our ideal poultry farms with all city conveniences are only 47 minutes from the loop and 3 blocks from good transportation, near schools, stores and churches. This should interest every thrifty person who wants to increase his income and buy land on the fringe of Chicago. This land should increase in value and prove a profitable investment.

Call, write or phone FRANKLIN 2650 for free round trip tickets to inspect our model poultry farms, or we will send an automobile for you without any obligation.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

FIRST RATE 2D MORTGAGE LOANS

Second mortgage loans are cut to order, so to speak, just like a suit of clothes. They may be first rate, second rate, or tenth rate.

The rate applied by the Chicago Morris Plan Bank as agent is first rate, because it is the lowest rate.

And it is the only rate which we apply to any second mortgage loan which is made by this institution.

If you do not get this distinction, just make a few inquiries as to what a second mortgage loan will cost you and see how they compare with our rate of 6% interest and commissions as follows:

9% for three years.

PACKARD

The Packard policy does not permit frequent and radical changes in design to depreciate cars in the hands of owners. This makes a slightly used Packard a most satisfactory car to buy. While the average Packard owner expects to keep his car at least four years, we have Packard cars that have been used but a year or two, with most of their mileage life available, at a great reduction from the price the new car purchaser gladly pays.

RECONDITIONED AND USED PACKARDS
Offered by Packard Motor Car Co. of Chicago and Their Authorized Dealers

SOUTH SIDE

PACKARD 8, 2-43, 7 PASS. SEDAN. A model reputed for brilliant performance and easy riding. Car throughout presents the appearance of new. The mechanism is rebuilt and will carry our regular guarantee. Well equipped with tires and accessories. A real opportunity at $1,250. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av., Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 4-26 PHAETON. Low type body, sporty appearing; 2 tone colors; top, upholstery, etc., like new; motor and chassis rebuilt to the rigid Packard standard. Those who have been waiting for one of these models now have a genuine opportunity. $1,000. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av. Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 3-33, 7 PASS. SEDAN. We are making a special of this one for today only; it's in remarkable condition mechanically; very "clean" and the kind of a car any family would be proud to own and ride in. Has 1-shot lubrication system, many other features and fully equipped; this is a special: $800. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av., Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 4-33, 7 PASS. SEDAN. Thoroughly rebuilt and in condition to give very satisfactory service economically; needs nothing in the way of refinishing; adjustments or accessories, and is ready to go out and perform in the Packard manner. Our price only $1,300. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av. Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 5-33 CLUB SEDAN. Ultra-smart appearing 4 door type and a most popular model. Car is reconditioned, carries our regular guarantee and can be driven with complete service. It offers new car appearance, practically all of the new car mileage, all of the distinction, yet is available at a figure that represents a big saving as compared with its cost new. Our price, $1,750. Packard Used Car Store, 2355 Michigan-av. Calumet 7408.

PACKARD STRAIGHT 8, 1-36 SEDAN, 5 PASS. This is the 4 wheel brake job. Car is in very good condition in all respects, completely equipped and would make the purchaser who likes a car with up to date lines and appearance a remarkable buy. $750. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av. Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 5-26, 5 PASS. SEDAN. Presents every appearance of new, even to the smallest detail. Motor and chassis have been rebuilt and the purchaser is assured 100% appearance, performance, and value. It is offered with our guarantee and attractively priced, $1,700. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av. Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 8, 1-43 SEDAN-LIMOUSINE. Full 7 passenger type, in remarkable condition throughout; good tires; was privately owned and chauffeur driven. A real buy at the unheard of figure, $450. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av., Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 3-26 5 PASS. SEDAN. Paint is almost new condition, interior very nice, tires good; and one that should give an exceptionally good account of itself mechanically. Lowest price this model, in similar condition, ever quoted. $650. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av. Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 4-26 5 PASS. SEDAN. With very good paint, tires, upholstery and motor. This car has had low mileage, given very good care and attention, and should make a strong appeal to the conservative purchaser. Only $1,250. Packard Main Store, 2357 Michigan-av. Calumet 7400.

PACKARD 6, 3-33 SEDANS, 7 PASS. Your choice of 4 cars of this type in various colors. All are in the original finish and present the well groomed appearance of cars whose owners have been very careful in handling and driving. All are in splendid mechanical condition, have spotless interiors and ready to give many thousands of miles of steady, uninterrupted service. $775, and very remarkable values. John S. Jackson & Co., 7320 Stony Island-av. Plaza 2000.

WEST SIDE

PACKARD CURRENT SERIES SEDAN-LIMOUSINE. Model 6-40. Custom De Luxe. In Arizona Brown finish; driven only 6,800 miles, and cannot be distinguished from new in any particular. Has side mountings, Lorraine spotlight, cowl band lights, 6 tires, etc. Available at a great savings and guaranteed. Very special at $3,450. Hill Motor Sales, 650 Madison-st., Oak Park. Austin 2102 or Euclid 6500.

PACKARD 8, 2-43 7 PASS. SEDAN. Most luxurious car you can buy for the money. Paint, a beautiful Packard Blue, is excellent; has almost new tires, 1-shot lubrication system, and in very fine condition mechanically. You'll look long before you find one like it. $1,250. Hill Motor Sales, 650 Madison-st., Oak Park. Austin 2102 or Euclid 6500.

NORTH SIDE

PACKARD 8, 4-43 7 PASS. SEDAN. Virtually new; used short distance; checked mechanically and will be sold with our guarantee. Has 6 disc wheels, almost new tires, 2 spares, side mounts, spotlight, etc. A lasting investment in luxurious transportation. $2,450. Hon. Smithson & Raymond, 6310 Broadway. Hollycourt 0656.

PACKARD 6, 5-26 ROADSTER, with rumble seat, in perfect condition throughout; with tires like new; original finish; fully equipped; many extras; an exceptional car and a type that is rarely available; $1,600. Packard Evanston Branch Store, 1735 E. Railroad-av., Evanston. Sheldrake 2660 or Greenleaf 1200.

PACKARD 8, 2-43 7 PASS. SEDAN. Refinished to look like new—very attractive color; checked mechanically and in excellent condition throughout; much extra equipment. $950. Hon. Smithson & Raymond, 6310 Broadway. Hollycourt 0656.

PACKARD 6, 4-33 7 PASS. SEDAN. In the original finish, which is exceptionally well preserved; motor and chassis rebuilt by Packard experts, and, of course, carries our guarantee. First class equipment. $1,350. Packard Evanston Branch Store, 1735 E. Railroad-av., Evanston. Sheldrake 2660 or Greenleaf 1200.

PACKARD 6, 5-26 "SOLID" COUPE. A very beautiful car; has rumble seat and disc wheel equipment. Given but little driving, thoroughly checked by Packard experts, and is guaranteed. We suggest early inspection because of the scarcity of this particular body style. $1,700. Packard Evanston Branch Store, 1735 E. Railroad-av., Evanston. Sheldrake 2660 or Greenleaf 1200.

PACKARD 8, 3-43 7 PASS. SEDAN. A late series in this type with new finish, new Goodyear Double Eagle tires, cowl band and [illegible], and in immaculate condition in all respects. Motor and chassis rebuilt by us and guaranteed. $1,950. Hon. Smithson & Raymond, 6310 Broadway. Hollycourt 0656.

PACKARD 6, 4-33 CLUB SEDAN. Smartly tailored, low body, 4 door type, with trunk at rear; painted a most attractive 2 tone combination; has 6 very good tires; full equipment; mechanically it's 100%; 30 day guarantee given; very special at [illegible].
